German Airship Bests Storm

Dirigible Nears Gibraltar America-bound at Seventy Miles an Hour

Fair Weather Forecast and Passengers Optimistic; Stowaway Aboard

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 2. (Friday.) (AP)—Up to 4 a.m. today the Graf Zeppelin had not been sighted from here. The night was dark with little wind.

If the giant ship slipped through the straits without being seen from the British fortress she had passed more than 1500 miles of her journey behind her and faced approximately 2000 miles of over-water flying to reach Lakehurst, N. J.

PARIS, August 1. (AP) — Bucking strong westerly winds but beating out smaller weather to the north, the giant German dirigible Graf Zeppelin, which left Friedrichshafen at 1:30 a.m. today plowed steadily through the air currents of Europe, and when last reported at 11 o'clock tonight, Greenwich time, had passed Cape De Gata, Spain, about 180 miles east of Gibraltar, which she expected to reach by 2 a.m.

Leaving the Alps and the Rhone Valley as she struck across the southwestern stretches of the blue Mediterranean, the Zeppelin was making for the open Atlantic at approximately seventy miles an hour. From Gibraltar 3000 miles of the flight to Lakehurst remains to be covered.

Flying at altitudes ranging from 500 to 3000 feet, the Zeppelin appeared at times shaken by gusts of wind, but valiantly held to her course across France, according to the reports made frequently from planes passed.

STOWAWAY FOUND

The twelve passengers, including seven Americans, were happy and comfortable, according to Herbert J. Hotel of Saginaw, Mich., special correspondent of the Associated Press aboard the Graf Zeppelin, who sent frequent dispatches during the early hours of the flight. His last message reporting passing Basle, Switzerland, at 6:10 a.m. said the voyage had been wonderful so far, with Swiss airplanes flying around the craft as a gesture of welcome from that country as the dirigible soared over it.

Hotel also reported a stowaway was found just after the Zeppelin left the hangar. "He jumped from the hangar down into the Zeppelin," the message said. "If he had jumped between girders he would have endangered the ship. Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander, said he will be returned from America with the next steamer and severely punished.

The mountainous country between Friedrichshafen and the Rhone Valley, Dr. Eckener considered even more dangerous than the threatening winds and it was with relief

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Aug. 1. [To the Editor of The Times:] They wanted to run our great golf player Bobby Jones for Congress. He naturally refused, again endearing himself to the hearts of his countrymen. It would not only spoil his golf, but his reputation. In fact it would take away his amateur standing. For as an amateur everything is done with no thought of any possible gain. In fact I think a fellow of his unblemished reputation has a suit against the State, especially as it was Georgia that proposed him. The first thing you know they will want Walter Hagen for Secretary of the Treasury.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

SHIP SINKING ADVOCATED

Borah Demands British Cut

Senator Holds Navy Parity Can Best be Obtained by Reductions

Statement Issued Shortly After Conference With Hoover

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—Attainment of equality in naval strength between the United States and Great Britain through the sinking of some British ships was advocated today by Chairman Borah, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The Idaho Senator's statement was issued twenty-four hours after he had discussed the general naval situation with President Hoover at a White House luncheon. Whether the Chief Executive knew in advance that Borah was to make a public pronouncement was a subject of speculation tonight.

AMERICAN EXAMPLE CITED

"If Great Britain will follow our example at the Washington conference," said the Idaho Senator, "and sink some of her ships, and thus come to parity, it will not only save the taxpayer, but reduce the incentive to war—for huge armaments are always an incentive to war, parity or no parity. But if we have to build up to parity, it vastly increases the burdens to the taxpayer and augments the incentive to war."

The Borah statement served to recall the stands taken by Senator

RED PARLEY BREAKS UP

Envoy of Soviet Quits London

Question of Paying Debts and Ban on Propaganda Embarrasses Russian

British Labor Government Expected to Stand Pat Against Overtures

LONDON, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—First efforts to restore diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Russia have broken down. Valerian Dovgalevsky, Russian envoy, who came here to discuss preliminaries, returned to Paris today. The breakdown was due to the unwillingness of the Russian government to promise either to cease propaganda or to recognize Russia's debts.

M. Dovgalevsky, in an interview with Foreign Secretary Henderson this morning, presented a note from Moscow saying the commissariat of foreign affairs was surprised that it had been asked at this stage to discuss outstanding diplomatic questions, and thought the object of the invitation to send an envoy to London was only to discuss methods of procedure for restoring normal conditions.

NEGOTIATIONS END

In these circumstances the commissariat found it necessary to seek further powers from the central executive committee of the soviet government and therefore would be unable to continue the present negotiations.

It is not clear whether the Russians intend to follow this up with a new advance after obtaining fresh power or whether they expect Great Britain to accept their point of view and resume relations unconditionally.

If the latter is the case, they are doomed to disappointment, for the Labor government is likely to be even stiffer that the Conservative government in insisting on stoppage of propaganda, and Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, who is an orthodox economist, is likely to show an unbending front on the question of payment of debts due to Great Britain.

STATEMENT ISSUED

The Foreign Office tonight, issuing an official statement on the breakdown of negotiations, declared that in the course of the interview with Foreign Secretary Henderson, Dovgalevsky, on behalf of his government, demanded the immediate appointment of "fully accredited ambassadors" on both sides. This would have connoted resumption of diplomatic relations without any preliminary discussions, and Mr. Henderson naturally declined to entertain the idea. Dovgalesky then broke off the pourpariers, declaring his government would have to refer the British proposals to the next meeting of the praesidium of the central executive committee.

The British government adds the official statement that it adheres to its desire to resume normal relations with Russia.

The Uninvited Guest Conductor

LIFER ON FIRST AUTO RIDE

Planes and Tractors Astound Pomeroy, Who Emerges After Fifty-three Years in Cell

BRIDGEWATER (Mass.) Aug. 1. (AP)—Fifty-three years ago a boy of seventeen who had murdered younger children entered the Charleston State prison to expiate his crimes by a life in solitary confinement. Today Jesse H. Pomeroy, now grizzled and 71 years of age, was taken from behind the grim walls that had for more than a half century been his home to the State farm here, a vast expanse of fertile land on which the several hundred inmates raise garden crops.

Pomeroy arrived here in an automobile, his first motor vehicle ride, and during the trip his eyes were held wide by wonder and his tongue almost speechless as he realised with what speed a world, hidden from him by prison walls, had moved in fifty-three years.

ASKS ABOUT HORSES

Massachusetts's historic "lifer" was surprised and disappointed by the virtual absence of horses from the highways. He saw but one from the time he left Boston until he arrived at the outskirts of Bridgewater. And at the State farm he faced one of his greatest surprises. There, tractors have all but displaced horses in agricultural work. A lengthy explanation was necessary before he was able to understand the use of those machines.

Near Brockton the automobile, bearing Pomeroy, paused long enough at an airport for him to witness for the first time the take-off of an airplane. He was so amazed he was unable to question his guards.

Pomeroy's removal to the State farm was directed because of his physical condition. Dr. A. W. Stearns, Commissioner of Correction, had ruled Pomeroy could be better cared for at the farm than at the prison. He was assigned an exclusive room at the farm infirmary.

SENTENCED TO HANG

Pomeroy was sentenced to hang for the murder of Horace Milan, his third victim, but because of his youth the sentence was commuted to solitary confinement for life. After forty-one years of "solitary" he was permitted to take his place with other prisoners. Prisoners at the State farm are allowed a considerable degree of liberty.

DRY AGENTS IN GUN FIGHT ON BORDER

Two Rum Runners Shot, Say Reports of Battle in Lower Lake St. Clair

WINDSOR (Ont.) Aug. 1. (AP)—Reports of a gunfight between rum-runners operating in lower Lake St. Clair and United States prohibition agents reached here today. Two of the rum-runners were reported wounded.

The fight took place yesterday at Venice Beach near Mt. Clemens, eighteen miles north of Detroit. Lakeside residents, attracted by the shooting, notified Mt. Clemens police. After a prolonged battle, in which a large number of men participated, the rum-runners took to their boats, the wounded being carried away with them.

Investigation by undersheriffs from Mt. Clemens did not result in determining the identity of any of the participants in the battle, all having left before the officials reached the scene.

Surgeons Repair Cut Spinal Cord

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—Surgeons and hospital authorities tonight announced the possibility that Celso De Leon may recover from a bullet wound which almost severed his spine, following an operation in which the spinal cord was sewn together between the third and fourth dorsal vertebrae.

De Leon was shot by Francisco De Leon Perez, Consul-General for Nicaragua and suspended Consul-General for Guatemala, following an estrangement in Perez's family. De Leon is the landlord of the Perez apartment-house.

OAKLAND MERCHANT'S NIECE DISAPPEARS

OAKLAND, Aug. 1. (AP)—H. H. Hesse, Oakland business man, today appealed to police to search for his niece, Miss Edna June Scott, 23-year-old Portland girl, who disappeared Tuesday. Hesse said his niece left the house ostensibly to answer a telephone company message offering her employment. Telephone company officials said no such message ever was sent. Miss Scott arrived from Portland two weeks ago.

Members of the committee are Senators Lynn J. Frazier of North Dakota, chairman; W. B. Pine of Oklahoma, and B. K. Wheeler of Montana.

SOUTHWEST AREA STILL SWELTERING

No Relief Found From Heat as Temperatures in Some Sections Mount

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 1. (AP)—The sweltering southwest found no relief from the heat wave today.

Temperatures mounted to record levels in Oklahoma, Kansas and Western Missouri, where the 100 mark has been exceeded for several days.

Upper Mississippi Valley States, while escaping the extreme heat of this section, are due for warmer weather tomorrow, the Weather Bureau predicted.

Chicago enjoyed a maximum temperature today of 69 deg., St. Paul 78 and Des Moines 79.

Local thunder showers are forecast for most of the parched grain belt, but there is no promise of enough rain to end drought conditions or to cause a drop in the mercufy.

The temperature mounted to 100 deg. in Kansas City today for the first time this summer. Kansas again sizzled. Salina reported 104 deg., Topeka 102 and Parsons 102 deg.

At Bartlesville and Blackwell, Okla., the mercury soared to 106, while at Oklahoma City the 100 mark was reached.

SPOKANE (Wash.) Aug. 1. (AP)—Rains varying in intensity from scattered showers to cloudbursts today gave Montana, Idaho and Washington relief from temperatures that had risen to as high as 111 deg. in the last two days.

In Eastern Montana light showers were reported, while in the west some sections were visited by cloudbursts. Temperatures generally were lower.

In Southern Idaho, where forest fires have been particularly obstinate, general showers were believed to have lowered the fire menace as well as temperatures.

Long-Distance Glider Record Believed Set

AKRON, Aug. 1. (AP)—Probably the longest flight ever made by a glider was accomplished today when Hugh C. Robbins of Akron arrived in a motorless plane at Akron Airport after a three-hour trip from Ypsilanti, Mich., a distance of 160 miles. Robbins's glider was towed by an airplane piloted by Wallace H. Franklin of Ypsilanti.

The airplane and glider maintained a speed of about sixty miles an hour during most of the trip. That was as fast as the glider could go without endangering collapse of its wings.

Rainfall Soaks Arizona Areas

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Aug. 1. (AP)—Yavapai county's mountain ranges and valley received 3.19 inches of rain during the last week of July after a long dry spell. The sky had cleared today.

The average summer rainfall here is 2.59 inches.

Other Arizona sections were soaked by rains, some of which caused damage to railroads and buildings. Holbrook and Nogales received the heaviest downpours, while virtually the whole State received some precipitation.

Cotton Selling Agencies Will be Centralized

BATON ROUGE (La.) Aug. 1. (AP) Centralization of control in the movement and sale of cotton must be made fully to meet the desires of the Federal Farm Board, officials of the American Cotton Growers' Exchange decided here today in their meeting with the American Institute of Co-operation.

While the sessions were executive, C. O. Moser, Dallas, Tex., president of the exchange, stated that only slight changes are necessary in the present set-up of the growers' exchange.

Mr. Moser said the cotton growers of the South will be requested to comply immediately with the wishes of the Farm Board in order to participate in the $500,000,000 farm-relief program to be administered by the board.

CONVICT KILLED IN RIOT AT LEAVENWORTH PRISON

Attempted Attack on Warden Starts Mutinous Uprising by 900 in Narcotic Block

LEAVENWORTH (Kan.) Aug. 1. (AP)—A mutiny that cost at least one convict's life and severe injury to several others today broke out among 900 convicts in the narcotic block of the Federal penitentiary here.

The mutiny began immediately after lunch when the convicts were returned to their cell blocks and is said to have followed the efforts of a group of prisoners to attack Warden White and Deputy Warden Zerbest.

The disturbance centered in B block, populated by narcotic addicts, both black and white, but quickly spread to Block A, which is the west wing of the main building.

WINDOWS BROKEN

The mutinous convicts, armed with forks and spoons from the mess hall, and other improvised weapons, destroyed guard rails and broke windows.

Refusing to call upon the military at neighboring Fort Leavenworth for assistance, Warden White called the prison reserves at once. News of the outbreak did not reach the public at Leavenworth for several hours. The prison personnel handled the "problem" with strictest secrecy until the firing of weapons and breaking of glass and shouts of convicts attracted the attention of families of guards and others across the street.

EXPLOSIONS HEARD

The noise was at its peak about 5 o'clock and spectators said they heard sounds of explosions and saw pieces of glass fall.

Notwithstanding the official secrecy it was learned from prison sources that none of the convicts had firearms and that no officials or other members of the employed personnel at the prison were seriously injured.

One story of the outbreak told at the prison had it that the initial trouble began in the mess hall, when convicts began to throw dishes and refused to march out in order.

There is general agreement, however, that the real fighting came in the cell block as the guards herded the convicts to their cells. The prisoners were at no time in a position to break for liberty.

Warden White's only statement was to the effect that one convict is dead and three were injured, but that under the secrecy order which requires reports of disturbances to be sent to Washington and there made public if considered advisable he was able to say nothing further.

Motives assigned by others to the mutiny were varied. One was that the food displeased the prisoners. Another had it that the convicts, who had been permitted to read in the newspapers of riots in eastern prisons, yielded to the suggestion.

A third laid it to the heat-crazed narcotic addicts, the temperature at Leavenworth today having been 100.3 deg. at noon.

VICTIM IDENTIFIED

Mike Martinez, who has served one year of a thirty-year term, was the convict reported killed.

Names of the ringleaders, and of the injured men, one of whom is said to have had a leg blown off, were not made public.

Warden White, busy with a squad of guards quelling the disturbance, was not expected to return to his residence tonight. At his home it was reported that he will not return until a careful investigation had been made and the cells thoroughly searched.

WARDEN CALLS IT "NOISY MOB"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—The office of Sanford Bates, superintendent of Federal prisons, announced tonight that one prisoner was killed and three injured in the outbreak at the Leavenworth Federal penitentiary.

The outbreak, which occurred at noon, was quickly put down, Warden White of the penitentiary reported in a telephone conversation tonight with H. C. Heckman, assistant superintendent of Federal prisons.

Warden White informed Mr.

NEW GLORY FOR STATE

Becoming Winter Playground

Development Association's Meeting Hears Report on Movement

Regional Director's Survey Discloses Widespread Prosperity

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—California, land of golden sunshine and flowers, soon will be as widely and favorably known as a winter sports paradise as it now is as a summer playground. The prediction was made to members of the board of directors of the California Development Association today by Charles E. Virden, director and chairman of the State-wide publicity committee.

A survey of conditions led him to declare "the high Sierras is to be the mecca of winter sports lovers and the region soon will be known as the 'Switzerland of America,' famous for its snowshoeing, skiing, ice boating, skating and similar pastimes."

The Sacramento, San Joaquin and Southern California districts are a unit, he said, in the formation of clubs and the installation of facilities for the type of winter sports enjoyed in European countries and the northern tier of the United States.

WIDESPREAD PROGRESS

The report was one of many presented covering various phases of the State's economic stability, including agriculture, industry, conservation, street and highway safety, research, water and aviation.

A summary of the reports submitted by the six regional directors of the association, was presented by Frederick J. Koster, vice-president.

"There seems to be a widespread progress in business and agriculture throughout the State," he said. "All sections appear to be normally healthy.

"The grape industry of the San Joaquin Valley appears to be slowly remedying itself, due partly to shortage of this year's crop. Gradually, order is being brought about from the chaos caused by the unusual frost.

"Dairying shows up well throughout the State.

"The Kettleman Hills oil fields are making very good contributions to the wealth and prosperity of California.

"The water situation in the San Joaquin Valley still is acute.

"Building throughout the State does not seem to be so healthy but financial conditions are sound.

FRUIT FLY CRISIS

"Generally speaking it looks as if a fair balance has been struck in the business welfare of all sections of California. As usual we are justified in an optimistic view of things."

The report of the agricultural

BOYS TAKE EDISON'S TEST

Forty-nine Struggle With Examination Questions; Minnesota Lad First to Finish

WEST ORANGE (N. J.) Aug. 1. (AP)—Under the watchful eyes of twenty monitors, forty-nine of the "smartest boys" in the country struggled today with pen and pencil to answer the examination questions submitted to them by Thomas A. Edison, who seeks a successor.

Questions as difficult as those put to Edison himself during his annual birthday newspaper interviews confronted the boys. The quiz took them into the realms of morals and ethics.

The winner is to be given a scholarship in the college of his choice.

FOUR-PART TEST

The examination was in four parts, the first propounding problems in scientific subjects, the second in general field, the third comprising only one item, viz:

"Assuming that you have just been graduated from high school and are anxious to land a job—write a letter such as you would send to the chief engineer or to the president of the concern with which you would like to become connected. Assume that this letter is the only means open to you for obtaining the desired employment."

Part four comprised eighteen questions with the evident purpose of ascertaining the scope of the contestant's general knowledge of the physical world and of history, literature and biography.

FIRST TO FINISH

Johnny Lowey, representative of Minnesota, was the first to complete the test. He emerged from the examination room after five hours. After him in the order named came Lloyd Mitchell, Alabama; Albert Kunze, Georgia, and Lyle F. Lutton, Maryland. They all agreed the physics and chemistry tests were the most difficult.

Some of the questions propounded were:

"What classes of books listed below do you most enjoy reading? Number them 1, 2, 3, etc., in order of preference: adventure, mystery stories, travel, biography, fiction, invention, history, economics, science.

"If you were marooned alone on a tropical island in the south Pacific, without tools, how would you move a three-ton weight, such as a boulder, 100 feet horizontally and fifteen feet vertically?

EXPERIMENT QUERY

"If you have been given a certain experiment to perform and had been informed that it could be done successfully, but you had failed ten times, what would you do?

"What new discovery or invention do you believe would be the greatest benefit to mankind? Why?

"If you were to inherit $1,000,000 within the next year what would you do with it?

"Two towns on opposite sides of a river one mile wide, are cut off

ROBIN'S LOG DESCRIBES VOYAGE ON SEA OF TIME

Jackson and O'Brine Diary Gives Intimate Story of Champions' Sojourn in Skies

[The story of the record endurance flight of 420 hours 21½ minutes in the monoplane St. Louis Robin, which ended Tuesday night, is told by the pilots in the following article from the notes of their diary, from the beginning of the flight on July 13 through the first five days aloft. This is the second of a series of articles by the fliers, their general account of the flight being printed in The Times yesterday.]

BY DALE JACKSON AND FOREST O'BRINE

[Copyright, 1929, by the Los Angeles Times, the New York Times Company and the St. Louis Post Dispatch.]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—We kept a joint diary during the first few days of our flight. We hadn't become accustomed to the noise of the motor then and it was hard to talk. We had run out of things to read and there was nothing for the pilot to do but write—write what he had done and what he was going to do.

It isn't altogether easy to write and fly a plane at the same time, particularly when you have to keep watching your instruments and make a record of them in your log. Some of the notes are almost illegible. Words are abbreviated and sometimes misspelled. But what did we care about spelling? We were flying for an endurance record, not writing a book.

Anyway here are the notes, as refueler just taking off. Won't be nearly in order as we could get them long now. Here they are; can see Shorty and his big smile. This ship them:

NOTES FROM DIARY

July 13—10:45, refueling ship came alongside with message, couldn't find note. Received food; 11:55, contacted three minutes, received containers easy. Took on gas at 6:04. Ship carrying load good at 1400—pint of oil an hour. Oil pressure has come up some. Temperature has gone down. Nothing eventful has taken place so far today. We have changed places so much now we can do it to perfection. We have not much to throw off today as our bombing practice was called off. Joe and Gene took off at 10:30

Five bells. Everything O.K. Passed through the night fine. We are on our last fifty gallons. Will take on more around 7. The old sun came up at 4:46 and I could see the ground at 3:50.

Motor running smoother right along. "Oby" is now having his beauty sleep. They say the first hundred are the hardest. Had to wash my face with ice water to wake up.

Refueled at 6:00. Air was smooth. Quite a few people are still at the field. Looks like a bad night—ground fog coming in. Not very bad tonight. Can see through it easy. We fly over the city every once in awhile.

SLEEP IN DAYTIME

It's getting daylight (Monday) July 15. Gets light about 4:10. These nights sure seem long when all you have to see is lights and more lights and sit and stare at your instruments for three or four hours. We work in three-hour shifts at night and do our sleeping in the daytime. Can sleep pretty good now, as we are used to the noise.

Refueled again at 7:15. This refueling is getting easy now. It's easier to hold the ship about 20-35 feet than it is around 38-40.

You sure do get dirty up here for no reason at all. Was out and locked the motor over and it's hitting them off fine. Better every minute. That catwalk is awfully slippery as it's covered with oil. Could hardly stand on it. Wonder what it will be in 200 hours. Quite a few people out again this evening. The cam fog is coming in again and it's pretty heavy, too. We may have to go through it down to 200 feet. Will stay a little while longer and see what it does. It's lifting.

11:30 a.m., July 14—A thousand feet altitude, sky overcast, second refueling made easy at 8 o'clock. We are flying through the clouds—looks like rain. Have been in air twenty-nine hours. Everything going good. Motor now turning 1300 r.p.m.

O'Brine is now in the rear fishing around for something to eat.

Don't know if he will find much, as I got most of it this morning.

Weather good here. Battery is giving out. Am going down and drop note for gas.

FOG CLOSES IN

O'Brine is still sleeping. 7 o'clock Sunday. Received gas at 9:06. Was in contact twelve minutes for gas, four minutes for food. Started to rain, 3:45. First rain we have had. Not bad yet, 5:20; rain over, sun is trying to shine.

Monday, the 15th, around 12:10 a.m. The fog started closing in on us till we were about fifty feet off the ground. About 3:45 it started to lift. First bad weather so far. Hope it's better tonight. Had fog again last night. Tried to stay around field but could not, so climbed over and came out above Alton. Stayed there until the rainstorm came up. Returned to field at 3:45, everything O. K.

July 16. Last night was clear. Thank the Lord for one good night. Everything going good. Motor using seven and one-half gallons gas and about a pint of oil.

Well it's time to take on gas;

RATS COMING UP

Well, it's my turn now to herd this thing a while. Nothing to do but sit and sit. Everything going fine. We have to make an entry in the log every thirty minutes. Mustn't forget. Gee, it's 12:30 and I'm getting hungry. Had breakfast at 5:15, so you can't blame me for wanting to eat. Just dropped a note for some sandwiches. I see they found it. Well, here comes the eats. And how! Guess they think we haven't had anything for a week by the looks of things. Well, I'm leaving it to O'Brine till we refuel at 7. Everything going good.

We took off at 7:17 Saturday, July 13. Was delayed a little; intended starting at 6. After taxiing out on the field we got stuck. O'Brine was to take off, as we flipped a coin to see who was the goat. He lost, but I had to get out and push and then chase him across the field. Finally caught him, but was all out of breath when the ship took off. We had 180 gallons of gas and all supplies. After gaining twenty-five feet we throttled down to around 1375 and I proceeded to take a nap. But didn't sleep much as I wasn't used to the noise. My ears hurt for awhile from the loud exhaust.

July 17. Passed through a very clear night. Flew to Springfield and return. We stayed on north and east side of river. Tonight is our night at home.

ST. LOUIS OUT EN MASSE TO HONOR AIR CHAMPIONS

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1. (AP)—Tens of thousands of St. Louisans weathered a midsummer heat wave today to roar a tribute to the city's new air heroes, Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine, who flew their monoplane St. Louis Robin to an amazing new endurance record of seventeen and one-half days.

It was one of the hottest days of the summer, but men, women and children lined seven miles of streets to cheer and wave their salutes as the aviators were paraded over a winding route through the downtown district to the City Hall, where they were formally congratulated in behalf of St. Louis by acting Mayor Charles A. Neumann.

Airplanes and two army dirigibles from Scott Field, Illinois, followed the parade downtown, where the aviators were greeted with aerial bombs, a storm of torn paper released from windows of buildings and lusty cheers.

DUFFY POOR PICKER, THIS "BABY" PROVES

Virginia Mercereau

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—Georgs Duffy made a mistake. He admits it. The next time he tries to get acquainted with a strange but beautiful young woman he will be on his guard.

Virginia Mercereau was not in a mood for flirtation when Duffy addressed her as "Baby." When he did it the second time she seized him, tossed him over her head, got a toe-hold and headlock and rubbed his nose on the sidewalk. Then she turned him over to the police.

She explained she is the champion woman wrestler of the world.

BRITAIN URGED TO SINK SHIPS

Hale and Representative Britten, chairmen of the Senate and House naval committees, after President Hoover's recent suspension of construction on three cruisers. The American move followed a similar one by Prime Minister MacDonald in London, in announcing that the principle of naval parity had been agreed upon by the two nations.

Senator Hale said:

"To reach equality when the fifteen new cruisers authorized by the cruiser bill shall have been completed, Great Britain will have to scrap many of her ships already built or in the process of building."

Representative Britten said:

"If Ramsay MacDonald really wants equality, let him tell the world that Great Britain from now on will stop building cruisers; and if President Hoover wants equality, the surest way to get it is to keep on building cruisers."

In his statement, Borah said "parity with reduction means much, means a great deal," and continued:

REDUCTION NECESSARY

"But parity, coupled merely with limitation, means very little. If I understand the report of our Navy Department correctly, Great Britain now has fifty-nine modern cruisers, built or building, a tonnage of 375,-300. We now have eighteen modern cruisers, built or building.

"What we desire, I suppose really is a reduction of armament—that is the primary thing for which we are contending. If parity were used to justify the building of huge armaments, it would become a menace instead of a security. I notice from the dispatches from London that Great Britain will not reduce her cruisers. That is very discouraging news."

The detailed views held by President Hoover as to how naval parity with Great Britain is to be attained have not been disclosed.

Secretary Stimson and officials of the State Department declined today to comment on reports from London that the abolition of the capital ship would be brought up at a conference called to deal with that type of vessel.

It was said here on the highest authority, however, that nothing is known of any suggestions for the total abolition of the capital ship as a fighting unit.

Any informal discussions regarding capital ships which have taken place between representatives of the naval powers since the Washington arms conference of 1921 are understood to have been confined to questions relating to reduction of the present limits of tonnage and the extension of age limits.

BRITISH PROPOSAL

Mention has been made during these highly informal talks, it is said, of the proposal put forward by the British delegates at the tripartite naval conference of 1927 that the age of capital ships be extended from twenty to twenty-six years, that the tonnage maximum be reduced from 35,000 tons to something under 30,000 tons, and that a 13.9-inch gun be substituted for the present sixteen-inch gun.

Beyond these informal discussions, which have not been official in character, nothing has been discussed regarding the future of the capital ship.

and new confidence that the craft headed down the river in the direction of Marseilles.

From Basle the flight continued past historic Belfort to Dijon, Chalon, Lyons, Valence, Nimes near the Rhone delta, and on out across the Mediterranean. From the reports it seems certain that the ship has skirted the low-pressure area moving from Ireland toward the coast of Northern and Western France and should find better weather over the Atlantic.

From a Hamburg meteorological station report it was indicated, however, there still is a rough passage in store until the mainland of Europe is left behind. A storm exists over the North Sea and westerly winds are sweeping France and the greater part of Spain. In the English Channel the winds reached storm violence.

Over eastern mid-Atlantic the high pressure in the vicinity of the Azores the Zeppelin should encounter sunny weather and gentle winds over the Eastern Atlantic.

Over the Western Atlantic a change of wind from south to east is foreseen with rain and low clouds. Fog was predicted between the Azores and Newfoundland.

When the Zeppelin arrives in the Azores area, Dr. Eckener will face the problem of deciding whether to take a northerly or southerly route toward America.

ZEPPELIN REPORTS PASSING CAPE DE GATA

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN (Germany) Aug. 1. (AP)—The Zeppelin Works received a radio message from the Graf Zeppelin just before midnight reporting that it passed Cape De Gata, Spain, at 11 p.m.

The Cape is about 186 miles east of Gibraltar, which the message said probably would be reached by 2 a.m. The message concluded "all well on board, only a little too warm. The temperature is 33 deg. centigrade (about 91 deg. fahrenheit.)"

POSTAGE RATES AND RULES ANNOUNCED

Postage rates for mail to be carried by the Graf Zeppelin in its round-the-world flight, scheduled to begin at Lakehurst next Wednesday, were announced yesterday by Postmaster O'Brien.

According to a telegram received by O'Brien from W. Irving Glover, second assistant Postmaster-General at Washington, special fees for ordinary letters not exceeding one ounce are quoted at $1 to or via Germany, $2 to or via Japan and $3.50 for delivery in the United States.

Fees for postcards are set at one-half the letter postage, all of which are in addition to the regular postage of 5 cents and 3 cents for postcards and the usual fee if transmitted by air to New York, where the mail will be prepared.

Articles dispatched on the round-the-world flight must be marked by the senders as follows:

"By German Airship L. Z. 127, from Lakehurst to Lakehurst."

If the article is for delivery en route they should be addressed as follows: "From Lakehurst to Friedrichshafen; from Lakehurst to Tokio" or "From Lakehurst to Los Angeles," as the case may be, according to the instructions.

committee headed by R. A. Condee, showed excellent progress in steps to eradicate the Mediterranean fruit fly from Florida. The intensive survey of California orchards now being carried on, together with the absence of the fly in this State, was submitted as proof that California quarantine lines have been tightly drawn.

Condee emphasized, however, that the crisis is not past and the seriousness of the situation confronting the Golden State should be recognized by every citizen and every individual should assist in making the quarantine effective.

C. C. Teague, director of the association, now in Washington as a Presidential appointee to the Federal Farm Relief Board, telegraphed that the farm board is optimistic of obtaining concrete results through the operation of the measure.

Following receipt of the message, the directors voted to broadcast to all sections of the State a digest of the farm relief bill, so there will be no misunderstanding regarding the board's functions, and with particular reference to the limited ways and means in which the moneys appropriated can be dispersed.

E. W. Murphy, chairman of the association's conservation committee, reported steady progress in arousing united western support for the Englebright fire prevention and forest conservation bill to be reintroduced at the next regular session of Congress.

CAPONE CALLED BOMBING GENIUS

Chicago Officers Explain Racketeer Methods

Rival Gangs Terrorized by "Pineapple Trust"

Confession and Wire Tips Divulge Secrets

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—"Scarface" Al Capone, gang chieftain now in a Philadelphia jail, was named today by Chief Investigator Roche as the directing genius of the bomb trust uncovered through the seizure of seventeen men last night.

James Belcastro, one of those arrested, is said to be the leader, and business agent of the Cook County Gas Fillers' and Owners' Association, a racketeer organization in which his brother-in-law, Peppi Genaro, machine gunner and election terrorist, and Mike de Pike Bettler, notorious ex-convict, are other officials. Belcastro was named as the killer of Octavius Granady, who ran against Morris Eller for Committeeman of the Twentieth Ward a year ago, but prosecution failed. His brother-in-law, Rocco Fanelli, was indicted as another of the Eller henchmen.

DELIVERED PINEAPPLES

"Belcastro has been a member of the Capone mob for many years," said Roche. "Whenever a rival still was uncovered Belcastro would be ordered to deliver a pineapple to the rival mob. The result was a terrific explosion, and when the police or firemen arrived they would learn that a gang had been in operation there and would come to the conclusion that the still had exploded of its own accord. But the stills didn't explode without Belcastro's help."

The Capone gang also used the bombing ring to terrorize speakeasy proprietors who refused to buy Capone beer, "alky" and whisky, Roche said.

BOMB CHIEF SLAIN

He recalled that before the death of Tony Lombardo, slain in a gang assassination in the Loop, it was common gossip in the underworld that Lombardo, known as Capone's chief lieutenant, must be consulted before a bomb could be purchased or set. The bomb manufacturers must have Lombardo's approval before they were allowed to sell a bomb.

Lombardo thus kept track of the bombers' activities, and thus was able to protect Capone allies.

While Roche was charging that the gang worked under Capone's direction, Deputy Commissioner Stege announced that one of the men seized had made a complete confession as to the gang's personnel and activities. The men were held at the detective bureau overnight.

PERSONNEL TOLD

"One of them came clean," said Stege. "He told us who composed the gang and what their activities had been during recent months. The man's name will not be given out until Chief Investigator Roche and the prosecutor's men have had an opportunity of talking with him."

Stege said that with the unnamed man's confession and partial admissions received from Steve Fricke, one of the prisoners, the authorities had enough information to round up the gang responsible for the extortion blasts on the West Side in recent months.

"We want two or three more men," said Stege. "I believe that before we finish this inquiry we'll not only clean up the bombing situation, but we'll uncover the man who murdered 'Diamond Joe' Esposito."

ROUND-UP PLANNED

Meanwhile a round-up of racketeer heads of fake "unions" and "business associations" and a drive on crooked fire insurance adjusters on charges of murder and arson are being planned as part of the bombing inquiry.

While the prosecutor's staff cloaked itself and its activities, it became known today that a dozen squads are on the hunt for men of whose activities Roche and his aides learned in a month's listening on tapped wires into the "pineapple" factory at 1136 South Throop street.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. The cause of the outbreak was not announced by the superintendent's office, but the warden told Heckman it was more of a noisy mob than anything else.

The penitentiary, which has a capacity of 3000 convicts, the officials here said, like other Federal prisons, is badly overcrowded.

They were acting on a report that convicts there are set for a revolution that will surpass the horrible scenes at Auburn and Dannemora in terror, blood and fire.

TARIFF BOOSTED ON SOME FRUITS

Cherries, Dates and Lemons Duties Increased

Senate Committee Approves Other House Rates

Smoot's Sugar Sliding Scale to be Ready Today

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—Agricultural tariff duties were given some boosts today by the Republicans of the Senate Finance Committee as they worked through another hot day in revising the House tariff measure.

For the most part the agricultural duties were left about the same as in the House bill, but increases were voted on oats, cherries, dates, lemons and onions. The rates in the House measure on corn, wheat, potatoes, pineapples, rye and apples were approved without change. The increase voted by the House on rice was eliminated.

The agricultural schedule, which is regarded as the heart of the new tariff measure, was not completed.

SUGAR HEARING SET

It was announced tonight by Chairman Smoot of the committee that he will have ready tomorrow his sliding scale sugar tariff which he intends to offer as a substitute for the flat increase in the sugar duty provided by the House. The scale, he said, will apply on refined sugar. A public hearing will be held on the sliding scale next Wednesday, after which the committee will vote upon it.

The present rate of 15 cents a pound on oats was increased to 16 cents.

The duty for cherries was boosted from 2 cents a pound to 6 cents with an explanation that it is to equalize the tariff on cherries in liquid preparations.

The rate on dates was raised from 1 cent a pound to 2 cents; on lemons, from 2 cents a pound to 2 1-2 cents; on onions, from 2 cents a pounds to 2 1-2 cents. No decisions were reached today on the duties applying on tomatoes and peas.

PEANUT RATE REDUCED

The duty on peanuts in the shell was left at 4 1-2 cents a pound as provided by the House, but the rate on shelled peanuts was reduced from 7 to 6 cents.

The duty on casein, manufactured from skimmed milk and used in the manufacture of gloss paper, was increased from 3 1-2 cents a pound to 3 1-2 cents. This is regarded as a victory for the dairy interests, whose plea for an increase was ignored by the House. Users of gloss paper had protested the increase.

PITTSBURGH BUILDINGS DESTROYED BY BLAST

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 1. (AP)—More than a score of buildings in the "strip" district were damaged early today by an explosion police and fire officials believe was caused by a bomb. A three-story hardware establishment was destroyed, and fronts of buildings for more than a block were shattered.

ARROWE PARK (Eng.) Aug. Tonight he is sleeping out in a little green tent just like the others and, like them, probably is trying to keep warm and dry in the face of a stiff gale and downpour which had soaked the huge encampment intermittently since the opening yesterday, and which continued [illegible] night with no sign of a let-up.

The Prince, however, has refused to let the elements interfere with his plans. Braving the mists and wind which made flying extremely difficult as well as dangerous, he waved aside all objections from his friends and flew from Hendon Aerodrome, outside of London, to Hooton, near here. He arrived about 5 o'clock. Before proceeding to the Scout camp he stopped long enough to review the British Legion in front of the cenotaph of Birkenhead.

A hundred thousand people, many of them cotton workers who are locked out this week, jammed the roads for miles leading to the camp and cheered the heir to the throne.

At the Scout headquarters he was presented to the chief foreign delegates, among them Howard P. Gillette, Mortimer L. Schiff, Frank Presbrey, Barrett Rich, George Olmstead and James E. West, who are the official American representatives.

GIFT OF $50,000

Mortimer L. Schiff, one of the senior members of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., American bankers, presented the Prince with a little surprise in the form of a gift of $50,000 to be used by the Boy Scouts of Great Britain to promote "international friendship among the boys," as Mr. Schiff termed it in his remarks to the Prince. The latter turned the check over to Sir Robert Baden-Powell after thanking the American for his generosity and his heart in the boys' movement.

Ambassador Dawes, accompanied by his nephew Henry, will arrive at noon tomorrow. He, too, will spend the night under canvas. The troop from Evanston today put up a special tent for the Ambassador, who will take mess with them and eat the food which the boys from the Chicago district will prepare on their own open air ovens.

"WHAT'S A PRINCE?"

Though the British press is going into ecstasies tonight about the Prince's visit, describing how 50,000 youths from Lapland to New Mexico are going wild over one who is "looked upon as the leader of the world's youth," one could not help but notice how unperturbed the Yankee youngsters seemed about it all. While the British and most of the Europeans are rushing wildly to get a glimpse of the heir, the American youths kept on with their baseball games or wigwam building, and were seemingly unaware of the attraction which is dear to the hearts of young Europeans, as well as the old.

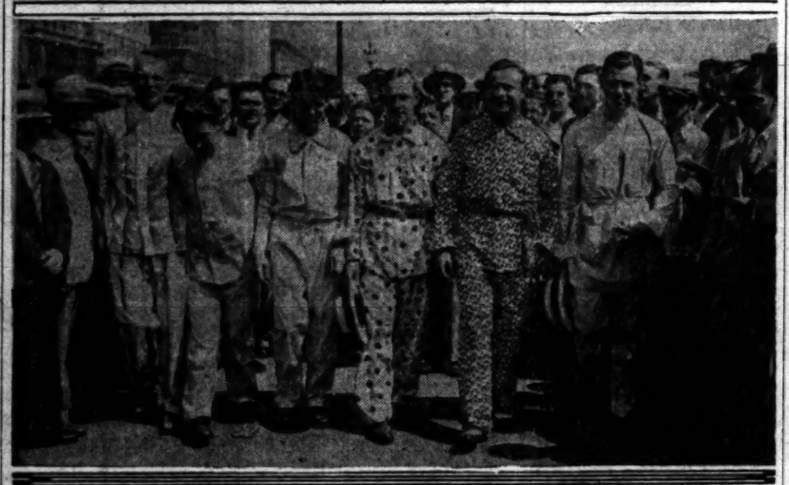
The recreation grounds of the American camp presented a strange sight today when a group of Scouts from Peoria, Evanston and Oak Park, Ill., learned to play cricket with the English Scouts. In another corner a bunch from Iowa and Missouri attempted to teach baseball to the Scotch. A couple of Scouts from Houston, Tex., spent the morning in the French camp showing how to do tricks with ropes. Swapping of clothes and medals became a popular pastime with the Americans, who wandered about the foreign camps trading pants for Scotch kilties, hats for Egyptian turbans, and badges for medals.

STIFF SENTENCE GIVEN

VAN NUYS, Aug. 1.—George T. Evans, convicted on two liquor-violation counts in the local Municipal Court, was sentenced to pay a $500 fine or spend 200 days in jail. Judge Clifford has stated repeatedly that liquor-law offenders convicted in his court can hope for little leniency from him.

CRUSADING PAJAMA PARADE FIZZLES OUT

As a demonstration of protest against the convention that decrees hot and stuffy clothes for men, a pajama parade was announced for Michigan avenue in Chicago the other day, and fewer than a dozen, pictured below in brilliant array, had the hardihood to answer the call. And even some of them, it is asserted, had regulation trousers underneath. [P. & A. photo]



BEITZEL WAITS DEATH CALL

Condemned Slayer Plays Phonograph and Studies Spanish Lessons on His Last Day

SAN QUENTIN, Aug. 1. (AP)—Russell St. Clair Beitzel, condemned to die on the San Quentin prison gallows tomorrow, played his phonograph in the death cell today and studied his correspondence courses. He declared he had not yet lost hope of a reprieve, although Gov. Young announced last night he will not interfere in the case. Beitzel was convicted of the murder in Los Angeles of 19-year-old Barbara Mauger.

Beitzel told Warden Holohan today he did not wish to be accompanied by a priest on his march to the gallows tomorrow. His relations with the clergy, however, have been amicable. Rev. John Mills of St. Raphael's parish spent an hour with the condemned man this morning.

Apparently cheerful, Beitzel ate heavy meals last night and today and studied Spanish and ancient history, which he is taking through an extension course of the University of California. Beitzel completed courses in both these subjects two weeks ago and immediately registered for an advanced course of lessons, which he probably will not have time to finish.

New phonograph records were requested by Beitzel today. He apologized for his request to the warden, explaining that the old ones have become scratched. He has played the instrument continuously.

MOTHER MAKES PLANS TO BRING BODY EAST

YORK (Pa.) Aug. 1. (AP)—Mrs. Catherine Beitzel, mother of Russell St. Clair Beitzel, is making arrangements to have her son's body brought to York for burial in the event that he is hanged tomorrow in San Quentin prison, Cal., for the murder of Barbara Mauger of Philadelphia. She says that her son often expressed the desire to be cremated, but she does not want that done.

On the eve of her son's execution Mrs. Beitzel continues to believe in his innocence.

MANIAC SLAYS FOUR MEN

Shipping Clerk Deals Death With Ax in Frenzy; Fifth Victim Expected to Succumb

SPARTANBURG (S. C.) Aug. 1. (AP)—Four men are dead tonight and another lies in a hospital, his skull crushed, as a result of a swath of death cut by a shipping clerk who suddenly became a raving maniac.

Deprived of his hand ax, with which he dealt death and destruction, T. Earl Robertson, the clerk, is in the Spartanburg County Jail while preparations are under way to take him to the State Hospital for the Insane at Columbia. A group of physicians pronounced him violently insane.

The dead were: R. H. Day, 30 years of age; J. L. Bussey, 58; M. L. Davis, 36, and Thad Sherbert, 51.

The injured man is Dan Dunlap, 40, a negro. He is expected to die.

CLERK IN ILL HEALTH

Robertson had not been well for some time but appeared to be normal, J. W. King, traffic manager for the concern for which he worked, said this afternoon. Robertson first killed Day and Bussey and wounded the negro. Bussey's body was found at his desk by J. S. O'Neale, a railroad engineer.

After killing or maiming everyone in the office, the mad man stood in the doorway and refused to let anyone enter. A salesman coming to the door was told by Robertson "You can't come in here. I am the only one in the place." The salesman said he noted something queer about Robertson's eyes and left.

SLAIN IN BOXCAR

Finally Robertson went to the railroad yards. Seeing Davis and Sherbert eating their lunch in a box car, he slipped up behind them and crushed their heads.

Robertson then returned to the shipping platform of the mill where S. J. Lenier, car repair foreman, said he saw Robertson throw something away.

Lenier caught Robertson about the waist and a struggle ensued. The foreman held on, however, until Constable J. Johnson arrived and with the aid of four other men Robertson was subdued.

Robertson lived with his wife and their son, T. E. Robertson, Jr., just outside the city limits. Mrs. Robertson said he had been having spells for several weeks.

The dead men all were married and had families. Day and Bussey were killed instantly. Davis died an hour after being taken to a hospital and Sherbert died an hour later.

LONDON-JAPAN LINE NEAR

New Air Route Will Take Planes Near North Pole; Other Transport Routes Scheduled

LONDON, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—New civil air transport routes within the British Empire have been projected to include Canada to London through the Arctic Circle; London to Japan, passing near the North Pole, and West Africa to London, across the Sahara.

Sir Sefton Brancker, director of civil aviation, revealed these ambitious plans today, although definite details have not yet been worked out.

Two other main routes being developed at present are London to Melbourne in 180 hours, and London to Capetown in 110 hours. Indications are that regular service from Alexandria to Victoria and Nyanza by the middle of 1930 is expected, and six months later to Capetown. Instancing the increasing air traffic between North and South America, Sir Sefton declared it is up to Great Britain to take the share of it through the West Indies.

Dealing entirely in civil aviation, Sir Sefton produced official figures showing 25,000,000 miles flown on regular scheduled service throughout the world in the last year, the United States heading the mileage and Great Britain being listed on the bottom. Actual figures are as follows:

United States, 11,000,000 miles; Germany, 6,750,000; France, 4,500,000 miles and the British Empire 1,500,000 miles.

SEMINOLES MAY PADDLE UNDISTURBED IN GLADES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—One hundred years of official effort to round up the Seminole Indians and place them on a Florida reservation have come to an abrupt end. Secretary Wilbur has instructed that it be "forgotten."

Ever since the acquisition of Florida by the United States, and even while the Spaniards controlled the peninsula, the white rulers have been trying to corral the Seminoles on a reservation, but in the deep recesses of the Everglades they have maintained their independence.

Indian Office officials returning recently from Florida after fruitlessly chasing around through the swamps after the elusive red man reported to Secretary Wilbur that "progress was slow."

"How long have these Indians been taking care of themselves?" the Secretary, who has ideas of his own about the red men, inquired.

"As long as we have known anything about them," was the reply.

"Well," said the Secretary, "leave them alone—forget about putting them on a reservation."

The Indian Office is planning to assist them in matters of education, sanitation, and methods of making a living.

PHYSICIAN'S SON ACCUSED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1. (AP)—James Willis, 28 years of age, son of a Stockton physician, today was bound over to answer before the Superior Court on a charge of violating the State poison law. He was arrested here recently and accused of having narcotics in his possession. Willis at one time served part of a long sentence in San Quentin prison for a crime committed by another in Sacramento.

GIGANTIC FOX MERGER NEARS

More Than $250,000,000 Deal Being Formed

One Company Planned to Own Studios and Theaters

General Exchange of Stock to be Provided For

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (Exclusive) Merger of all the William Fox motion-picture and theatrical interests into one company is reported to be in the process of formation, with underwriting of the shares of the new company already arranged with New York and out-of-town banking interests. Whether the merger will take the form of an entirely new company, or be an expansion of the present Fox Film Corporation to include the other companies controlled by the Fox interests is a thing that is reported to be undetermined as yet.

The plan which is under discussion is understood to be a general exchange of the stocks of the companies for shares in the combined company to be made in September.

The cash value of the properties which would be included in the merger if consummated never has been publicly estimated by the Fox company, but it probably aggregates more than $250,000,000. Within the last year the Fox interests acquired the Poli circuit of theaters for a reported cash price of $25,000,000 and also acquired control of the Loew theaters, which carried with it the control of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures Corporation, a producer and distributor of motion-pictures, by purchasing the stock of the late Marcus Loew and buying in the open market. Cash expenditures for the stock acquisition is estimated as in excess of $50,000,000.

In addition approximately 130 theaters in New York City were taken over this last spring at unannounced prices, and the company has under construction or just recently completed seven theaters of the same style as the Roxy in New York, in various parts of the country.

MAGRUDER GLAD TO BE ON DUTY

Base Command Taken Over Aboard Procyon

Ceremony Marks Change in Naval Leadership

Headquarters to be Made at Los Angeles Harbor

VALLEJO, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—Rear-Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, after almost twenty-one months of enforced rest because of a series of magazine articles scoring navy management, took command of the Pacific Coast fleet base force today. He boarded the U.S.S. Procyon, anchored by the seawall at Mare Island, promptly at 11 a.m. and his flag was run up immediately.

In the presence of the ship's personnel and the marine guard, Rear-Admiral S. E. W. Kittelle, whom Magruder succeeds, read his orders transferring him to the East coast, where he will become president of the board of inspectors and survey of the United States Navy. Magruder then read his orders aloud and stated he was "very glad to be back on active duty." As soon as the Procyon is overhauled, Admiral Magruder will make his headquarters at Los Angeles Harbor.

He spoke today about his first trip to Mare Island, more than forty years ago, aboard the U.S.S. Iroquois, which has been scrapped, and said that he never will forget one trip to sea he made aboard that ship. "It lasted for 110 days," he laughed.

Magruder was removed from command of the Fourth Naval District and of the Philadelphia navy yard in November, 1927, by former Secretary Wilbur, after publication in the Saturday Evening Post of an article on "The Navy and Economy." In the article, the officer stated the Navy was overorganized, charges which were denied by the Navy Department.

SINO-RUSSIAN ENVOYS PARLEY

Agree on Appointment of Peace Delegates

Conference Expected to be Held at Harbin

Moscow Orders Cessation of Demonstrations

MANCHULI (Manchuria) Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—The Chinese and Russian delegates met on the Siberian frontier here yesterday and agreed on the apointment of delegates for pacsiful negotiations regarding the Chinese Eastern Railway rupture.

The Chinese delegate, Tsai-yun Sheng, when interviewed, declared "The Russian ultimatum will automatically be withdrawn. I expect both sides to name delegates within a week. It is likely that they will meet at Harbin, where the crisis originated. Moscow has ordered military demonstrations on the frontier to cease."

CHINA TO TAKE OVER ROAD ADMINISTRATION

PEIPING, Aug. 1. (AP)—Sun Fo, Minister of Railways in the Nanking government, told the press today China intends to conduct negotiations with the soviet government on a basis that while all rights and interests in the Chinese Eastern Railway would be placed under a Sino-Russian joint ownership, the administrative power over the railway would be taken over by China.

DR. WU DISCUSSES ORIGIN OF STRIFE

WILLIAMSTOWN (Mass.) Aug. 1. (AP)—China's recent expulsion of soviet officials of the Chinese Eastern Railway was the result of the discovery of a "grave conspiracy" against China and was neither a seizure of the railway nor a violation of agreements with the soviet government, Dr. C. C. Wu, Chinese Minister to the United States, said today.

Speaking at the opening session of the Institute of Politics at Williams College, Dr. Wu discussed at length the Sino-Russian dispute over the Chinese Eastern Railway, which he characterized as "an instrument of Russian expansion and domination in Manchuria," and outlined the conspiracy which he said occasioned China's action.

CONSPIRACY DISCLOSED

Chinese officials, he said, had made a forcible entry on a meeting of the Third Internationale, attended by Russian consuls-general, Communist agitators, officials of the soviet consulate at Harbin and had discovered partly burned documents.

"A translation of the documents disclosed a grave conspiracy against China," said Dr. Wu. "There was not only the usual type of Communist agitation and propaganda, but there was evidence to show the conspirators were trying to instigate civil war in China and to cause injury to the Chinese Eastern Railway.

MOVE FOR DEFENSE

"What China did under the circumstances was dictated by the most elementary law of self-defense. After deliberation of six weeks she ordered the expulsion or arrest of the officials of the soviet consulates, trading agencies and of the Chinese Eastern Railway and the closing of the soviet organizations."

"China has been represented as suddenly and in violation of the agreement of 1923, seizing the Chinese Eastern Railway on July 10. This was not true.

"In any just estimate of China's action, one must regard as inaccurate the statement that China has seized the Chinese Eastern Railway. China has not nullified any of the rights that Russia possesses there. She has in the exercise of the right of self-defense ejected foreigners who on her own soil were planning to do her harm."

HE FEARS GIRLS WILL CHEW

Teacher in East Predicts Candied Tobacco for Their Use

NEW BRUNSWICK (N. J.) Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—An earnest opponent of smoking for women, Arthur E. Ward, instructor in music at Rutgers College summer school, told a gathering of women students today that if women do not stop smoking they eventually will take to chewing tobacco.

"Manufacturers will try to camouflage tobacco by coating the stuff with sweets and perfumes," he predicted.

More Than Fifty Taken in Liquor Net Over Town

YOUNGSTOWN (O.) Aug. 1. (AP) Fifty armed Federal agents tonight raided Campbell, Youngstown's steel town suburb.

During a raid on a store, 500 men beleaguered a squad of raiders. It was necessary to call out emergency squads of Federal officers before the crowd dispersed.

More than fifty asserted bootleggers were arrested. The list grew each hour.

Operating in squads of three or four each, agents descended upon stores, pool rooms, gasoline stations, restaurants and even private homes, where "under cover" agents asserted they had purchased liquor during recent months.

Model Named in Divorce Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1. (AP)—Cruelty in the form of "continued vociferous applause" for a model at a fashion show, was made the basis for a divorce suit filed in Superior Court today by Mrs. Nell A. Hendricks against William R. Hendricks of Fresno.

Hendricks, the complaint charges, made his preference for a Miss Myrtle York Welch, model in a Fresno fashion show in 1926, known so loudly that Mrs. Hendricks was humiliated. Since that time, Mrs. Hendricks charges, her husband and the model have become intimate friends.

VALUE OF FREE PORTS STUDIED

Foreign Trade Zones May be Provided in Tariff Bill

Shipping Board Publishes Results of Survey

Benefits and Disadvantages Carefully Gone Into

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—For several years the question of establishing foreign trade zones or so-called "free ports" at ports of entry in the United States has been discussed with increasing interest by the shipping public, and various bills looking to this end have been introduced in Congress. The pending tariff bill may provide the necessary legislation if Congress decides that free ports or foreign trade zones would benefit American commerce and shipping.

Because of the widespread interest manifested in the idea by chambers of commerce, boards of trade, port commissions and other port bodies, Chairman O'Connor of the Shipping Board some time ago caused an investigation to be made of the entire subject, in order to enable those interested to determine whether or not it would be advisable to establish foreign trade zones in the United States. The results of the investigation have just been published in a volume entitled "Foreign Trade Zones, or Free Ports." The Bureau of Operations of the Shipping Board was assisted in making the investigation by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors of the War Department and by the consular service of the State Department.

REPORTS ANALYZED

The volume shows that the main argument in favor of free ports is that they would aid in the development of transshipment and consignment trade, and would thus build up the merchant marine, all of which benefits would, it is asserted, come about as the result of the elimination of customs dues and regulations in the defined zone which constitutes the free port. Towage, moorage, dockage, demurrage, harbor dues, port warden's fees, and similar charges would not be affected.

TOO MANY HARMFUL

Analysis given of the free port situation in Europe indicates that an excessive number of competing free ports in the same trade area generally tends to defeat the purpose for which they have been established. The report, therefore, suggests that if Congress should authorize the establishment of free ports in this country, it might be well at the same time to provide for preliminary investigations, to be conducted jointly by the Shipping Board and War Department, in order to determine the location and perhaps the size of the various free port areas. These should in all cases be established at strategic trade points, due regard being had to the natural flow of commerce, the port's advantages with respect to the concentration and transshipment of products of foreign origin, and the proper co-ordination of rail and water traffic.

PAJAMAS KICK KNICKERS AWAY

Mayor of Sarasota, Fla., Cheered as He Plays Golf in Nightwear

SARASOTA (Fla.) Aug. 1. (AP)—Pajamas have given notice to knickers.

The first suggestion of a menace to the common garb of the golf links—which itself had gained some reputation for comfort in bygone days—was evinced yesterday when Mayor Bacon and three other prominent Sarasotans appeared on the Bobby Jones municipal course with silken nightwear fluttering in the breeze while a large gallery cheered their efforts.

AMERICAN SAYS SPAIN THEFT JOKE

Chicago Banker Accused of Taking Royal Plaque Held in Madrid Jail

MADRID (Spain) Aug. 1. (AP)—Backey J. Dee, Chicago banker, is said to have admitted to the district judge before whom he appeared today that he took a valuable porcelain plaque from the famous Escorial palace but that he did it only as a joke.

Dee, following regular Spanish custom, has been held incommunicado since his arrest. He had visited the museum with a tourist party and later the plaque, which had hung on wires on the wall of a room, is said to have been found in his possession. The authorities say he apparently had been drinking.

Because the robbery was committed in a royal city and in the palace of the King, the judge must study the case carefully before making disposition. It is learned that there is a possibility if the reputation of Mr. Dee is established by testimony which his wife and attorney are attempting to obtain from Chicago, that King Alfonso may use his influence to stay the severity of the penalty.

EXPLOITING OF INDIANS DENOUNCED

Wilbur Backs Episcopal Protest Against Using of Red Men as Show People

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—"Too much is being made of the Indian as a showman cast in aboriginal roles," Secretary Wilbur said today in response to a petition received from the Episcopal convocation of the Sioux Indians of Pine Ridge Reservation, South Dakota, protesting against such exploitation of them.

"Showmanship does not lead the Indian toward establishing himself on an even keel of self-respecting independence. It does quite the reverse. It throws him back upon a masquerade of a manner of life that no longer exists and cannot exist in contact with the dominant civilization. Well-educated Indian Americans bedeck themselves with paint and feathers and engage in the dances of their grandfathers. They do so to the benefit of individuals or communities who use them to attract visitors.

"Those individuals and communities may profit but the wholesome development of the Indian is interfered with and he is hurt. The Department will do all it can to discourage this showmanship as distinct from the natural celebration of the Indians carried on among themselves."

So Shaw Will Assist Church Despite Vows

(Copyright, 1929, by New York Times.)

LONDON, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—According to his custom never to give a penny to charity, as he believes this entails responsibility, George Bernard Shaw has refused to contribute to a fund to restore St. Mary's Church in Youghal, Ireland, which was Sir Walter Raleigh's church. A committee in charge of the project in response to its appeal received from Shaw a postcard whereon was his photo.

On the back was written: "As you may see by my expression, I don't care two pence about your church. You had better sell it to America, where Raleigh, Spenser and Cromwell (including his curse) are more popular than they are ever likely to be in Cork.

"G. BERNARD SHAW."

The committee expects money from Shaw anyway, as they are offering this postcard to the highest bidder.

Chamber Group Will Buy Mine

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—Members of the mining department of the Chamber of Commerce are tired of being called white-collar miners, so they have decided to purchase and operate a producing quartz gold mine.

This announcement was made today by Fred W. Bunyan, chairman of the department. Technically trained members of the department plan to visit the Mother Lode and other mining districts to look over likely property.

JOHNSON-YOUNG BEES BUZZING

Rumors Also Fly Thick and Fast After Caucus

Governor's Political Family in on Quiet Session

It's Open Secret They've Lots to Talk About Yet

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—Political rumors flew thick and fast here tonight as the result of a conference in the State Building this afternoon between Gov. Young, Senator Johnson and various members of the Governor's official family. The topic of their conversation was guarded closely after the meeting, but it is an open secret that the Governor and the California Senator, who has been a consistent stumbling block to President Hoover ever since the latter was elected, have an understanding to come to regarding the next elections.

As yet, Gov. Young has not definitely put himself on record as a prospective candidate for renomination. It is understood in this connection that his decision rests almost entirely upon what Johnson will or can do in the next campaign.

There also has been simmering for months the prospect of Senator Johnson retiring from public life at the completion of his present term and joining a San Francisco law firm for private practice. This never has been denied but neither has it been confirmed.

The net result is to make it obvious Gov. Young and the Senator have much to talk over.

In addition to these two, those present were Bert B. Meek, State Director of Public Works; Judge William P. Langdon of the State Supreme Court, William J. Carr, railroad commissioner; Ralph Bull, chairman of the State Highway Commission; Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Banks; M. J. Kelly, superintendent of the United States mint, and Alexander McCabe, political adviser.

Wholesale Jail Terms Clean Up Bay Beer Cases

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—Wholesale assessment of short County Jail sentences for minor defendants in the Oakland beer graft convictions and a compromise between government and defense on some of the principals was effected in a few minutes in Federal court today and the slate virtually wiped clean of trials which followed a round of raids in the East Bay district a month ago.

Eleven cases were disposed of on the entrance of guilty pleas to minor counts and County Jail sentences of two months each imposed, and in the other cases, some of the previous indictments returned were dismissed to hasten the prison service of defendants who have been convicted on felony charges.

Trained Nurse Advises Friends to Take Sargon

"I am a trained nurse by profession, and am certainly pretty well posted on medicines and treatments. Yesterday I heard from a friend of mine in St. Johns, N. B.,

MRS. SARAH THOMPSON

Canada, telling me they were sick, and asking me to advise them the best thing to do. I have just answered the letter, telling them to get the Sargon treatment at once.

"I was the victim of the worst kind of neuritis for five years, and no medicines I took seemed to give me even temporary relief. Then stomach trouble came on. My food didn't agree with me. I became extremely nervous, weakened and run down, as well as constipated and bilious. Finally, I decided to try the Sargon treatment, and it proved a God-send. I have taken six bottles, my neuritis is entirely gone, my stomach troubles are ended, and I am so much stronger and better in every way, that it is hard to realize I was ever so weak and run down. Now I enjoy my food, sleep like a school girl, and feel like it is my duty to tell as many other sufferers as possible, all this splendid treatment did for me.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills are mild but very effective. They are entirely different from the drastic, upsetting laxatives I have always been accustomed to. My constipation and billousness are over, and my whole system cleared of poisons and toned up. It is a pleasure to recommend this wonderful treatment."

The above statement was recently made by Mrs. Sarah Thompson, of 1432 East 74th St.

A special Sargon representative is explaining the merits of this new medicine to hundreds of people daily at the Owl Drug Store, 6th and Broadway. Sargon may also be obtained at all Owl Drug Stores in Los Angeles and other cities.—[Advertisement.

Pacific States Savings, as a result of the greatest month of growth in its history, has advanced from seventh to sixth place among the 13 thousand building and loan associations in the United States.

5 FACTORS OF SAFETY

1. LOAN POLICY Pacific States Savings' funds are loaned in accordance with the strict provisions of the law and the even more rigid restrictions of the company itself. Loans are secured by thoroughly protected first liens on improved real estate in 75 California cities. The aggregate appraisal value of this real estate is determined by the company's ultra-conservative practise. Regular installment payments are required on all loans as a further safety factor.

2. LIQUID ASSETS In order to maintain assets at the maximum of liquidity we have written down furniture and fixtures and real estate out of surplus to one dollar each.

3. STRONG CASH POSITION Pacific States Savings' strong cash position is evidenced by the fact that in addition to its other cash on hand and liquid securities it maintains a voluntary cash reserve of approximately two million dollars in interest bearing deposits in over 60 California banks.

4. BANK CREDIT FREE Since bank loans would be an obligation coming before its obligation to savers, it is Pacific States Savings' policy not to avail itself of its bank credit. It has no bank indebtedness.

5. CONSERVED EARNINGS That Pacific States Savings conserves its earnings is demonstrated by the fact that its surplus, reserves and undivided profits are over 3 times its guarantee capital stock.

Defense Says Both Accused and Victim Insane

COLUMBUS (O.) Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—Dr. James H. Snook, on trial for the murder of Theora Hix, today heard Prosecutor John J. Chester, Jr., tell a crowded courtroom and a mixed jury that Snook killed his paramour in a fit of impatient anger when slow-working love potion had not made her amenable to his advances.

Snook calmly took notes and showed the slightest show of feeling when glancing casually at the blood incrusted garments worn by the Ohio State University medical co-ed on the fatal night of June 13, and the small ball-headed hammer and the penknife he presumably used to bring about her destruction.

DRUG ANGLE

The State deliberately took away from the defense their strongest point—the contention that Snook, maddened by drugs administered by Theora—killed the girl in an emotional frenzy. The prosecution declared it would prove that the drug angle entered into the defense plan only after the results of the analysis of the contents of the girl's stomach had been disclosed by a Columbus newspaper, while the State was seeking to keep this information secret for trial purposes.

Chester made an emphatic point of Snook's reiterated denial during the police investigation that he and Miss Hix had been addicted to drugs in any form.

Snook's senior attorney, C. P. Ricketts, objected to Chester's statements.

WITNESS CALLED

"When he committed this crime Snook was insane, Theora Hix was insane, and Meyers was insane—all three of them," exploded Ricketts. Marion Meyers was the university instructor who was Theora's sweetheart before she came intimate with Snook. "They can't show premeditation," Ricketts yelled, after flaying the prosecution.

When Ricketts suddenly terminated his address after ten minutes, Paul C. Hicks, prosecutor, called the first witness, Alice Bustin, former room-mate of Theora Hix, who with her sister Beatrice, saw Theora a few hours before she was killed, and later reported her disappearance to the police.

BIRD BONES GIVE CLEWS ON BAY'S INDIAN LIFE

BERKELEY, Aug. 1. (Exclusive) Refuse piles made by Costanoan Indians 1000 years or more ago indicate to University of California experts that this Bay District Indian resided here the year around. Some 6700 specimens of bird bones were discovered in 400 shell mounds concentrated at abandoned Shell Mound Park when the latter was leveled for a factory site. Among them were bones of the cormorant, ducks and geese.

Ducks and geese, according to Hilgard Howard, graduate in vertebrate zoology, were present only during the winter and the cormorant only in the summer. Hence, because of the presence of both in the refuse mounds left by the Indians, the latter must have been here in all seasons.

American Pair Reported Beaten

LONDON, Aug. 1. (AP)—A dispatch to the London Daily Mail from Changchun, Manchuria, said that an American boy, the son of Lieut. Cryers, an official of the National City Bank of New York, was struck by a Chinese policeman for playing in a street at Harbin Tuesday.

When the father protested he was brutally attacked by fifteen policemen, who beat him with rifle butts and bound him with ropes. They took him to the police station, where he was assaulted again.

Allan Hoover's Illness at End

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—Allan Hoover, son of the President, who suffered a slight stomach disorder several days ago, was reported today as having entirely recovered.

He was making plans to accompany the Presidential party tomorrow on the regular week-end trip to the Rapidan River camp in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia.

MILITARY POSTS DUE FOR SLASH

Hoover's Army Board May Order Eliminations

Many Sites Too Small But of High Value

Forts in West Merely Relics of Frontier Days

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—One of the largest single items in army expenditures annually and one where application of the President's proposed strict economies in the military establishment would not only save substantial sums, but strengthen the national defense as well, according to critics in and out of the service, is the cost of maintaining scores of army posts throughout the country.

A total of $26,073,223 was allotted to the Army Quartermaster-General in the current fiscal year appropriation bill for maintenance of military posts and the rebuilding or replacement of barracks and quarters. A considerable portion of this amount has been or will be spent at posts in the United States which have no military value or place in the national defense scheme.

RELICS OF FRONTIER

Many of these posts, particularly in the Western States, are relics of frontier days, which in some instances can accommodate only a handful of men. Others, in or near large cities, occupy reservations, which, because of their location, are tremendously valuable, but which are too small for troop training purposes.

Most of these posts with a few notable exceptions, such as those along the Mexican border, and others where the various important army schools have been established, are eloquent testimonies, it is freely admitted, to the powerful influence of Congressmen and politicians of the States or districts in which they are located.

HALF NOT NEEDED

"At least 50 per cent of the garrisons which the taxpayers now are called upon to maintain are not needed for national defense and have no military value," declared Senator Bingham, Republican, Connecticut, in a discussion of economies which might be effective as the result of the general staff survey of army expenditures ordered by President Hoover.

"One of the outstanding lessons of the World War was the importance of divisional training and still we continue to scatter our army over the country in small units," continued the Senator. "By way of illustration one might as well train football players separately and expect them to win a victory when brought together as a team for the first time as to train an army in small units.

"The army is considering the establishment of three large divisions —East, South and Far West—and the limitation of army posts to a few, well-planned and chosen because of the proximity of the divisional headquarters as well as their availability for training large units of the service together would be not only economy, but sound military practice.

"Of course, the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga., the general service schools at Fort Leavenworth and similar projects should be maintained, but there are forts and posts all over the country that should be abandoned, the property on which they are located should be sold and the proceeds applied elsewhere in the service."

VALUABLE SITES

Among the outstanding examples of army posts located on valuable tracts of land in or near cities, but which, it is said, have no military value and are unsuitable for training troops in large units are Governor's Island and nearly a dozen Coast Artillery forts in or near New York City; Fort Wayne, located on a site valued at approximately $7,000,000 in Detroit, Mich.; Fort Sheridan, north of Chicago, Ill.; Fort Hayes, in Columbus, O., and Fort Omaha, in Omaha, Neb.

The Western States are dotted with more or less useless army posts, some of them dating from the Indian wars and others, Fort D. A. Russell, Wyoming, for instance, built in recent years at great expense, it has been charged, are without necessity or military value.

MEXICAN LABOR CODE ADVANCES

Senate Takes Step Toward Adoption of Law

Constitutional Amendments Now Before Lower House

Employers Plan New Attack on Proposed Act

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—The first step toward Federalization of the proposed new labor code which is opposed by labor employing interests and which has attracted world interest because of its radical features was taken last night when the Senate approved by a majority vote the bill presented by President Portes Gil, seeking constitutional amendments necessary before the bill proper may be brought up. The Chamber of Deputies must now act.

Representatives of industrial and labor-employing interests, including leading American manufacturing concerns, mining and railway interests who hold passage of a labor law as projected will have a vital effect on their Mexican investments, held a conference this morning immediately after the Senate's action became known at which further plans entertained by capital interests to bring about a modification of the project were discussed at length.

Foreign Legations Bristle With Bayonets

Young China Hopeful of Abolishing Concession

BY FRED HOGUE

[illegible] following is one of a series of dis[illegible] now being sent by mail from Fred [illegible], member of the Los Angeles Times [illegible] who is touring China and other [illegible] of the Near West with a group of [illegible] under the auspices of the Carnegie Foundation.

PEIPING (Peking) July 6. (Exclusive)—The pride and glory of the Chinese Kingdom is following the [illegible] fishing trail of Nineveh and Tyre. When the Manchu dynasty fell in 1911 the city began to crumble. Now it is only a broken shell. The young [illegible] sitting known as the Kuomintang [illegible] and its way to Nanking.

[illegible]eking—meaning northern capital—[illegible] is no longer a seat of government, so the southern Nationalists [illegible] urged its name to Peiping.

ONLY DEAD REMAIN

[illegible]rade, industry and population [illegible] drifting away. Only the dead remain.

[illegible]mples, palaces and tombs are [illegible]ing into decay. The sands of the [illegible]t Desert are coming back to [illegible]m the valley that was wrested [illegible]m them by Kublai Khan for the [illegible]ital of his mighty Mongol empire, that stretched from the Yellow [illegible] to the Carpathian Mountains [illegible] years ago.

The foreign legations, [illegible] steel, still stand in their walled [illegible]ure, but the government to [illegible]oth the ambassadors and [illegible] has been transferred to Nanking, [illegible] the Yangtze Valley, 1000 miles [illegible].

The legation grounds were ceded [illegible] treaty to the Allied powers at [illegible] close of the Boxer Rebellion. [illegible]ng China—the students graduated [illegible] by colleges founded and supported here by foreign money, and the [illegible]duates of American, British and [illegible]rman colleges—Young China has [illegible]barked on a frenzied campaign to [illegible]abolish the legation grant by taking [illegible] the city away. The government [illegible] already departed.

[illegible]ank-remaining southern cabinet [illegible] is the seat of government of United China," and in that city is [illegible] foreign concession where foreign[illegible]can assemble.

The major powers refuse to move their legations and Chiang Kai-shek, chairman of the Nationalist government, turns a deaf ear to all pleas from Northern Chinese to bring the government back.

SOVIET LEAD FOLLOWED

The Nationalist government, following the lead of the soviets, has established the offices of president of the so-called republic. The executive department is the executive committee of the Kuomintang, a political party founded after the model of the Bolshevik party of Russia. Chiang is now here on his first visit since the seat of government was transferred to Nanking. He is [illegible] only a few days for a conference with Gen. Feng Hsi-Shan, the "model Governor" [illegible] are intrenched behind the [illegible]anding that the capital be brought back. He refused to meet Chiang in Nanking, so Chiang came here, leaving his army behind.

The troops of Yang and Feng Yu-hsiang are intrenched behind the mountain passes of Shansi awaiting the outcome.

TALKS POWERFUL

[illegible]ing with the other American journalists, I breakfasted with Chiang three mornings ago at the Wagon Lits Hotel. Though the office of president has been formally abolished, his secretaries introduced each of us to "the President."

Through his interpreter, he talked to us for an hour. I was so impressed that I collapsed at lunch and am now in the Rockefeller Foundation Hospital, outside the legation grounds.

Feng came the day after. He breakfasted for two successive mornings with Chiang at the Peking Hotel and the second afternoon he took up his abode in the German hospital — inside the legation grounds.

He is domiciled there now, with [illegible] bodyguards, and there is an [illegible] quiver running over the old [illegible] of the Mongol-Tartars, the Chings and the Manchus.

For twenty-four hours the international radio has been clicking incessantly, sending off code messages from the legations.

What a relief to foreigners in Peiping is that radio; and how long China detests it; so long as it continues to function the foreign colony cannot be cut off from the outside world, as it was during the Boxer Rebellion.

Before this reaches The Times by mail, you will know how it all came out—whether the war lords effect another compromise, or whether the armies, one from the north and the other from the south, are massed on the historic plains outside the old Peking wall.

CHATTER CONTINUOUS

What a chatter, chatter, chatter comes up to me from the Chinese quarter as I stand at my hospital window looking out upon the roofs of the ancient city of Peking, jade and silver in the light of the rising moon.

That same moon looked down upon the walled encampment of Genghis Khan, upon twelve dynasties in their glory and their decadence; and I could envision what will be looking down upon me when this reaches The Times—provided it gets through.

New Rules for Ship Inspection to be Discussed

LONDON, Aug. 1. (AP)—The Daily Mail today said the British Board of Trade, fresh from its verdict of $2,500 in the Vestris disaster, would consider immediately [illegible] new regulations for surveillance of passenger ships are necessary.

The paper also said that a great advance in safety measures against overloading might be expected shortly, and that an expert committee appointed by the Board of Trade has almost completed revision of regulations governing the [illegible] of the load line so that they may be brought up to date.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

MURDER, SAYS CORONER'S JURY

Inquest Shows Roy Kirk to Have Been Slain

Accused Men in Jail at Santa Ana

Motive Missing in Strange Death Case

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 1. Inquest today into the killing of Roy Kirk of Huntington Beach was followed by a Coroner's jury verdict to the effect that "Kirk came to his death at the hands of a person or persons unknown." Following the inquest Dist.-Atty. B. B. West of Orange county announced that action would be taken during the next twenty-four hours regarding two men who were arrested Sunday night following Kirk's death. The two are Allen Slater, 21 years of age, and Albert Nava, 21, of 1350 Redondo avenue, Long Beach.

Kirk was injured fatally about 8:35 p.m. Sunday on the Coast Highway two miles north of Huntington Beach. Gordon Kelly Chandler, a resident of the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle, testified today that he saw Kirk get out of the second of two cars parked off the highway and approach the foremost car, in which were two men. The driver stepped out on the running-board and punched Kirk so violently that he fell backward, fracturing his skull on the pavement. Chandler said that the two men then lifted Kirk to his own car and drove away.

Chandler ran forward, joined by two other motorists who had come up behind. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rowe of Santa Barbara. As they reached Kirk his pulse was feeble, and almost immediately, he died. Slater and Nava reported back to Huntington Beach, telling Policeman Shaffer that there was a man badly hurt on the highway. Later when Chandler and the Rowes reported having seen Kirk die, the police went to the Long Beach address which they had traced by the license plate. Slater and Nava were arrested, charged with suspicion of murder. They deny all knowledge of Kirk's injury, asserting they saw him lying injured and put him in his car.

Autopsy Surgeon Thompson testified that Kirk's death was the result of two fractures of the skull and basal skull fractures. Coroner Brown conducted the inquest. Slater and Nava are in the Orange County Jail. Kirk was 34 years of age, and was employed by the Standard Oil Company as a service-station operator.

Deer Hunters Forbidden to Build Fires

VENTURA, Aug. 1.—In a special meeting called for the purpose, the Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon passed a resolution declaring the Malibu region a fire hazard, and issued a warning to deer hunters entering that area during the first fifteen days of August.

The resolution outlines the area which is to include the district from the Coast Highway as far inland as Camarillo, it is reported, and from the Ventura county line to the mountains east of Oxnard.

The Supervisors declared they will prosecute anyone responsible for fires in that region and will demand the maximum penalty.

DEADLOCK TO DELAY CITY HALL ERECTION

SAN FERNANDO, Aug. 1.—The local City Council is in a deadlock over the site for the proposed City Hall to be built here. The City Planning Commission has recommended that the hall be erected at First and McNeil streets. The price for the land is $90,000 and this is objected to by some members of the Council as being too high. It is estimated that the building will cost about $75,000. The matter of rushing forward the work will be in abeyance until all figures and definite site are agreed on. When this is settled the question will be put before voters, who will be asked to pass a bond issue sufficient to provide the completed structure.

BEATS KANSAS AT HER OWN GAME

Alhambra Youth Raises Giant Sunflower in Garden

ALHAMBRA, Aug. 1.—Kansas doesn't grow 'em any bigger.

Murri Cluff, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Cluff of 140 North Fourth street, has grown a sunflower of gigantic proportions. The stalk is twelve feet tall and the blossom eighteen inches in diameter. It grew from a single seed, which the boy planted in his back yard in April, last.

Since Murri has been able to toddle about he has shown a keen interest in flowers. When he found a sunflower seed on the school grounds he brought it home and planted it. He watered it faithfully and cultivated the ground. Now he has a plant that experts declare is one of the largest sunflowers ever grown in Southern California. The specimen is on display at the Chamber of Commerce.

ANYWAY, SHE WON'T JUMP MOON

Mysterious Disappearance of Gentle Three-Legged Cow, and One-Legged Man is Scandalous Affair Puzzling Sleuths

ROSEMEAD, Aug. 1.—The dragnet is spread for a three-legged cow and a one-legged man, missing from the premises of C. M. Phillippi, 2708 Valley Boulevard. Sleuths from the Temple City Sheriff's substation have been summoned to track the pair and restore them, or at least the cow, to Mr. Phillippi.

Whether the cow and the man were attracted to each other by a mutual sympathy arising from their infirmities or whether the man was drawn to the cow by a mercenary motive, is not revealed in the official report. But the fact remains that both are absent.

The cow belongs to a friend, according to Mr. Phillippi, who borrowed her for exhibition purposes and is loath to lose her. The missing one-legged man is "Pegleg" Holden, whom Mr. Phillippi befriended recently, giving him a place to sleep in return for odd jobs. Holden was discharged the other day. Soon afterward Mr. Phillippi missed the cow from the lot next to his home where she had been staked. The cow has red hair and weighs 600 pounds. "Pegleg" has brown hair and weighs about 150 pounds.

Forest Closed to Public to Prevent Fire

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 1.—Because of fire hazard conditions, described as being extremely bad, L. H. Anderson, Supervisor Cleveland National Forest, today closed certain portions of the Cleveland Forest to public use, except under permit, announcement at his office states. The areas closed today lie in the northern part of San Diego county.

Effective today, the areas closed to public use, except under permit, include that portion of the Trabuco district within Riverside and San Diego counties, thus closing the entire Trabuco district, except the summer-home areas in Orange county, located in Santiago, Silverado, Trabuco, Holy Jim, San Juan and Hot Springs canyons. The northern portion of the Palomar district, including the Morgan Hill and Agua Tibia country, also is closed, beginning today, the announcement states.

"Fire hazard conditions in the entire Cleveland area are extremely serious this summer," declared Anderson. "Since a large part of the forest the net area of which is 380,100 acres, lies within San Diego county, citizens and residents of the city and county and tourists here are urged to take every precaution to prevent the start and spread of forest, brush and grass fires."

The areas closed today, together with the rest of the Trabuco area, which was closed in June, will not be open for public use until after the first heavy rains of winter, Anderson declared. Practically all the area of the Cleveland National Forest lying within Orange county was closed to public use in June.

Appeal Lost in Causeway Case

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 1.—New trial of the Mission Bay Causeway injunction suit was denied by Judge Lloyd E. Griffin of Superior Court today. Minority protestants who had lost their suit for injunction against the $700,000 improvement sought new trial on grounds the court erred in ruling the city had right to construct a bridge over the "navigable" waters of the upper bay. Appeal from the Superior Court to the State Supreme Court is indicated by protestants' attorneys.

The Superior Court's ruling last month opened the way for the contractor to resume construction on the causeway July 15. Construction work has not slackened since that date, it is reported. The causeway when completed will give a short route over Mission Bay between downtown San Diego and Pacific Beach to La Jolla.

GLENDALE ELIMINATES BOTTLENECK IN STREET

GLENDALE, Aug. 1.—Widening of South Brand Boulevard, to conform with the width of Glendale Boulevard, south of the Glendale city limits, is assured through the completion of negotiations between the City Council, the Pacific Electric, and the Board of County Supervisors, and the bottleneck that has existed on the southern end of the city's main thoroughfare will be broken, it was announced today by Councilman Sam A. Davis.

The city will acquire the needed land for this improvement at a net cost of $100,000. The property will be turned over to the city at a price of $70,000, of which the Board of Supervisors has pledged the payment of $60,000, leaving the city to pay the remainder. Deeds for the land, Davis said, will be delivered to the city within the next month, paving the way for the start of the work.

Injunction is Issued in Garbage Case

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 1.—A decisive step toward clearing up the rubbish evil which has affected the near-by beaches in the past was taken to Superior Court today when Judge L. D. Jennings issued an injunction order requested by the District Attorney's office against operators of the garbage tugboat Abraham Lincoln.

Under the order, briefly stated by Judge Jennings, William Primas Stewart must not allow refuse dumped from the craft to wash back upon the beaches within the court's jurisdiction. No order as to disposal of the refuse was made. However, Stewart immediately conferred with Dep. Dist.-Atty. A. Y. Kendall and Health Officer Dr. Alexander Lesem to decide upon the distance and means of disposal of refuse in future.

The suit was brought at the instance of Lesem following complaints that garbage and other refuse was washed up on the beaches. Stewart and Joseph and Helen Schadek were named defendants. The latter two were excepted by the court's order, Judge Jennings pointing out the Schadeks have severed connection with operation of the tugboat.

The case was tried and submitted on affidavits of witnesses who stated they had identified certain of the rubbish as coming from the boat. One witness suggested the only safe place for future disposal as lying ten or twelve miles southwest of the whistling buoy, off the channel. Floating objects, such as wooden boxes, will be burned hereafter, the defendants promised.

Accused Chief Still on Duty

CALIPATRIA, Aug. 1.—Charles G. Smith, Calipatria Chief of Police, after being released from the County Jail at El Centro on $2500 bail in connection with his being arrested by Border Patrolman White, driving a truckload of beer from the international line, this morning arrested L. T. Morehead, barber and pool hall owner, here on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Federal prohibitory laws. Morehead, who is well known in the county, is out on $2500 bail also. It is said the truckload of beer driven the Federal prohibition laws. Morehead.

Smith, himself, was released from the County Jail on $2500 bail furnished by Mayor J. C. Tate and Councilman George Hullett and B. K. Travers of this city, but not until Sheriff Gillett had relieved him of his deputy sheriff's badge.

Civic Center is Suggested

BRAWLEY, Aug. 1.—In the rebuilding of the Brawley City Hall, which burned to the ground a few weeks ago, the city is considering the planning of a civic center in which the new building can be harmonized with the public buildings already constructed and form an artistic as well as economic tie in with the principal scenic part of the city. The suggestion is urged by G. Stanley Wilson, Riverside architect, who designed several of the public buildings in Brawley.

VICE RAID STAGED IN GUADALUPE

Santa Barbara Officer Conducts Successful Round-up in Coast Town

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 1.—With $600 bail money, six persons and information for warrants for three others, Undersheriff Jack Ross returned this morning following a day and a night of sensational raids in Guadalupe.

Assisted by only one deputy constable, Jack Bishop of Santa Maria, Santa Barbara county's undersheriff swept through the notorious "vice world" of the northern town, broke into half a dozen places and arrested thirteen violators of the law. Three others, for whom warrants were issued today, escaped on the lonely road out of Guadalupe to Point Sal, where Manuel Motta was arrested for operating a still.

In Guadalupe, Paulino Garcia was arrested on charges of liquor possession. Garcia was caught pouring out a barrel of whisky, Undersheriff Ross said. The proprietor of the place, said to be Juan Hernandes, fled. A warrant has been sworn out for Hernandes. In the same house, Lucy Garcia was arrested for vagrancy. She, with two other girls, Maria Rongel and Adela Gonzales, arrested in two other places on the same charges, are in the County Jail.

Maria Listner, proprietor of a hotel in Guadalupe, posted $300 bail to answer liquor possession charges. The undersheriff said he found a well-equipped bar-room in the rear of her hotel.

Five professional gamblers and the proprietor of one establishment, Quong Lee, were arrested in raids. The six men posted $50 bail.

Warrants have been sworn out today for Joe Torres on a charge of operating a gambling house, and for Joe Soto on a charge of operating a house of ill fame.

Heavy Waves Stop Suicide

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 1.—Because the Pacific's surf at Santa Monica washed him back ashore each time he tried to get out where the water was deep enough for suicidal purposes, he told police, Ralph Clark, age and address still unrevealed, went in despair to the police station and had himself held until he could think things over, according to a report filed shortly before dawn this morning.

Officer Gough, who received the dripping guest at the station, reported Clark had told him he was tired of life and had not been eating regularly lately. To end it all he waded out into the surf, but was hurled back onto the shore. Several times he tried to get out, but all he succeeded in doing was getting wet.

He said he has a brother in San Francisco, who might help him if he learns of his plight, and police were trying to get in touch with him today. In the meanwhile Clark's clothing is being dried out.

CITY PLANS FOR HARBOR

Contemplated Construction of New Bridge Develops Possibilities for Shipyards

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 1.—Looking forward to the possible establishment of a shipyard and inner harbor in the Goleta Slough, six miles west of this city, county officials are to revise plans and specifications for the proposed bridge from the mainland to the sandspit. Under the new arrangement, the bridge is to be eight feet above the mean high-tide line instead of three fet and is to have a draw to permit the passing of boats.

The contemplated development of the slough into a harbor was revealed yesterday when the objections of representatives of Harold S. Chase and Peter Cooper Bryce to the proposed work were announced by county officials.

In a conference with an engineer from the Los Angeles office of the War Department, J. P. Drake, Santa Barbara, member of the county forestry board, and representatives of the two Santa Barbara men, tentative plans for a possible harbor development were discussed.

It was pointed out that the slough might be developed into one of the finest inner harbors on the Coast for a relatively small sum.

ZANE GREY BACK FROM LONG TRIP

Noted Novelist Enjoys Salmon Fishing in Nova Scotia Waters

ALTADENA, Aug. 1.—Despite mosquitoes and bad weather Zane Grey, author and adventurer who returned last night to his home, 280 East Mariposa street, after a three months' trip through Nova Scotia and Newfoundland, described the journey as "just as successful as it was difficult."

Although the weather and insects caused some hardships, Grey asserted that the fine salmon fishing in the Newfoundland rivers provided good sport and valuable material for his books on angling.

The author was accompanied on the trip by his son, Romer, who, with a friend, Bob Carney, acted as cameramen for the party. Capt. Murray Mitchell, Grey's companion on many expeditions, was also a member of the group.

After remaining in Southern California for a month, Mr. Grey, wife Romer and Betty Zane Grey, his daughter, will make a trip by pack train into the mountainous region of Utah, Mrs. Grey announced.

Preceding the publication of Zane Grey's next book, "Fighting Caravans," which will appear this winter, Harper's will publish a boy's book, "The Cruise of the Fisherman," written by Romer Grey, who thinks that "scribbling even beats fishing."

During Mr. Grey's absence, Mrs. Grey and Betty motored through the Columbia River Valley with friends and later went to Alaska before returning to their home here.

Reseda Robot Is Employed to Sprinkle Lawn

RESEDA, Aug. 1.—Reseda is the first San Fernando Valley town to make use of a robot. It waters the lawn surrounding the Pacific Telephone exchange every morning at 1 o'clock.

The local exchange is one of the new dial system sort and handles mechanically all local calls. The building is kept locked and there isn't a human being on the place. Not content with the fact that the robot, so to speak, looks after all phone connections, this new duty has been added to his shoulders.

Recently shrubs and flowers bordering the lawn surrounding the building were found to be in need of water. The company suggested hiring a caretaker to look after things.

"Why not let the robot do it?" suggested one of the bright young engineers of the company.

The engineer then installed a large clock in the silent and closed building. Each morning now when it strikes one, the robot stirs himself, an automatic sprinkling system is set off and the lawn outside is deluged for a half-hour.

San Fernando Is Planning to Ban Wine Tonic Sale

SAN FERNANDO, Aug. 1.—The question of regulating the sale of so-called wine tonics is being battled with by the local City Council.

Following the investigations of the local City Attorney, who said that an ordinance passed to prohibit sales will be legal, the Council members stated they were tentatively prepared to make their next move.

City Attorney Decker, however, has been instructed to investigate the nonselling ordinance at Long Beach and other towns and make further report to the Council. Members of the Council say that if they can be assured that the State courts will uphold an ordinance prohibiting the sale of the tonics, in all likelihood such a law will be put in force here.

Heads of civic and service clubs have told the Council that boys and girls in San Fernando have been guilty of buying the tonics before going on nightly joy rides, and that numerous traffic accidents of a reckless origin have been the result.

Valley Town in Need of Schools

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1.—A recommendation has been made to the Los Angeles School Board that a sixteen-room addition be built on the grounds of the North Hollywood High School to accommodate increase of pupils.

A previous recommendation had asked for the erection of four bungalows, but it is believed now one large building will better answer purposes. There is also talk here regarding the necessity of building a junior high school for this district to relieve the present high school which was only completed about two terms ago.

About 1000 pupils will enroll at the high school next month. New residents have come into the North Hollywood district so fast that local schools have not been able to keep abreast with the influx of pupils. It is apparent that several new schools must be erected to handle the enrollments expected within the next two years.

District Has Funds Without Levying Tax

VENTURA, Aug. 1.—With sufficient funds in the treasury to carry along the work planned for the coming year, the Santa Clara Water Conservation District has decided to levy no tax for the coming twelve months, it was announced today by George B. Travis, its secretary, following a meeting of the board of directors in Santa Paula.

A large amount of work in spreading surplus waters over the gravel beds and in other conservation steps during the past year was reported by V. M. Freeman, manager-engineer for the district. His recommendation for increasing the water-spreading facilities at Saticoy, after a satisfactory land lease is made, was approved.

The question of check dam installation was discussed but not acted upon.

The resignation of C. C. Teague as president, because of his residence for the coming year in Washington, where he is a member of the Federal Farm Board, was not accepted by the directors. Instead, he was granted a leave of absence for one year and W. H. Dubal, State Senator, was elected president protem.

SUMMER SCHOOL CLOSES AT CLAREMONT

CLAREMONT, Aug. 1.—After six weeks of classes the Pomona College summer session closes here tomorrow afternoon, following one of the most successful summer schools sponsored by the institution. More than 275 students have been enrolled in all departments of the campus division.

Classes conducted at the two other Pomona College summer school divisions also will close today. The Laguna Beach marine laboratory division has enrolled forty-five students for the summer and several students have been taking the summer school courses in engineering given at Bluff Lake in the San Bernardino Mountains.

The closing event of the summer school at Claremont was given last night with the presentation of the play, "The Wizard of Oz," under the direction of Miss Mary Blaisdell. Stage settings for the play were made under the direction of Warner Bentley, director of the players at Dartmouth College.

MOTORCADE COMING FROM SOUTHERN AREA

CALEXICO, Aug. 1.—A motorcade of 500 cars from southern States, from St. Augustine, Fla., to California, is expected to reach Imperial Valley on its way to San Diego October 12, over the old Spanish Trail over which the Spanish Conquistadors traveled more than 400 years ago, according to word received from St. Augustine.

Starting with 100 cars from Florida, the cars will travel on the historic trail and the Broadway of America through Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, until it will have gathered nearly half a hundred cars in its line. The trip will be in the nature of a booster trip for the highway.

'PHONE DEBATE COMES TO CLOSE

San Marino Subscribers Connect With Pasadena

Railroad Commission Rules

City Club Responsible Favorable Action

PASADENA, Aug. 1.—San Marino telephone subscribers, as the result of an order from the California Railroad Commission, have their option of connection with either Alhambra or Pasadena exchanges, it was announced today by Manager Norris, local exchange manager.

The order specifies that any San Marino subscriber within a radius of the present exchange boundary, Huntington Drive, who has not exercised option until now without cause for a Pasadena exchange connection, may now obtain it without having an Alhambra telephone.

In canvassing the area three years ago the San Marino City Club reported to have found that only a few of several hundred residents south of Huntington Drive desired Alhambra service.

A 63 extra charge per month besides the exchange service charge will be made south of Huntington Drive for a Pasadena exchange phone. The total monthly charge for such phones will be $5.75, with increases as the distance increases. Huntington Drive increases. Alhambra service also may be obtained within a mile of the boundary. Applications for changes are being filed with Mr. Norris at the local telephone exchange, starting tomorrow.

San Marino residents point to the fact that the new order means a unification of all San Marino telephones possible for the first time.

Commission to Meet in Mexico City

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 1.—The International Water Commission will meet in Mexico City August 20, at which time, if it is found advisable, San Diego will be represented by Chief Hydraulic Engineer H. N. Savage, City Attorney M. W. Conklin, former Mayor John L. Bacon, the latter will represent the California Colorado River Commission, of which he is the president.

Dr. Elwood Mead of the United States Reclamation Bureau is chairman of the American section, commissioners, two other members being Gen. Lansing H. Beach and W. E. Anderson.

In a letter to Engineer Savage received today, Dr. Mead says:

"The Mexican and American sections of the International Water Commission will meet in Mexico City on August 20. I have in mind your previous letter relative to presenting San Diego's case, but am unable now to express an opinion whether it will be desirable for San Diego to be represented or not. This is because of uncertainty as to what will transpire at the conference. If it seems desirable that we have the advice of those interested in the Juana Dam I will wire you from Mexico City."

GRAPE SEASON ENDS IN IMPERIAL VALLEY

CALEXICO, Aug. 1.—Imperial Valley's grape season is expected to end next Monday with a seasonal total of approximately 300 cars shipped out, the shipping this week is averaging a dozen cars a day and the total will probably be 100 cars less than last year.

Prices this year, however, have been better than the year before, holding up to from $2.25 to $2.50 per twenty-four-pound lug for most of the season. Today's price is from $1.75 to $2 per lug.

179—The 1st Division in the Toul Sector.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

ON JANUARY, 1918, THE 1ST DIVISION (U. S. REGULARS), HAVING FINISHED ITS TOUR OF DUTY ON THE "QUIET" LORRAINE FRONT, WAS ORDERED TO THE MORE ACTIVE "TOUL SECTOR." THIS TIME THE "1ST" WENT INTO THE TRENCHES AS A DISTINCT UNIT.

THE PART OF THE FRONT TAKEN OVER BY THE AMERICANS RAN THROUGH A MARSHY VALLEY, WHERE FLOODED TRENCHES AND THE DEEP MUD, TOGETHER WITH THE BITING COLD OF MID-WINTER, ADDED TO THE HARDSHIPS AND DISCOMFORTS OF THE SOLDIERS.

THE AMERICAN TRENCHES LAY IN FULL VIEW OF THE GERMANS, WHO HELD ALMOST IMPREGNABLE POSITIONS ON THE HEIGHTS EAST OF ST. MIHIEL. THE GERMAN ARTILLERY KEPT UP A HARASSING FIRE UPON THE AMERICAN LINES IN THE VALLEY, WHILE OUR FORCES COULD DO LITTLE TO RETALIATE.

THE GERMAN BATTERIES WERE SO WELL SCREENED AND PROTECTED THAT THE AMERICAN ARTILLERY COULD NOT DISLODGE THEM, AND ALL OUR TROOPS COULD DO WAS TO TRY TO REDUCE ITS LOSSES BY SKILFUL "DIGGING IN." DURING ITS STAY IN THIS SECTOR THE FIRST DIVISION SUSTAINED 352 CASUALTIES.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. (AP)—Sammy [illegible]andell, lightweight champion of the world, will wear his three-year-old crown into Paddy Harmon's Chicago stadium tomorrow night and he defies Tony Canzoneri to knock it off.

The pair will meet in a ten-round battle to a decision of a referee and two judges. Upward of 20,000 spectators will witness the contest, with indications of a gate ranging around [illegible]20,000, perhaps $140,000. If the [illegible] West Side arena is sold out.

Mandell, defending his title for the third time against a really dangerous challenger since he won it three years ago, will enter the ring a 2-to-1 favorite. The champion, perfectly trained, and in the greatest physical condition of his career, has no fear of losing to the former featherweight champion. He figures his advantage in weight, speed, reach and strength will carry him to victory. Canzoneri is just as confident he can bounce a knock-out punch off Mandell's chin.

FAVOR CHAMP

Unless the boxing experts are completely wrong, Mandell figures to win as he pleases from Canzoneri. They rate the New York challenger just a willing young man, who is trying on quite an assignment in attempting to annex the lightweight title. Because Canzoneri is a busy, tireless fighter, however, he is accorded some sort of a chance.

He had a record of never having made a bad showing against any opponent in a Chicago ring, topping off his Chicago performances by defeating Andre Routis, the Frenchman who conquered him in a decision fight for the featherweight title.

Canzoneri can be counted on to keep going although the going may be rough. Tomorrow night, however, he has a prospect of encountering more left hands than he has ever seen.

Mandell is a past master in boxing skill. He knows what he can do with the right, but he has never shown any particular desire to rap any of his opponents into slumber. He figures to outpoint Canzoneri or succeed alone.

IN GOOD SPIRITS

The champion will outweigh Canzoneri by four to five pounds by the time they crawl into the ring. Mandell has had no really serious difficulty in paring himself down to the championship limit of 135 pounds, despite all reports to the contrary. Canzoneri, on the other hand, has been building himself up and figures to scale around 132 pounds when they weigh in tomorrow afternoon.

Mandell, according to members of his training retinue, was under the required weight when he finished his last workout this afternoon. He

Alex Wins to Equal Record Set by Matty

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—By beating the Brooklyn Robins here today, 5 to 2, Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran right-hander of the Cardinals, equaled a record held by Christy Mathewson.

Alexander pitched himself into his 372nd winning box score of the many years he has been a headliner in the National League. The veteran pitched a typical Alexander game, his greatest asset, control, being in evidence from start to finish. No bases on balls, no wild pitches or hit batters, marred his performance.

RUETHER TRIPS UP SERAPHS

Mission Reds Make it Two in Row Over Los Angeles, Score 6-to-3

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—Those power-house Angels who are supposed to deal out death and destruction to southpaws, were easy picking for Dutch Ruether today and the Missions won by a score of 6 to 3. Bert Cole, a southpaw, had the power house boys eating out of his hand Wednesday and Ruether had only a trifle more trouble subduing them today.

The Angels used nine right-handed hitters to no purpose.

The Missions bunched their hits to good effect in the third and sixth innings off Barfoot. In the third Mulligan giggled and walked home ahead of Mickey Finn when the latter drove the ball into the left-field bleachers. Ike Boone peeled off a single and strolled home when Fuzzy Hufft lifted a ball high and far over the right-field wall. All those hits were made and the four runs scored after two men were out.

They got after Barfoot again in the sixth and drove him out of the box. Hufft got his third hit of the afternoon to open the sixth inning. Sherlock popped out, but Christensen and Slade rapped out singles and Barfoot went to the showers. Doc Crandall went to work.

One run scored on Slade's hit and the other counted on Baldwin's squeeze play. Baldwin bunted the ball to Tolson and Christensen scooted over the pan.

The Angels scored a run in the third and then staged a little rally in the seventh, which was suppressed when Walter Christensen made two fine catches.

The run scored in the third was when Hannah and Stats bunched doubles. Two more scored in the seventh when Dittmar and Holling singled and Crandall walked, filling the bases with none away. Haney beat out a bunt to score one run and the other scored when Christensen made a difficult catch of Stats's fly. Berger tried to clean up with two men on bases, but Christensen danced back and made

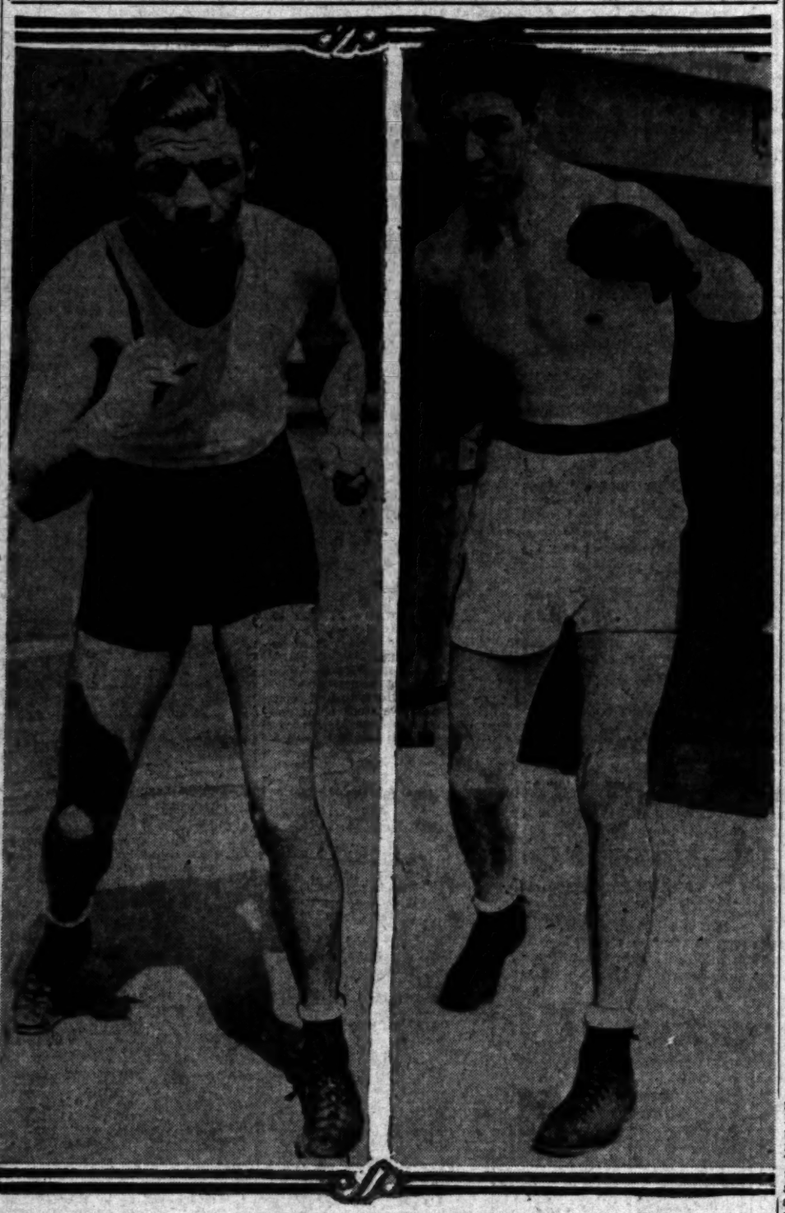
LIGHTWEIGHT CHALLENGER AND CHAMPION

They battle tonight at Chicago for the 135-pound crown, which has been worn by Sammy Mandell (right) for the past three years. He has waged successive campaigns in the bantamweight and featherweight divisions without championship results and in Mandell is meeting one of the flashiest boxers in history.



LEONARD PICKS MANDELL

Benny Can't See Where Canzoneri Has a Chance to Win Tonight's Title Bout

BY BENNY LEONARD
Retired Undefeated Lightweight Champion of the World

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion of the world, and Tony Canzoneri, challenger, have finished their training and await the gong which will start them on their battle for the title in the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

Both boys have come through in fine shape, and as Mandell has not weakened himself too much in his weight making I pick him to win on points.

Summing up everything, the relative ability of the two men as ring generals and boxers, I cannot see where Tony has a chance to win from the clever champion.

I believe Mandell is the very best boxer in the world today. That's a pretty broad statement, but if there is anybody who knows more about the art of hit and get away, who can defend himself so ably while tantalizing and punishing an opponent, I have not seen him.

I do not except even the clever Tommy Loughran in this broad statement. Mandell is the best stylist in boxing, just as Bobby Jones is the best stylist in golf.

There is little difference in the measurements of the lads under the tape, but there is a vast difference between them just the same. The tape shows that Mandell is a bit taller than Tony and that he has a little greater spread of arms, erroneously called "reach." But in girth of chest and limbs they are about even, though possi-

Stubblefield Takes Race at Legion

"Stubby" Stubblefield, a dark horse, driving a Redlands Special, bore down with a heavy hoof on the throttle to capture last night's forty-lap feature event at the Legion Speedway. Stubblefield kept a steady pace throughout and never once relinquished the lead after Nick Martino, who set the pace from the start, skidded into the fence and out of the race on the fifteenth lap.

Martino's car went into a spin on the first turn, crashed into the fence and then caromed back on the track while all the other eight cars flashed by the crippled machine. It was a dangerous situation, but great driving by the other entrants averted what might have resulted in a disastrous smash-up.

Martino collapsed on the track, but was brought around after first-aid treatment. He was badly shaken up by the collision with the fence but got out of the wreck with only a couple of teeth missing.

Stubblefield, who was right on Martino's tail, took the lead after Nick went out and never relinquished his advantage. The winner's time for the forty laps was Deer season opened yesterday morning in Ventura and Santa Barbara counties, with thousands of local nimrods on hand to give the up-State deer a big hand. Hunters are allowed two bucks a season, but they must be forked horns or older. Many limit bags were announced before the season was more than eight hours old, hunters being on their way home late last night with deer horns ornamenting their automobile radiator caps.

M'KECHNIE MAY QUIT CARDS FOR POLITICS

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—Bill McKechnie, who has managed two pennant-winning National League teams only to be cast into the discard after each victory, can have the management of the Cardinals next year if he so desires, Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis club, said today.

"I already have offered Bill a 1930 contract, but he is torn between baseball and politics and has asked for an extension of time before making a definite decision," the Cardinal president said.

McKechnie is running for tax collector of his native Winkinsburg, Pa., a suburb of Pittsburgh. With the indorsement of the Republican machine, he stands a good chance of winning the job, a $15,000-a-year prize with a four-year term.

Naturally, McKechnie would prefer the political job, which probably would pay more than piloting the Cardinals, and has the added incentive of a four-year term and the probability of re-election in a Republican stronghold. Baseball is McKechnie's first love, but he has found out that during his club career that club owners are fickle souls.

Only proven charges could knock the tax collector's job out from under McKechnie and its stability naturally attracts him. McKechnie has been directing a campaign for election, and admitted today he had gone too far into the fight to back out. Breadon has agreed to await the result of the election.

SEABRIGHT (N. J.) Aug. 1. (AP)—Dashing Dick Williams, playing the net with all the reckless abandon of thirteen years ago when he last won the Seabright singles, forged into the final round of the 1929 tournament today with a brilliant victory over Normal Farquharson, Cambridge University player from South Africa.

Pounding home points whenever games were needed badly, Williams won, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3, while on an adjoining court the bronzed young California giant, John Doeg, beat the Texan, Berkeley Bell, 6-4, 6-4, to qualify as Williams's opponent tomorrow.

Two Californians will fight it out in the women's singles final on Saturday as Miss Helen Jacobs of Berkeley and Miss Edith Cross of San Francisco, the country's second and third ranking players, came through according to schedule.

Miss Jacobs, who has not yet dropped a set and has lost only eight games in three matches, won from Miss Marjorie Morrill of Dedham, Mass., 6-1, 6-2, while Miss Cross conquered a fellow San Franciscan, Mrs. Harper, 6-1, 3-6, 7-5.

In the women's doubles to be decided tomorrow, Miss Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, Mass., and Miss Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana, Cal., will be finalists against the all-San Franciscan combination of Mrs. Lawrence Harper and Miss Edith Cross. Miss Cruickshank and Miss Morrill defeated Miss Ethel Burkardt, San Francisco, and Miss Marjorie Gladman, Santa Monica, in one semifinal, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2, while in the other Mrs. Harper and Miss Cross conquered Miss Virginia Hillery and Miss Anne Page, both of Philadelphia, 6-6, 6-8, 6-3.

Two collegians—Bell of the University of Texas and Gregory Mangin of Georgetown—reached the final in men's doubles by trimming the Cambridge combination of E. R. Avery and Russell Young, 6-1, 3-6, 6-1, and will oppose either the old Davis Cup pair of Williams and Watson Washburn or two Philadelphians, Sam Gilpin and Dr. Carl Fischer for the title.

Greater steadiness as well as a more varied attack enabled Williams to win from Farquharson in the feature match of the day. Before an appreciative gallery of 800, Williams came from behind to win the first set, dropped the second and then outsteadied and outstroked the British youth in a stirring final session.

Doeg resorted to frequent volleying in winning his semifinal and a great net battle is in prospect for tomorrow. Many feel that if the veteran Williams can stand the strain of playing the full championship route of three out of five sets, he has at least an even chance to beat Doeg and win the tournament as he did in 1914, 1915 and 1916, when at his peak.

FIELDS SOUGHT FOR FIGHT IN PHOENIX

PHOENIX, Aug. 1. (AP)—An offer of $25,000 to meet Dummy Mahan, Mexican welterweight champion, in a ten-round title bout here has been wired to Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, by Billy Hunefeld, local promoter.

Mahan has knockout victories over Paul DeHate, Johnny Preston, Jimmy Patterson, Harry Johnson and others. Should the deal be consummated the fight would be staged in the Phoenix ball park, which has a seating capacity of 30,000.

SINKS SEALS

Have a look at Augustus Johns, the square-shouldered Hollywood southpaw, who yesterday blanked the league-leading Seals with three hits so the Stars could even up the series with a 1-0 victory. Johns yielded but one hit, a sickly single to center by Crosetti in the seventh, unti lthe ninth when Wingo and Crosetti got hits.

WYKOFF TO APPEAR IN BAY CITY

Mercury Star Accepts Invitation to Compete Against Sweet

Frank Wykoff, sprint star of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, last night accepted an invitation to compete in a track and field meet at San Francisco the 11th inst. Wykoff will run in a special seventy-five-yard dash against Russell Sweet, who placed third in the National A.A.U. 100-yard race at Denver a month ago.

Sweet, an Olympic Club star, surprised many fans by leading the Denver race for ninety yards before Eddie Tolan and Claude Bracey swept by him at the finish. He is one of the fastest starters in the world and a seventy-five-yard dash between he and Wykoff is sure to produce a great battle. The latter returned home a few days ago after representing the Mercury Club in meets at Denver, Vancouver and Seattle.

In addition to the seventy-five-yard dash at San Francisco Wykoff will run in a special relay race. The meet will be held at Fairfax Park.

PLENTY OF HOME RUNS

A total of 653 home runs were scored by the eight Coast League clubs in eighteen weeks. The teams averaged 1.28 home runs for each of the 508 games played.

MAILS BEATEN IN MOUND DUEL

Stars Put Over Only Tally in First Inning

Lee's Double, Funk's Single Settle Struggle

Two of Three Seal Safeties Are Made in Ninth

BY ROB RAY

Mr. Augustus Johns, one of those rare individuals known as a smart southpaw, threatened to pitch a no-hit, no-run game out at Wrigley Field yesterday, but had his plans slightly altered by three Seal singles, so compromised by pitching Hollywood to a 1-to-0 victory over the league leaders.

Mr. Johns had allowed only one hit and only one Seal to reach first in the first eight innings, but a belated San Francisco rally in the ninth forced Lefty to use all of his cunning to protect his slim margin. In the final round Red Wingo batted for Reed and slipped a single past Mickey Heath. Hollis Thurston, batting for the Great Mails, fanned, but Frank Crosetti punched a single to left for the third hit off Johns. Pinelli, however, forced Crosetti and then Albert captured Gus Suhr's short fly to end the game.

For six rounds Johns turned the Seals back in one-two-three order, but Crosetti broke the spell by opening the seventh with a sickly single to center. Pinelli bunted Crosetti along, but Johns fanned Suhr and retired Donovan on a fly to Carlyle to choke off the threat.

MAILS IN FINE FORM

Walter Mails, who gave the Stars only six hits and struck out eight men, provided the other half of the old-fashioned pitching duel. Mails and Johns had so much stuff that the rabbit ball didn't get a chance to show its speed except in the fourth inning when Hank Severeid caromed a single off Pinelli's Eye-talian dome. The ball hit Babe on the forehead and bounced over into Caveney's hands, and Ike almost had time enough to throw Severeid out at first. Pinelli didn't get hurt, either because he has an extra hard head or because the ball bounced off his bean so quickly that it didn't have time to inflict any damage. While Pinelli was rubbing his head he realized that the dictionary is still the best place to find sympathy.

To get back to the ball game, though, Mails yielded the lone Hollywood run in the first inning. It was a dirty trick for the Stars to take advantage of Walter that early, for nobody had informed him what a tight ball game it was going to be. After the first round Mails pitched air-tight baseball, with eight strikeouts and but four more hits.

Dud Lee, who rammed out two of the six hits off Mails's delivery, paved the way for the Hollywood victory

Vincent Forgione Favored to Beat Eddie Burnbrook in Hollywood Legion Bout Tonigh

ITALIAN BOXER PICKED TO WIN

Georges Carpentier May Watch Sluggers

Burbank Battler Has Fine Chance to Upset Dope

Harry Beum, Plough Mix in Semi-Wind-up

Vincent Forgione, the toughest middleweight in California today outside of Ace Hudkins, is entering the ring at the Hollywood American Legion stadium tonight favored to beat Eddie Burnbrook. Both fighters have clean records in California and the tip is going the rounds that Burnbrook has a swell chance to upset the dope and cop the decision. He has won seven fights in Southern California.

EDDIE BURNBROOK

Unless he is working on a picture Georges Carpentier has promised to be the guest of honor and he will receive a gold wrist watch from Hollywood Post 43 American Legion. The Orchid Man of France will be asked to go to the center of the ring and say a few words to the Hollywood fight fans.

The main event is a natural. Forgione has beaten Homer Sheridan and Joe Roche and did it with ease, according to his manager, Jack West. Forgione hasn't opened up yet. Forgione wasn't keen on fighting Burnbrook. He had been told that Eddie might beat him, but during the past week he has dropped that fear and believes he will win decisively. More than 100 fans are going from Burbank to Hollywood to see the fight.

There is another fight on the card that is creating interest. Harry Beum fights Eddie Plough in the semi-wind-up. Beum is George Blake's heavyweight. He has a string of knockouts to his credit and he may flatten Plough, who is managed by Barney Dempsey. Beum has been laid up with an injured hand, but is once more in the pink of condition.

The preliminaries appear good. Billy Blake is fighting Sammy Aguirre in the special event. Ray Rodrigues battles Wendell Long in one four-rounder and Tiger Pallete fights Dud Eades in the curtain raiser.

Godfrey Will Box on Grace Benefit Show

George Godfrey, giant black heavyweight whom Jack Dempsey says is the greatest big man in the world today, was yesterday added to the list of star boxers who will work on the Jack Grace benefit show at the Main-street club next Monday night.

The appearance of the Black Shadow on the bill was clinched when Jimmy Dougherty wired a confirmation from Chicago. Godfrey and the Lafayette Baron are en route to the Coast. They will arrive Sunday morning.

Jack Russell and Carlo Curtis, who are in charge of the matches, are lining up some attractive scraps. One may feature Black Jack Thompson and Leo Hernandez. Another probable starter is Ace Hudkins and Roy Moore, the cowboy fighter.

Since the benefit has been announced Russell has received letters from all over the country from friends of Grace who are making small contributions.

Russell is awaiting word from Jackie Fields whether he will attempt to fly home from Chicago in order to help with the show. Neither Fields nor his manager, Gig Rooney, has ever been up in a plane.

MANDELL FIGHT WILL NOT BE BROADCAST

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. (AP)—Radio broadcasting will not be permitted at the Sammy Mandell-Tony Canzoneri lightweight championship fight at the Chicago stadium tomorrow night.

Paddy Harmon, president of the stadium, ordered it banned because he feels radio cuts down attendance.

Bill Tilden Says He is Not Through

SOUTHAMPTON (Eng. Aug. 1. (AP)—Big Bill Tilden has decided that he is not definitely through with playing tennis as a member of officials teams, he said as he sailed for New York. "My personal arrangements for next year haven't been thought of," he explained, "and I can't say at the moment whether they will include a visit to England."

LEONARD PICKS CHAMP TO WIN

bly Canzoneri might be a trifle stouter.

Tony is a smart boxer, but Sammy is much smarter. Tony is fast, but Sammy is faster. I will not concede that Canzoneri has a stronger punch, although most of my readers will disagree. Tony hits harder, but he does so because he is squatter or more set for his punching than is Mandell.

NOT WEAKENED

The champion didn't have as much of a task in getting to weight as I expected. He had no cinch getting down to the lightweight limit of 135, but he didn't weaken himself to the extent I had looked for.

Mandell, I believe, has too many natural advantages over his rival for Tony to win. I do not see how Canzoneri can overcome the combination of speed and generalship.

All Tony will have, not possessed in greater abundance by the titleholder, are stamina and gameness.

The left jab is one of the most useful punches known to boxing, and Mandell is a past master of this. With it I expect to see him rip and tear Canzoneri, tossing him out of plumb, or slightly off balance so that Tony will be unable to set for his best punches.

I look for the champion to open a couple of cuts over and under Canzoneri's right eye, and I expect to see Tony's nose bleeding after a few rounds have elapsed.

I think this will be a one-sided fight, and if Canzoneri wins it will be a great big accident. I cannot see where Tony has a look-in unless the fight ends in a foul, or one of the many accidents that can happen to a boxer in the ring under present conditions does happen. I have told you that Mandell is a "brittle-boned" athlete, so he is, but I do not think he'll break any bones in this fight with Canzoneri—either his own or Tony's.

MACK NOT YET SURE OF FLAG

A's Can't Get Too Many Runs to Suit Veteran Pilot

Connie Stresses How Times Have Changed in Game

White Baseballs Blamed for Recent Hitting Orgy

BY ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1. (AP)—The scene was in the dugout of the Athletics, now somewhat widely regarded as the heirs-apparent to the American League crown.

CONNIE MACK

Said one of the younger players, after the A's had just reeled off nine runs in a single inning against the Tigers:

"This takes all the kick out of the game for me. There isn't much to worry about with that lead."

Quickly responded the veteran chieftain of the tribe, Connie Mack:

"I won't feel easy until we have about twice as big a lead. You can't tell nowadays when the other club may break out with nine runs or more. You boys keep hasting in there and get all you can."

Thus have times changed for the "grand old man" of the A's since the days when it was considered a good day's work to pull a flock of inside stuff to give Chief Bender, Eddie Plank or Jack Coombs a two-run lead to work on. Usually that was enough; anything over four runs was considered ironclad.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

Now, adds Eddie Collins, a Mack star in the old days and a first lieutenant under the old master in the navy, consider the contrast:

"Going into the last two innings the other day our big star, Lefty Grove, had a 4-1 lead, only to have the game tied up in the ninth. If that can happen to our best bet, think what a difference there is in the scoring possibilities.

"You may have noticed we have had the Indian sign on Washington this year. One day they had a big lead on us, six or seven runs. Suddenly our boys began connecting, they bagged eight runs in an inning. We won the game and Walter Johnson threw up his hands. Walter probably would have retired if he had lost so big an advantage in the old days."

It isn't so much that there is any change in the ball itself. In fact, Mack clings to the belief that essentially there is little, if any, difference in the "liveliness" of the ball. Connie does not subscribe to the "jack-rabbit" theory. Rather, he thinks the new hitting freedom is due to the big increase in the number of balls used during any game.

TOO MANY NEW BALLS

"Why, just think," declared Connie, "in the old days, we usually went through a game with three or four balls, at the most. We would wait for them to be returned, if they went into the stands or even out of the park. The ball became discolored quickly, but was kept in play. Now, if either the batter or pitcher has the slightest objection, a new ball is thrown out at once by the umpire. The batter has a bright target, and it's become the style to take a good, healthy swing at it.

"On the other hand, you see some great pitching, even with the injection of so many fresh balls and the restrictions imposed on the pitchers.

"Grove, Walberg and Earnshaw all are pitching much better ball than before, Grove especially has hit his best stride, mainly because he now understands the batters better and pitches to their weaknesses. During his first two or three years with us Grove relied mostly on throwing the ball past the batters. He worked too hard and lost effectiveness by bearing down. Now he takes it easier, has better control and studies the batters closely. He mixes 'em up more instead of relying on speed alone.

"Walberg, although he also has great speed, employs a change of pace and variety of delivery even more than Grove."

ATHLETICS CONFIDENT

Quite naturally there is a distinct air of confidence in the camp of the Athletics, although Connie Mack is too old a campaigner to take anything for granted in baseball. Furthermore, Connie has had too many disappointments in the past few years to let his team become overconfident because it has run up a lead that seems impregnable.

"Of course we have a big advantage now," admitted Connie. "Our position is much different from that of last year when we were doing the chasing. Our team has gone along steadily, losing no more than two successive games at any time. Yet we cannot afford to take any chances, with two months to go. I always regard the Yankees as dangerous, but the very fact that we have beaten the champions in a majority of the games against them so far has given our team added confidence. I am very proud of the boys."

And if you ask the "boys," they are even prouder of "Mr. Mack." Man and boy, take it from Eddie Collins, they are out to give the old master the pennant he has been seeking for the last fifteen years.

FRENCH PAPERS NOT INTERESTED IN SWIM

CAPE GRIS-NEZ (France) Aug. 1. (AP)—Ten prospective channel swimmers, eight women and two men, have been in training at this take-off cape for several weeks and there has not been ten lines in the French newspapers about their activities.

RABBIT PUNCHES

PAUL LOWRY

THE LIGHTWEIGHT SITUATION

MR. SAMMY MANDELL, who works very intermittently at the job of defending his lightweight title, is trotting out the crown for inspection at Chicago tonight. This is the second time since he won it from Rocky Kansas three years ago that Mr. Mandell, who is referred to as the Rockford Sheik, has been so reckless.

With great abandon Mr. Mandell put the diadem on the block for Mr. Jimmy McLarnin to shoot at last year, but the little Vancouver boy who got his start in Los Angeles rings was so wild that he has yet to hit Mr. Mandell in the back of the pants.

Although great efforts are being made by the promoters to instill the thought into the cash customers that Mr. Tony Canzoneri, who has the assignment against Mr. Mandell tonight, has better aim the insiders have a different hunch.

Mr. Canzoneri has grown through two divisions without winning any title, and there is nothing in the world to indicate he will have any better success in the lightweight ranks.

He failed in his quest for the bantam title against Bud Taylor, and he missed the featherweight crown in a skirmish with Andre Routis. The latter gentleman was knocked out by Al Singer in two rounds the other night, which doesn't help the odds in favor of Canzoneri at all.

In fact, it appears that all Mr. Canzoneri needs to be sure of hitting Mr. Mandell is a long broom handle with a dust pan attached to one end.

RECKLESS WITH MONEY

BIG money talk is creeping into the 130-pound ranks.

Two boys practically unknown to local fans six months ago are hot for a match with the champion of the division, Tod Morgan.

Both want to put money on the line for a crack at the title.

Frank Churchill, speaking for Morgan, asks $30,000 for defense of the crown possessed by his protege.

Both boys have claims to the chance.

Hess beat Santiago Zorilla and Morgan and drew with Bud Taylor. Mack knocked out Baby Sal in five rounds and Doc Snell in three rounds.

Hess has one stumbling block ahead of him. He meets Wildcat Carter next week, and those familiar with the style of the northwestern black boy say he will beat Hess.

It would then be clear sailing for Mack.

A VOICE FROM THE PAST

THE surprise showings of R. Norris Williams has certainly been the big feature of the annual Seabright tennis tourney this week.

Williams broke out as a star seventeen years ago, worrying Maury McLoughlin when the California Comet was in his prime.

McLoughlin was through a long time ago, but here is Williams advancing to the finals of the Seabright tourney and meeting young Johnny Doeg, who was wearing safety-pin pants when the former internationalist was starring.

And the best part of it from the standpoint of the veterans is that the experts give the old boy, who served on several of our Davis Cup teams, a chance to beat the Santa Monica youth.

A SCHMELING FLOP

APPARENTLY there aren't many Germans in Denver.

Eddie Mack, who hails from the Colorado city, reports that Max Schmeling drew only 500 people for his exhibition there.

As the Black Uhlan was working on a guarantee of $1500 the promoter was out plenty.

However, Mack says the promoter erred in not backing up the exhibition. He figured Schmeling would be plenty to draw the cash customers.

What he needed was a few blood-and-thunder bouts thrown in.

Little Points on Grip Aid Golf Game

BY SOL METZGER

Some years ago a golf writer, close to Bobby Jones, wrote a magazine article on the importance of placing the little finger of the right hand in the correct position when using the overlapping grip. The importance of being right in this particular is worth all that space. I wish I could give it the same emphasis.

Too many golfers think that they are using the overlap in the right way merely because the little finger of said right hand overlaps some part of the left. They don't get the tie up of hands as they should.

Bobby Jones, as any witness of his play will verify, sees that the inside of the last joint of the little finger of the right hand rests on the outside joint of the first finger of the left hand. Many of us let the little finger of the right settle into the groove between the first and second fingers of the left hand. It won't function properly there. Place it where it belongs. Tomorrow—The interlocking grip.

Cure that hook or slice. Straighten out your drive by writing Sol Metzger, care of The Times, for free leaflet on "Driving." Inclose stamped, addressed envelope.

MRS. PRESSLER AT DEL MONTE

Prepares for Match Against Miss Collett, Neville

Pairs With Stevens in Clash Over Pebble Beach

Griffith Park to Open New Putting Greens

DEL MONTE, Aug. 1. (Exclusive) Mrs. Leona Pressler, women's western, California, Southern California and Del Monte champion, has arrived at Del Monte to put in a few practice rounds in preparation for this week-end's important exhibition golf match, in which Mrs. Pressler and Franklin C. Stevens, Jr., of Pebble Beach, will oppose Miss Glenna Collett of Del Monte, women's national golf champion, and Jack Neville of Monterey Peninsula Country Club. This will consist of eighteen holes at Cypress Point, Saturday afternoon, and eighteen holes at Pebble Beach, Sunday. A huge gallery is expected to follow both rounds. Many Californians consider Mrs. Pressler to be Miss Collett's greatest rival in the 1929 women's national championships, to be held at Oakland Hills Country Club, Detroit, this fall. Their respective showings this week-end will be of great interest among golfers throughout the nation.

MRS. HARRY PRESSLER

The fact that young Franklin Stevens carried Jack Neville to the thirty-fifth hole in the finals of the recent California amateur golf championship, before Neville finally triumphed, lends additional color to the coming match. Neville was forced to give up golf for a month or more following the State championship, due to a sprained ankle, and has only recently again taken the field. In the meantime, Stevens has been practicing assiduously at Pebble Beach, where both he and Neville will play in the national amateur golf championship, September 5-7. This week-end will mark their first official encounter since the State tournament. It will be remembered that Stevens staged a brilliant recovery in his match against Neville. Nine down at noon, his comeback in the afternoon round was nothing short of sensational. As a result of his eagles, birdies and pars, he came uncomfortably close to victory, but Neville clinched matters by parring the short seventeenth (thirty-fifth) to win the hole, match and title, 3 and 1. Stevens's latest score at Pebble Beach was a 77.

Both Miss Collett and Mrs. Pressler have been shooting near-par golf. Mrs. Pressler recently scored a 73 at San Gabriel while Miss Collett has had several 80's at Pebble Beach and several 76's at Cypress Point.

Officially opening the new Griffith Playground outdoor putting green to the public, Fay Coleman and Lester Coleman will play a four-ball exhibition match against Danny Sangster and Joe Ray, over thirty-six holes of the new greens, tomorrow at 2 p.m., according to the announcement of Playground and Recreation Department officials.

The new putting greens will be available for use to all local golfers on and after this date. Two eighteen-hole courses of Washington bent have been completed by the playground department at the Los Feliz Boulevard and Riverside Drive location, and golfers will find many difficult breaks in the new greens. Every one averages about thirty feet.

In addition to the exhibition match put on by the Colemans a putting tourney for boys under 16 years of age will start in and come to a close immediately following the exhibition match, with the four best boys playing for the championship in the afternoon.

The new putting greens will offer many golfers a chance to improve their skill in this department of the game. The City Playground Department will also promote municipal putting tournaments, putting tourneys for boys, girls, caddies and other classes and special team matches. The outdoor greens will supplement the Griffith Playground indoor course which has been in public use for one and a half years.

Petty Stops Downward Rush of Pittsburghers

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. (AP)—Guy Bush and Ben Cantwell hooked up in a great pitchers' battle today but Cantwell's wildness cost him the verdict and Chicago took the fourth game of the series from Boston, 1 to 0.

English scored the only run of the game in the first inning, when Cantwell issued three base on balls to force the Cub shortstop over the plate after he had doubled. Cantwell allowed only three hits and Bush was touched for five. Bush, however, allowed only one base on balls and bested five opponents at times when the Braves threatened.

The victory was Bush's fifteenth of the year and his ninth in a row. He has been beaten only once this season. Score: in the first inning when he poled a double to left center for the Stars' opening shot. Rollings bunted Lee to third and then Ell Funk slapped a one-base poke over second that permitted Lee to gallop across the plate with the one and only.

Johns Winner Over Mails in Hot 1-0 Duel

Mails, although he lost, looked the best he has down here for three or four years. Walter had his fast one jumping like a peck of excited Mexican jumping beans, and he also had fine control. Mails didn't do so well up at the plate, though, striking out twice with much batwaving and plenty of gestures.

USES CHANGE OF PACE

Johns's success was due mostly to his change of pace, with which he kept the Seal sluggers off balance all afternoon. Augie also had, for him, a better than ordinary fast one and he was putting the ball right where he wanted to.

Red Rollings saved Johns from having a hit registered off him in the first inning when he knocked down Crosetti's torrid liner and got his man at first. Burnett and Funk also cut off prospective Seal hits. Art Jahn being the victim of both good plays.

Crosetti made two sensational plays at short for the Seals, picking up Sewell's grounder after it had rolled through Pinelli and throwing Mank out in the sixth, and retiring Cartyle on a close play at first in the second to cut off a Hollywood run.

Another one today, folks, with Vernon Gomez, the superstitious southpaw who has won his last nine starts, hooking up with either Frank Shellenback or George Holleson in what figures to be another hot mound duel. Score:

Ross Resigns as Hollywood Club Manager

Resignation of Hugh C. Ross, manager for two and a half years, yesterday became effective at the Hollywood Athletic Club and a successor, C. A. Tobison, succeeded to the leadership of the Movie City Club. Mr. Tobison, however, will be known as superintendent rather than manager as a board of managers will handle business affairs of the club.

Mr. Ross handed in his resignation to take another position after he suddenly had been taken ill with appendicitis two weeks ago. At the time of the illness Mr. Tobison, an associate of Frank Garbutt, well-known clubman of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, stepped into the breach about the time the L. A. C. had decided to merge with the Mercury organization.

The new superintendent previously occupied a similar position with the Chicago Yacht Club but since coming to California five years ago has been located with the Clift Hotel in San Francisco most of the time. Last year he was catering manager of the Breakers Hotel, Long Beach, for a time.

Barker Brothers Reports 91 Cents a Share

Six Months' Income Runs Higher Than 1928

Summer Sales Highest for Any Similar Period

Consolidated net profits of Barker Brothers' Corporation and subsidiaries for the six months closed June 30, amounted to $234,370 after all charges, including Federal income taxes, equal after preferred dividends to 91 cents a share on the 180,000 common shares outstanding Earle P. Barker, vice-president, announced yesterday.

This compares with $202,853 reported earned in the first half of 1928, which was equivalent after preferred dividends to 70 cents a common share based on the same preferred and common capital at present outstanding. The figures for the six months represent an increase of $31,720, or more than 10 per cent.

Deliveries for the period aggregated $7,057,687, against $6,567,516 for the first half of last year, a gain of $190,171. Actual orders written during the period but not yet delivered exceeded the undelivered orders on hand a year ago by several hundred thousand dollars, Mr. Barker stated. This reserve of undelivered orders will be reflected in delivered sales for the last half of the current year, he said.

Net profits for the month of June totaled $21,143, or about 10 cents a share on the common after preferred dividends. In June, 1928, the company earned $22,689, or more than 13 cents a share.

"Barker Brothers are just completing what will probably be one of the most successful summer sales in the history of the business," Mr. Barker said. "Indications point to an even greater increase in net profits for the summer months this year over 1928 than were indicated by the first six months of the year. There is every assurance for continued satisfactory sales and profits for the business."

The company plans to open its Long Beach branch in its new building October 1, next. The Hollywood (Tec.) studio, a comparatively recent branch of the company, was reported to be making rapid strides in its volume of business. Branches are also operated at Hollywood and San Diego. The upholstery factory and Anderson Company, a subsidiary manufacturing furniture, have also reported an increase in business.

The home-furnishing business of Barker Brothers is said to rank largest in the United States, exceeded only by R. H. Macy & Co., which does a business slightly larger. In addition it operates the fifth largest upholstery factory. Barker Brothers' stock is listed on the New York and Los Angeles stock exchanges.

TRADING UNITS SET STYLE

New Name Given to Investment Trusts of Management Type; Radius of Activity Extensive

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Trading corporations, which are one form of the investment trust in a new dress, represent an interesting development in the financial field. They actually are the management type of the investment trust turned out in a new style, which not only appeals more frankly to the speculative senses but more accurately outlines the scope of operations.

Investment banking groups are chiefly the sponsors and organizers of the trading companies. The smart banking houses devised this type of company to mobilize large amounts of capital to handle the variety of investment and speculative opportunities that come their way, and also to provide an attractive set-up for the clients who prefer securities with a tincture of speculation.

HAVE BROAD FIELD

As trading corporations, these new financial vehicles have a radius of activity that the strictly managed investment trust is not theoretically permitted to follow. The managers of the trading corporation arrogate to themselves the power to invest, to speculate, and to manage. They participate in syndicates, mostly those in which the bankers themselves are interested; they engage in any kind of business, and they turn a respectable dollar wherever they can.

Naturally the success of these companies depends upon the experience and the astuteness of the management. The movement is new, and probably the next few months will bring hundreds into existence as adjuncts to investment banking and brokerage houses. Some of them will have competent management and will make impressive records. Others will be merely the depository for sour issues and dubious enterprises.

So far the large trading corporations coming before the public are sponsored by nationally known interests with long records of success in the investment and banking field. These groups have seen the need for companies of the trading type, and have also appreciated the limitations of the investment trust or the investment company to openly operate in the trading field.

Formation by the Bancamerica-Blair interests of the new Interstate Equities Corporation is an instance of the trend. Transamerica Corporation, controlling Bancamerica-Blair Corporation, was formerly an investment trust in part, but has gradually evolved into a vast holding company. The new company undoubtedly represents a complete divorce of Transamerica from the investment and speculative fields, and the delegation of all these activities to the new enterprise.

POWERS UNRESTRICTED

Interstate Equities will engage in buying, selling and dealing in stocks and other securities, participate in syndicates and underwritings, and exercise other charter powers in the discretion of the directors. The directors are under no restrictions regarding the distribution of investments or other capital employed.

Shenandoah Corporation, another new company of this type, has the same powers. This company represents a further extension of the activities of the Goldman Sachs Trading Corporation, the $500,000,000 company that is understood to have become interested in some of the enterprises dominated by the Lee A. Phillips group.

Another activity on the Pacific Coast in which the Goldman Sachs group may take an interest, according to current conjectures, is investment banking. It is reported that the trading corporation will have an interest in a new banking house which will include the American National Company of San Francisco, and two others, one with headquarters in Los Angeles and the other in San Francisco.

Steel Foundry Earnings Jump

(Exclusive) June quarter net income of American Steel Foundries today was announced at $1,591,208 after charges and Federal tax, equal after 7 per cent cumulative preferred dividends to $1.48 a share on 993,620 common shares as against $831,914, or 79 cents a share on 902,745 common shares in the 1928 quarter.

Net income for the first six months of 1929 was $2,802,224, equal after preferred dividends to $2.59 a common share as compared with $1,854,741, or $1.80 a common share in the first half of 1928.

LIVE STOCK SLAUGHTER VOLUME UP

Total of 967,273 Shown for First Half Year by Union Stockyards

Los Angeles Union Stockyards for the six months closed June 30, slaughtered 967,273 cattle, calves, hogs and sheep, against 950,189 head for the first half of last year, an increase of 17,084. J. A. McNaughton, vice-president and general manager, announced yesterday.

"This year's marketing period of California cattle has been satisfactory notwithstanding short range conditions in certain sections of the State, while swine production has been on the increase," Mr. McNaughton said. "The cowman is supplementing the range feed with cottonseed cake and dry feed, which not only assures beef maturity but a better quality of beef."

California grass cattle and good veal calves within the last sixty days have brought record prices. The hog market has shown consistent strength while sheep prices continue satisfactory. Middle western buyers are paying from $95 to $85 per head for good yearlings with the outlook for a continued strong demand.

Extensive plans and arrangements have been made for the fourth annual Christmas Live-Stock Show to be held the first week in December, Mr. McNaughton stated. This will be exclusively a live-stock exhibition.

SHIPPING LAGS IN AMERICA

United States Merchant Marine Seventh in Rank With Britain Firmly Established at Top

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Great Britain is intrenched firmly in first place in merchant marine, and is moving ahead of all the rest rapidly in its development and expansion.

The construction of merchant vessels throughout the world by all nations during the second quarter of this year aggregated 2,838,225 tons, as against 2,837,812 tons for the first quarter of the year.

The United States is a poor seventh in the picture.

Great Britain is first with 1,453,-000 tons; then Germany with 272,-000; Japan third with 179,000, little Holland fourth with 172,000, France fifth with 139,000, Russia sixth with 124,000, and then the United States with 119,000.

While this does not show up in American tonnage, the American increase in tonnage for the second period was greater than at any time during the last two years.

Putting this in a different form, Great Britain and Ireland have under construction more tonnage than all the rest of the world combined, 51.2 per cent, while the United States has only 4.2 per cent.

Russia's showing comes from the fact that she is now building tankers, largely for the carrying of her oil into European centers.

And the Russian oil situation is one that may expand into a gigantic business in the next few years.

The United States is by no means the only country in which coin-operated machines are increasing in popularity.

The first vending machines were introduced into the United States from England in 1888 by an American gum manufacturer to distribute his products. It has been only in comparatively recent years, too, that the industry has progressed from small machines, selling only gum and chocolate, to large automatic machines selling all kinds of commodities and services.

At present American automatic coin-operated machines are being marketed in great quantities abroad. Outside of Europe, however, their introduction is somewhat of an adventure.

They are being introduced even into far-off Siam, and down in Venezuela.

Commodity vending machines, in 1929, have had a wider distribution in overseas markets than other types of coin-operated machines.

Commodity vending machines are most popular in Switzerland, machines being installed mainly on railroad platforms to sell confectionery, matches, cigarettes and post cards.

Canada was the second largest market in the world for coin-operated machines of all types, while Latin America is the third largest market area.

They all do it. The African savage comes in sweating from his lion hunt to drop a coin into the orange-juice machine; in far-off China the panting coolie stops to buy a pack of cigarettes from the automatic machine along the road.

One drop of the coin makes the whole world kin.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—Aside from a brisk last minute rally in American Telephone 4½s, the bond market developed few features today. The rise in the call money rate, coupled with the firmness of time funds, reduced interest in the general list, although some of the share option issues made fair-sized gains.

The advance in the telephone bond carried it to the new record price of 100 for a net gain of 5-8. The rise, coming suddenly in the last quarter hour of trading, was in sympathy with the spurt in the stock and was made on heavy buying orders. Turnovers in this issue reached $2,750,000 par value, or one-fourth of the market's total volume.

Railroad bonds held steady, but demand for most of the carriers' obligations was only nominal. Industrials fared better and the close found General Steel Casting 5½s at 104, up 1¼ to a new high. Other strong industrials were Bethlehem Steel 6s, Otis Steel 6s and North American Cement 6½s.

New York City Traction scored another rise, although profit-taking developed around midday, these issues rallied again on the favorable earnings reports and closed as much as 2 points net higher.

Lautaro Nitrate 6s and Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron 6s touched new highs. The latter convertible reached 118 and closed at 166 for a 1-point gain.

United States government issues, which have held steady in the face of stiffening money rates, traded lightly and price changes ruled small. Kreuger & Toll 5s, with warrants, again dominated the foreign list in volume, reacting nearly a point on profit-taking.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the highest and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the high, and both low and close when same as last.

Wheat Futures Renew Climb to Higher Levels

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. (AP)—Expectation that private crop estimates to be issued tomorrow will prove advantageous to friends of higher prices helped to turn wheat values decidedly upward today. Reports were current also that field conditions for wheat in the American Northwest and in Canada as well have gone from bad to worse the past week, with black rust now menacing the remnant of crops in Canada.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ¾@1⅛c above yesterday's finish. Corn closed at ⅝c net decline to ⅛c advance. Oats ⅛c off to ⅛@⅝c up and provisions varying from 2c setback to a rise of a shade.

Upturns in wheat prices came chiefly in the late dealings, the market early showing considerable disposition to average lower as a result of news that Argentine labor difficulties had been settled and that prospective enlargement of exports from Argentina was threatening to bring about sharper competition in Europe. In this connection, eighty steamships were reported as waiting to load at Rosario and San Lorenzo, Argentina. Much notice was being taken also that speculative holdings of wheat future deliveries in Chicago had increased to 210,600,000 bushels, the largest total so far. Moreover, with continued liberal arrivals of newly harvested wheat here, 756 cars today, against 323 a year ago, elevator space is becoming limited.

On the other hand, late indications pointed to further new export business in wheat from the United States being under way, with Great Britain, Belgium, Holland and Germany said to be participating. Toward the last also, the trade here was giving much more attention to the outlook that monthly unofficial crop estimates tomorrow would make a notably bullish exhibit. Meanwhile, too, black rust advices from Canada were being received, and predictions of another short crop next year in Canada were current. The forecast of a 1930 Canadian crop shortage was from a recognized crop authority and was based on an experience of a series of years recurring peculiarities in Canadian subsoil moisture.

In the end, corn and oats rallied with wheat, lessening prospects for more favorable weather. Earlier, a forecast of showers over the greater part of the corn belt was the main influence.

Provisions were steadied by upturns in the value of hogs.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—Nervousness over the coming crop outlook, promoted by unfavorable features in the weather news and lower private indicated yield figures, was reflected by further advances in the cotton market during today's earlier trading. Increased offerings were accumulated around 19½ cents for December contracts, however, and there were positions worth realizing, which appeared to be combined with some southern selling.

Stock that the market was quiet within 2 or 3 points either way of yesterday's closing quotations.

Facts on the Grape By-Products Industry

DO YOU KNOW that there are approximately 22 million gallons of wine lying idle in bonded warehouses in the State of California?

DO YOU KNOW that there are millions of tons of grapes permitted to go to waste each year because of unsatisfactory markets?

DO YOU KNOW that there are thousands of tons of grape mash thrown away each year after extracting the juice?

All of these can be purchased and converted at a very nominal cost by the S. Castorina Argol Corporation into such necessities as industrial alcohol, potassium bitartrates, cream of tartar, nitrogen fertilizers and tartaric acids.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—The main body of stocks today made little progress on the Curb Exchange, as the call money rate was marked up from a renewal charge of 10 per cent to 12. A few high-priced utilities made spectacular advances to record price levels, and while more than thirty issues sold at new highs, mining shares were conspicuous throughout the list.

Some selling was in anticipation of an increase in property taxes, which were reported up $52,000,000 at a higher record total after the close of the market. Trade news except in the oil industry was favorable, with another influx of excellent earnings reports for the first six months of the year. The price of crude oil was cut 25 cents a barrel in Pennsylvania, with a drop in Midcontinent prices forecast. On July 15 Pennsylvania crude was dropped 50 to 50 cents.

Electric Investors was today's spectacular performer, crossing 200 for the first time and closing fractionally under that figure for a net gain of more than 50 points. This company, identified with Electric Bond and Share interests, is publicly offering 20,000 shares of its 6% preferred stock at 98½. Proceeds will be used for additional purchases of stock in public utilities.

The result group of stocks again were in the spotlight. Insull Utility Investments mounted 25 124½, a new high, and wound up at 129¾, up 9 points. Commonwealth Edison rumored to 440, and then fell back to close at 425 for a net gain of 4 points. Middle West Utilities reached 485¼ and then sold off to 470¼, down 21¾.

American Light and Traction swept up 20 points to a new top at 200 and retained all but 7 points of its gain. Asso-...and Electric, Northern States Power and Associated Gas all sold at new highs.

Electric Bond and Share dipped 2¾, while American Superpower and Niagara Hudson Power each registered fractional...

The recent sharp rise in Grigsby-Grunow was partly explained by a Wall street report of July shipments of 87,000, 000 by the company. Net profits in July were said to total $1,250,000, equivalent to $2.58 a share for the quarter on the 484,000 common which sold off 2 points today to 34¾ in profit-taking.

A wide assortment of issues, including Crocker Wheeler, Barton Airplane, Aluminum Company, Hood Rubber, Marconi International, American Cigarmakers "A" and Gleaner Combine all sold at new tops.

National Investors, which sold just a month ago at 11¼, ran up to 19¼ in the new week and closed at 18¾, up 11 points. Goldman Sachs Trading dipped 1¾ and Shenandoah 1¾ to 31¾, which compares with the recent public offering price of 17½.

Shares of the new Bancamerica-Blair Corporation, a holding company—Bancamerica-Blair Realties—were admitted to trading late in the day closing at 25½ for the common and 76½ for the unit of one preferred and one common. The common was priced at $15 and the units at $65 in the formal announcement of the stock offering today.

Newmont Mining rose 11 to 215½ on reports of increased European demand for copper.

The quotes price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the bid.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

The majority of the operators at Kettleman Hills are reported to have signed the agreement calling for a two-year shut-down of the north dome, and less than a half-dozen are yet to sign it, according to E. D. Reiter, chairman of the Kettleman Hills oil and gas conservation committee.

Dr. George Otis Smith, head of the United States Geological Survey, and representative here of Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, is today in San Francisco to obtain the signatures of heads of the Associated and Standard oil companies. He then expects to report to Secretary of Interior Wilbur in Washington before continuing on to New York to obtain the signature of the Mulham Exploration Company.

It is believed that the Standard Oil Company will be the only operator not to actually sign the agreement as outlined by the conservation committee and still abide by it. According to reports, Standard will submit a written letter to Dr. Smith and Mr. Reiter, assuring them that they will do everything possible to make the conservation movement a success.

Work Under Way

With the abandonment of two projects in the Lawndale field, George F. Getty, Inc., starts work on its first Potrero test, to be drilled on Lot No. 12, Block 1, Tract 146, which is an offset to Max Fray's No. 1 well, now reported to be putting out approximately 150 barrels of 47-deg. gravity oil per day.

Getty has just abandoned Turner No. 1 with bottom at 5540 feet, and Turner No. 2, drilled to 5686 feet. Neither of these projects picked up sufficient oil sand to develop them commercially, it is said. Derrick of one of the abandoned wells will be dismantled and moved to the Potrero and reconstructed near the intersection of Prairie and Aerick streets, about a mile west of the St. Patracia Oil Company's Connolley No. 1, now drilling ahead below 4800 feet.

Production Clean

The Lincoln Drilling Company's Williams No. 1 well, at the extreme western edge of the old Summerland field, which discovered a new deep producing sand several weeks ago, is again producing from a depth of 1407 feet. Field reports state that it is yielding approximately 500 barrels of clean oil a day.

This project originally produced from 1250 feet, after picking up 295 feet of saturated oil sand, but due to insufficient gas pressure it sanded up, and had to be drilled deeper. It continued to core saturated oil sand, penetrating 302 feet of it before another production test was made. Its output is being turned into storage tanks on the Ortega hill, overlooking the well.

Foundation is being prepared for Lincoln Drilling's Williams No. 2, at the edge of the surf, and indications are that the well will be ready to spud in within two weeks. Work on Williams No. 3, No. 4 and No. 5 awaits the outcome of the first project, according to officials of the company.

To Test Soon

The Southern Exploration Company will make another production test in its Twitchell No. 1, on the bluff a short distance from the Williams No. 1, at the edge of the old Summerland field, according to reports.

Drilled to a depth of 1187 feet, and having picked up saturated oil sand from a depth of 275 feet to 562 feet, along with a strong showing of gas, officials of the company will attempt to place the Twitchell No. 1 on production within a day or two, it is said.

Preparing Wildcat Location

The General Petroleum Corporation is preparing location for its Erburo No. 1 wildcat, to be drilled on a 350-acre lease held jointly by the General and the Shell Oil Company, about three miles west of Elwood.

This new test is seven miles west of the General's More No. 1 wildcat and a short distance from Shell's Rutherford No. 1, drilling ahead below 5000 feet.

General is reported to have removed all but eighty feet of three-inch drill pipe that has been frozen for the past three months in its Ochsner No. 2 on Sec. 26 at Kettleman Hills, and when that work is completed, drilling operations will be resumed to deepen. Bottom of the hole is at 6965 feet, it being the deepest in the Kettleman Hills Field.

Steady Progress

The Shell Oil Company is making excellent progress in its Nesa No. 11, at Signal Hill, deepest well in the world, and is drilling ahead below 9206 feet in shale.

Although considerable oil sand was picked up below 8000 feet, only slight showings are reported as being in evidence below that depth.

Shell's Armstrong No. 1 at Kettleman Hills is drilling in oil sand below 6227 feet. Oil sand was first picked up in this well at about 6220 feet, and it came in at 6652 feet for a few days yielding approximately 150 barrels of high-gravity oil per day, but later being killed to deepen.

At Santa Fe Springs, Shell's G.H.N. No. 13 is swabbing for a production test with bottom of the hole at 6845 feet.

Showings in Shale

The Rio Grande Oil Company's Leuholts No. 1 on the Maricopa Flat is reported as having showings of oil in the shale formation. It is drilling ahead below 3752 feet. This project is a short distance from the producing wells of the Signal Oil and Gas Company and the North American Consolidated Oil Company.

Five Abandoned

The Richfield Oil Company has abandoned its Boston No. 1 deep test at the east end of the Kern Front Field, with bottom of the hole at 4852 feet, due to failure to obtain commercial production, according to field reports.

In the Palisades field, Harry Failing has removed the derrick from a location which was never drilled, while the General Petroleum Corporation has abandoned two sites where derricks were constructed, but had never spudded in.

At Lawndale the Globe Lease and Royalty Company has abandoned its No. 1 well, with bottom at about 5939 feet.

Oregon 'Jitney' Flyer Ready for Hop to Mexico

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 1. (AP)—With 100 gallons of gasoline tucked away in a little "jitney" plane, Tex Rankin of Portland will leave Vancouver, B. C., next week in an attempt to reach Agua Caliente, Lower California, in one hop, avoiding all contact with the United States. Announcement of the plans was made here today after what Rankin called a "premature announcement" had been made in Los Angeles yesterday.

The plane Rankin will use has a twenty-six-foot wing spread and normally carries two persons. One cockpit will be filled with gasoline tanks on the flight. The engine is a four-cylinder, eighty-five horsepower unit, capable, Rankin said, of driving the plane twenty miles to the gallon of fuel.

The distance from the border to border is a bit more than 1300 miles.

Meek to Confer With President

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1. (AP)—Gov. Young, en route to Los Angeles, paused here today to announce he is sending Bert B. Meek, State Director of Public Works, to Washington to confer with President Hoover and other officials relative to co-operation between the state and Federal governments in working out details of the California Water Conservation Act.

The Governor said he probably will defer appointment of a State Water Commission, authorized by the last Legislature, until after Meek returns.

GROUP OF FIRES SEARS FORESTS

Minnesota and Wisconsin Call for More Men

Five Badger State Areas Nearly Controlled

Winds and Dry Underbrush Add to Menace

ST. PAUL, Aug. 1. (AP)—Flames bit deeply into large tracts of Minnesota and Wisconsin forests today, while about 1500 fire fighters sought to head off the blazes.

A successful fight against five forest fires in Northwestern Wisconsin is being waged by approximately 500 men who are steadily bringing the flames under control.

Scattered in various areas in Minnesota are nearly 1000 men fighting fires burning over extensive areas. There are 500 men fighting against flames in Superior National Forest, where fires are scattered over a territory of 10,000 acres.

GAME WARDENS JOIN

Fifty game wardens in Northern Minnesota were ordered to join the State Forestry Department's staff in fighting fires by George W. McCullough, State Game and Fish Commissioner.

A. G. Hamel, Supervisor of Superior National Forest, issued a call for more men, and fifty left for Duluth for the fire area.

Throughout Northern Minnesota there were numerous small isolated fires, and these are being watched carefully.

A long spell of dry weather in these States left underbrush in forests unusually dry. Stiff winds at intervals helped to defeat the efforts of fire fighters. There are no indications of rain in the fire areas of either State.

TIMBER SAVED

The flames swept along a front nearly two and a half miles long in the northwestern corner of

POLICE OUTWIT HOSTILE REDS

Quick Action Calms Crowd at Central Station

Milling Throng Angered by Arrest at Plaza

Two Put in Jail for Antiwar Day Handbills

A massive, but threatening, demonstration, in apparent protest, by several hundred asserted members of and sympathizers with the Communist Party of America held in front of Central Police Station late yesterday necessitated the emergency call to Georgia-street division of police and arrested a half-hour earlier when the distribution of literature without a license to a large gathering of radicals in the Los Angeles Plaza.

The meeting was but one of many held throughout the world in observance of International Red Day and characterized as a protest against "imperialist war."

In addition of Detective Lieutenant Hynes, chief of the police intelligence bureau, the "paire" wagon and Frank Specter, 34 years of age, Sol Erenberg, 25, as prisoners, was quickly whisked about and started toward Georgia-street police, when, on its arrival at central police headquarters, it was quickly surrounded by the milling, shouting crowd. This measure of precaution was taken by Hynes in accord with the instructions which he had given his squad, namely, to do nothing to provoke violence on the part of the demonstrators.

ARREST AT PLAZA

The arrest of Specter and Erenberg was made about ten minutes after the former had begun to exhort his hearers at the impromptu meeting in the Plaza to "war against imperialist war." In the midst of his impassioned address, Specter undertook the distribution of red-inked dodgers, urging workers to rally to the international Red Day anti-imperialist war demonstrations in Los Angeles, and to defend the soviet union, the workers of the republic, against the attack of the imperialist powers.

It was at this point that Detective Lieutenant Hynes stepped up to Specter, placed him under arrest for violating a city ordinance regulating the distribution of handbills without a permit, and the State law against syndicalism, and ordered the crowd to disperse.

CALL RESERVES

According to Hynes, Erenberg soon abounted that Hynes was attempting to interfere with free speech. At once the mob gave indications that it was likely to cause trouble. A hurry call was sent to Central Station for reserves and a patrol wagon and two automobiles quickly responded with a force of police to augment Hynes's own squad of twelve men.

Specter and Erenberg were placed in the patrol wagon and started for Central Station. But, unknown to them, the major part of the crowd followed first on foot and then on automobile to present what Hynes regarded as a menacing spectacle on his arrival with his prisoners. The arrest was decided.

Despite the so-called mass meeting carried on, being addressed by 14-year-old Marion Lee, who described herself as a member of the "Young Pioneers," many handbills were distributed, but, resulting, therefore, in no further arrests.

ATTACK OFFICERS

Strict adherence to Hynes's order to remain passive in a crisis, alone prevented possible bloodshed when some of his men, after departure of the patrol wagon, in a truck emblazoned with banners and placards and started to confiscate the legends. Hynes in charge of the truck refused by others from the ground, according to the police report, and set on the officers and struck them with their fists.

The move, according to Hynes, followed his theory that leaders of the demonstration evidently were trying to incite or bait the police into using violence.

Following the removal of the arrested men to the Georgia-street division, the milling crowd outside the Central Station gradually broke up and dispersed.

At Georgia-street Station Specter and Erenberg were booked each on two charges. Specter is charged with criminal syndicalism, distributing of literature without a permit, and disturbing the peace. Erenberg is booked for resisting arrest, fighting with an officer and disturbing the peace.

Both men, according to Hynes, are held

ACTION ON DRAKE VOTE DELAYED

Nomination to Police Commission Fails to Get Before Council

The nomination to the Police Commission of Francis Drake, who terminated his service on the Fire Commission in 1919 when he failed to keep the fire department unionized, was not taken before the Council for confirmation yesterday and has not yet been recommended by the Police and Fire Committee. The nomination was due for consideration yesterday, having been submitted one week ago by Mayor Porter.

The failure to bring the matter before the Council is construed as a courtesy to Mayor Porter, who said yesterday that he is continuing his investigation of the affair in which Drake was the central figure to determine if he is a proper appointee.

Some doubt was cast upon Drake's claim to the undivided support of union labor organizations yesterday when J. W. Bussell, secretary of the Central Labor Council and union labor's chief local lobbyist, declined to express an opinion on the appointment.

"I'm here watching something else," said Secretary Bussell, who then was in the Council chamber.

"I'm going to get to the bottom of this Drake affair," Mayor Porter repeated yesterday. The publication of Drake's record came as a complete surprise to Porter, he stated.

Strange Illness Victim's Sisters Show Progress

Katherine Haynes, 9 years of age, and Ida Bell Haynes, 3, suffering from an unknown malady or poisoning which caused the death Tuesday of their brother, Charles Haynes, 5, at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Haynes, 4435 Topas street, are on the road to recovery, according to Dr. Giled S. Porter, assistant city health officer, yesterday. He reported the condition of the youngsters much improved from what it was on Wednesday.

In the meantime Dr. George M. Stevens, city epidemiologist, is working on cultures and serums following the post-mortem on the body of the dead boy. The serum is being tested on guinea pigs and growth of the cultures is expected to be sufficiently advanced by Monday to indicate the cause of death.

Council Votes $10,000 to Move Sewer on Cliff

A resolution asking for an appropriation of $10,000 to be used in relocating an intercepting sewer in the region of Point Fermin where an earth slide of a cliff is advancing at the rate of two inches per week was introduced yesterday by Councilman Henning. It received immediate approval of committee and was adopted.

Hollywood Old Settlers Will Picnic at Park

Hollywood of long ago is to be relived tomorrow at the "Old Settlers" picnic under the pepper trees of Plummer Park. Everyone who has lived in Hollywood for fifteen years or more qualifies as an old settler, entitled to take his basket luncheon and to enjoy a program promised. G. G. Greenwood, vice-president of the Security-First National Bank and Hollywood's pioneer banker, is to be chairman and master of ceremonies. He originated the "Old Settlers" picnic in 1923. The bank again will provide ice cream, cold drinks and coffee for the crowd. This is to be the sixth annual picnic.

Senor Eugene Plummer, whose park is the last unsubdivided portion of a 160-acre tract purchased shortly after the Civil War, will act as host. He and a large group of early Spanish settlers will appear in costume. A Spanish orchestra will play the music of early California. Old songs and dances are to be revived. The program starts at 1 p.m.

For one day the picnickers will forget the famous film metropolis of studios and sky-piercing searchlights, and they will recall the days when the little cross trails community was named Cahuenga.

SAFETY FOR SCHOOL PUPILS TO BE TOPIC

Means to acquire protection for school children is to be discussed at a public meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the Alessandro School. The meeting has been arranged by the Elysian Gardens Home Club.

PLAYGROUND LIFEGUARDS VINDICATED

Four Drownings at City Pools Declared Not Due to Inefficient Service

Inadequate lifeguard service was not the reason for four drownings this year in city playground pools, according to a survey furnished to the Playground and Recreation Commission yesterday by Supt. Hjelte. He reported that both pool directors and lifeguards have been on duty more hours than in previous seasons, when there were no drownings.

The figures were taken for the last half of June and the first half of July and show lifeguard days totaling twenty-five and one-half hours out of thirty days. Pool directors were on duty twenty-four and one-half days during the same period.

Hjelte announced that outdoor putting greens at Griffith Park will be available for use Saturday and his recommendation that the charge for one round of eighteen holes be 10 cents, or 25 cents a day, was approved.

His recommendation that an offer of the Los Angeles Railway Company to fill a canyon in Whittier playground from soil being dug from a right of way between Whittier Boulevard and Seventh street was approved.

The contract for repairing the center section and removal of piling from Sunset Pier, Venice, was awarded to F. L. Holser on his bid of $4100.

THRONG CHEERS BOWL CONCERT

Ten Thousand Hear Program Despite Strike Row

Applause Backs Stand Taken by Association

Pianist Fails to Take Part on Account of Union

Amidst applause that reverberated from the hills surrounding the Hollywood Bowl last night, 10,000 music lovers gathered under the stars for the volunteer concert and signified their unstinted acclaim to the stand taken by the officials of the Bowl to carry on the world-famed concerts in the face of a walkout by the union musicians of the orchestra.

The uncompromising stand of the directors was announced from the stage in a stirring talk given by Mrs. Leiland Atherton Irish, chairman of the board.

She voiced the battle cry against the emergency action which had disrupted the series of concerts by saying that the board of directors is going to fight for the Bowl. She said that the directors intend to uphold the principles on which the Bowl was founded.

BACKED BY CHEERS

She asked at the conclusion of her talk "that if you feel we have taken the right stand in the matter say so." The applause and cheering was deafening.

Mrs. Irish told the vast throng that the directors will meet every contract with every artist regardless of the sympathetic strike of the musicians. No disturbance or pre-concert parleys marked the presentation of the program, hastily arranged by Bowl officials following the walkout Tuesday night, previous to the concert.

No effort was made to halt the concert and the electric switches were operated by Frank Cooper, Bowl gardener, whose employment was the basis for the ultimatum and brought about the action of the orchestra members who are all members of the musicians' union.

Thousands of persons gathered in the star-covered oval last night, familiar with the character of concerts which has made the Bowl a Mecca for music lovers from all parts of the world, marveled at the spontaneous approval of the artists who appeared on the hour-and-one-half program.

Many expressions of disappointment were heard among the audience for the failure of Margaret Le Grand, concert pianist, to appear. She originally was scheduled to offer her version of Liszt's concerto in A major. She withdrew from the program, as she is a member of the musicians' union. She expressed her regrets to the Bowl management and stated that under the circumstances she has no choice in the matter.

STRIKERS IN AUDIENCE

In the audience were many members of the orchestra who for the first time probably in their careers, were on the audience side of the stage. Augmented police details were scattered about the Bowl and backstage the force was doubled. It was reported that an attempt would be made to cut the main power line to the Bowl. Special guards placed at intervals along the line from the street to the stage, reported that no attempt was made.

Raymond Brite, superintendent of the Bowl, thanked the artists who appeared on the program, publicly for their interest and goodwill.

Artists appearing on the program last evening were Alexander Kisselburgh, noted New York baritone; Dr. Howard Hanson, head of the Eastman school of music at Rochester, N. Y., who gave a selected number of piano solos; Albert Rappaport, noted Chicago Civic Opera tenor; the Lyric Club of Los Angeles, a chorus of fifty women under the direction of J. B. Poulin; Olga Steeb, famed pianist; Lisa Roma, prima donna of the Berlin and Philadelphia Grand Opera companies and Dorothy Wagner, dancseuse of New York and a member of the Michio Ito ballet.

The United States Department of Labor, through its local branch, has been appealed to by the Bowl Association in the controversy precipitated by the musicians' union, it was learned last night. A Federal conciliator is sought to effect arbitration.

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce yesterday declared that "the total disregard and contempt for public opinion which characterised this affair is a matter of serious consideration for the people of Los Angeles."

CHAMBER'S STATEMENT

The chamber issued a statement to the public in which it says further:

"The directors of the Bowl, acting in the interest of the public, are to be congratulated on their firm and dignified stand against

FOSSILS CLEAR DOUBT ON PAST

New Mexico Find Links Man With Pleistocene Age

Existence of Species Traced Back 250,000 Years

Museum Director Discloses Import of Discovery

Study by eastern geologists and paleontologists of the fossils unearthed in a cavern on Bishop's Cap Peak, near Mesquite, N. M., several months ago and taken to the Los Angeles Museum has confirmed the belief that the discoveries constitute one of the most important prehistoric finds ever made in America, it was stated yesterday by Dr. William Alanson Bryan, director of the museum. This belief originally was expressed by Dr. Bryan when he told about the finds in an article in The Times early last May.

Their importance, according to Dr. Bryan, lies in the fact that "they settle conclusively the moot question as to whether man and the sloth, the camel and the cave bear, were coexistent in America. Proof of their coexistence would then settle the major question of the antiquity of man on this continent, as the animals mentioned have been regarded as extinct in America since the Pleistocene period. Since that period was roughly 250,000 years ago, final scientific acceptance of the results of the excavations would establish the existence of man in America at least that many years ago.

The discoveries, it was recalled by Dr. Bryan yesterday, were the result of a search for buried Spanish treasure by Roscoe P. Conkling, an El Paso mining man and amateur archeologist. He first encountered animal bones at a depth of ten feet and soon unearthed a human skull.

Conkling communicated with the Los Angeles Museum, submitting photographs and drawings. Dr. Bryan requested permission of the County Board of Supervisors to make a trip to the scene. Arriving there, he purchased the bones from Conkling for $1000 and, since the Texan had staked out a mining claim in the cavern, Dr. Bryan obtained permission to have workers from the museum force carry on the excavations.

As soon as word of the discoveries reached Washington, officials of the Smithsonian Institution attempted to get Land Office authorities to turn over to them the sole right to dig for fossils in that locality. They were too late, however, and now the fossils can be seen at the museum in Exposition Park.

Since the return from the scene of Dr. Bryan, the excavation has been going on under the direction of J. W. Lytle, assistant paleontologist of the museum, and it has reached a depth of thirty feet.

IMPORT OF DISCOVERIES

The first skull finds, those encountered by Conkling, were almost ten feet above the second. Midway between the two, Dr. Bryan points out in his report, was where the excavators came upon an almost complete skeleton of a ground sloth.

RECORD SET BY STOCKER APPRAISAL

Riches Total $14,949,624 According to Estate's Figures Given Court

Appraisal of the estate of Clara Baldwin Stocker, who died February 27, last, was filed in Probate Court yesterday, showing the entailed property to be worth $14,949,624.54, the largest estate, except one, to be probated since that of E. J. (Lucky) Baldwin. The exception is the estate of Henry Huntington.

Albert E. Snyder and Rosebud Doble Mullender, son and daughter of the decedent by different husbands, filed the appraisal as administrators of the estate.

The document consists of 100 pages listing the real estate bequeathed, which was valued at $12,788,054, and thirty-seven pages describing the personal property. Of the latter, $740,338.43 is in cash.

A long list of charitable institutions and relatives are named as heirs, Mrs. Mullender and Snyder being the residuary legatees.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

SOME one has written to me suggesting that it will never be legally possible to stop the influx of Mexican labor by a quota provision.

The Federal courts in Pennsylvania recently decided that a Huron Indian cannot be stopped from going back and forth across the Canadian border as often as he pleases—with or without papers. This because the original tribal lands of the Hurons ran on both sides of the line.

My correspondent points out that the Mexican peon is of Indian blood and that the stamping grounds of his ancestors ran into Arizona and California. In other words, that he is not only American but the original American.

OUR COUSINS

The most desirable labor available in the Southwest is Yaqui Indian. There is a dispute as to his ancestry; some ethnologists contend that he is of Athabascan stock (cousin to the Apache and Navajo;) others that he is a Pima. In any case his racial roots seem to reach into American soil.

ARE WE TURNING TOUGH?

To what has our dear old peaceful Los Angeles come . . . Chicago gunmen conducting guerrilla wars; strikes in the poetic Hollywood Bowl; Italian Mafia experts organizing for murderous blackmail; thugs killing for money; daily bank robberies . . .

WE'VE BEEN THAT WAY

At that, perhaps it is taking back its ancient heritage. In the very early days our thriving village was a hell hole. Tombstone in its wildest days was an Epworth League convention by comparison. There was a day when Los Angeles was so tough that the aristocratic Santa Barbara just raised its eyebrows in well-bred sniffy scorn if an abashed senor confessed that he lived here.

TO KNOW IT ALL

If the census takers are going to ask all the questions now proposed they might as well finish the job and ask our Hollywood stars the reasons for all the divorces they can remember readily; what brand of lipstick they use, and how many pounds they lose on the eighteen-day diet.

If the census takers get truthful answers to all the questions now proposed the population of the United States is due to be materially reduced by some hundreds of thousands of Europeans starting back home. It is safe to say that almost as many immigrants are living illegally in this country as came honestly through Ellis Island.

BEST REGARDS, GENE!

What grieves me to the point of heartache is that this Black Uhlan, Herr Schmeling, will never get a chance to knock the block off Gene Tunney.

SNOOTY

Facing the ordeal of two dirty damage suits, I doubt not that Prof. Tunney spends a couple of hours per day trying to remember the names of all the newspaper men he has insulted and snubbed during the past year. He will need them badly before he is much older.

EQUITY GRANTED PARLEY

Motion-Picture Producers Agree to Opening of Negotiations Over Association's Stand

Hollywood motion-picture producers yesterday acceded to the proposal of Actors' Equity Association officials that they open negotiations concerning their differences. Representatives of the two groups will meet today.

President Gillmore of Equity, Vice-President Ethel Barrymore and Attorney P. N. Turner will sit for Equity. The producers were silent last night on who will represent them, but it is believed by some familiar with the situation that Louis B. Mayer and Jack L. Warner will be on the producers' committee.

HAYS SILENT

Gillmore has been here ever since he submitted to the producers his demand about eight weeks ago that they use Equity members only in picture production and otherwise accept union rules and regulations. Miss Barrymore is here from New York playing at a local theater. Turner has been here from New York for some time. Will H. Hays, head of the producers' national organization, has been here from New York for two weeks, but left last night. He made no comment on the Equity situation while he was here, but on leaving issued a short statement in which he "expressed himself as very pleased with the progress of the industry's activities."

Until yesterday the producers had declined either to yield to Gillmore's demand or to enter into negotiations concerning it.

REQUESTED BY ACTORS

With the announcement of opening of negotiations, the producers issued copies of a letter over signatures of Conrad Nagel, Lois Wil-

WHEELER HOT SPRINGS IN OJAI VALLEY SOLD

Sale of the historic Wheeler Hot Springs in Ojai Valley to L. W. Coffee and associates of Los Angeles was announced yesterday by Webb W. Wilcox and Carl W. Blumberg, who have owned and managed the resort for forty years. The purchase price ran into the hundreds of thousands of dollars, it was stated.

Mr. Coffee, whose offices are at 515 Subway Terminal Building, yesterday announced that he will be president and general manager of the Wheeler Hot Springs Corporation, and that improvement and development will start immediately on the property. At present the hotel accommodates 400 guests.

One hundred and twenty acres will be subdivided into mountain home sites, Mr. Coffee stated, and declared that the subdivision will be among the most choice in Southern California.

"Almost the entire subdivision is covered with large shade trees," he said, "and most of the lots have a living trout stream of pure mountain water flowing through them. All the lots will front on the main highway and the entire subdivision will be piped with pure mountain water and electricity will be installed on all the thoroughfares."

Mr. Coffee said that in the near future the springs will be operated on a strictly American plan and that a new bath-house will be installed. He also said that many new mineral springs will be developed immediately.

Development of Los Angeles and Southern California property has been Mr. Coffee's work here since 1918. He developed Eagle Canyon Park and Fernwood Park, mountain resorts.

STEEL DEAL RUMORS TRUE

Columbia Buys Huge New Acreage at Torrance; Option Given on Whole Plant

Confirmation was given yesterday to reports that the Columbia Steel Corporation has purchased a large tract adjoining its $9,000,0000 plant at Torrance, and that the United States Steel Corporation has been given a ninety-day option on all the Columbia property. Local reports described the real estate acquisition as a purchase of eighty-five acres north of the plant at a price of $120,000. L. F. Rains, vice-president and general manager, at the San Francisco office, stated that the Columbia bought thirty-four acres about June 1, last. He did not announce the price paid.

Local reports assert that the company planned the erection of a tube mill. Rains said the company had not made any definite plans to do so, adding that the purchase was made as an investment, the company officials believing they might some day have use for a tract adjoining their present plant. At present the Columbia company operates a rolling mill, sheet mill and foundry, employing 1300 men.

At the San Francisco office, J. D. Grant, president of Columbia, when questioned about the reports, said:

"Columbia Steel Corporation, operating principally in California, has given to the United States Steel Corporation the opportunity of investigating these properties and assets, and the latter will send experts to make an examination. A ninety-day option on these properties also has been given to the steel corporation."

The experts who will examine the properties will be on the west coast the latter part of next week, Rains said.

MRS. HOLLAND CASE REOPENED

Expectant Mother Allowed to Withdraw Plea

Goes Free on Bail and Date Set for Jury Trial

Probation Officer to Make New Investigation

A new investigation of the circumstances surrounding the arrest of Mrs. Thelma Holland, the 22-year-old expectant mother, who first was sentenced to San Quentin on her plea of guilty, will be ordered today by Superior Judge Wilson. Mrs. Holland was sentenced originally on her plea of guilty to the possession of a still.

When she appealed against the prospect of her child being born in San Quentin, the judge agreed to let her remain in the County Jail until the birth. Her attorney then asked for a setting aside of the sentence on the ground that Mrs. Holland had pleaded guilty in error. Judge Wilson allowed her to withdraw her plea of guilty.

FREED ON BAIL

Mrs. Holland was released in $1000 bail yesterday after Superior Judge Aggeler had fixed the date of a new trial with a jury for next Friday in Department 27 before Superior Judge McComb. Following her release on bail, Mrs. Holland joined her six foster children in their boarding home in Inglewood.

The young woman, with her husband, Charles W. Holland, and Walter J. Payne, was arrested May 17 at 4714 Second avenue.

Judge Wilson announced that today he would order a new investigation following reports that all of the facts in the case were not presented in the original probation report submitted to him Monday. Judge Wilson said he will order Mrs. E. M. Ladico, probation officer in charge of the case, to appear before him this morning, at which time he will instruct her to conduct a new investigation and make a full new report on all the circumstances of Mrs. Holland's home life, her family and the facts surrounding her arrest.

ASKS PROBATION

At the time of their trial, Holland admitted a felony conviction in another State, waived all legal procedure, and asked for sentence at once. Judge Wilson sentenced him to Folsom prison. Mrs. Holland and Payne, after pleading guilty, asked for probation. When she appeared for a hearing a week ago, Mrs. Holland was sentenced to San Quentin prison, despite the fact that she admitted testimony indicating that she will be a mother within the next four months.

Because Payne is only 19 years of age, he was committed to the Preston School for Industry at Ione.

On Wednesday, Judge Wilson set aside his sentence and allowed Mrs. Holland to withdraw her plea of guilty.

SUN SLATED TO DISPLAY SPOT AGAIN

Freckle on Old Sol's Face Expected to Create Fuss With Earth's Radios

A sun spot four times as large as the earth and emitting a storm of electrons from a strong magnetic field, interfered with telegraphic communications all over the world on July 23, last, for a period of one minute and on the 12th inst. is expected to cross the sun's meridian again, according to Dr. Seth B. Nicholson, Mt. Wilson sun-spot expert.

When Old Sol gets a "freckle" he is not content with just wearing it. A "freckle" up there means something down here and that something usually is a profound disturbance of radio and telegraphic communication while the "freckle" is focused on the earth, according to Dr. Nicholson.

On August 8, 1917, a photograph was taken, with the aid of the Mt. Wilson telescope, of what is believed to have been the largest sun-spot ever observed. At this time telegraphic communication was suspended for ten minutes all over the world. The photograph taken in July shows another gigantic spot but this was not nearly as large as the one in 1917. It possessed an unusually strong magnetic field and is 33,000 miles long and 20,000 miles wide.

Dr. Nicholson keeps a daily record of magnetic storms by means of a delicate instrument which traces a continuous line on a paper-covered drum. When the line becomes zig-zag the record indicates increased magnetic intensity. On July 23, when the latest spot on Old Sol was exhibited to the earth, the zig-zag line was fairly pronounced. In 1917, however, the excitement, magnetically, was so great that the point ran completely off the paper dial. At that time every telegraph instrument worked automatically, a brassy chatter of magnetic comment, as it were, and all caused by the sun-spot. The astronomer declares that on the 12th inst. this spot will appear again, if it has survived, and that within the two days following disturbances may be expected.

Dr. Nicholson has been asked to investigate the influence of sun-spots, if possible, on the newly discovered method of locating oil fields far below the surface, by magnetic exploration.

Those who are seeking the fashionable tan will find more ultra-violet rays in the sunlight around the 12th inst., according to Dr. Nicholson.

HEAD OF RECEIVING HOSPITALS HONORED

Dr. Wallace Dodge's first anniversary as head of the Los Angeles Receiving Hospitals was celebrated last night with an informal dinner at which he was the guest of honor. The affair, sponsored by Dr. Charles F. Sebastian, staff police surgeon, was held in the dining-room of Georgia-street Hospital. Thirty-five guests were present. E. Snapper Ingram, member of the City Council, gave a brief talk in which he complimented Dr. Dodge on his efficient management and praised members of the hospital staff for their co-operation.

BOWL CONCERT THRONGED

the senseless bid for control on the part of the Theatrical Stage Employees' Union that made the simple turning on and off of a lighting switch the vehicle for disappointing thousands of people in their expected enjoyment of an out-of-doors musical program.

"The Bowl's switchboard always has been manned by a theoretically competent operator who has received a salary of $3.50 a night for three and one-half hours of work. The operator is a man who is in the employ of the association during the day at a regular monthly salary.

"The directors and officers of the Bowl are men and women of high caliber, giving generously of their time and talents that our public may be favored with the best music possible to produce at popular prices.

"The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce firmly believes that the citizens of Los Angeles will support the officers and directors of the Bowl in their firm determination that this great public asset, so intensely appreciated by all of us, shall be operated solely in the interest of the public and with justice and fairness to all."

Marguerite Le Grand, famous pianiste, who was to have appeared on last night's program, was afraid to appear, she said.

"I am a member of the musicians' union," she said, "and I was advised that I should not go on because the musicians in the orchestra are striking. I asked what the union would do to me if I went on but I do not know. I am sick about it, but what can I do?"

ORDER FOR STRIKE

The union orchestra was ordered to strike by union officials to paralyze performances until the Bowl association meets the demand of officials of the electricians' union. The demand is that a union electrician be employed at $12.50 a day to turn a switch twice an evening. A Bowl gardener now turns the switch and receives $3.50 for staying in the evening to do it.

The Hollywood Women's Club sent notice of support to Bowl officials and backed it up by attending in a body last night's somewhat improvised performance. Letters and telegrams from all parts of the country, as well as local and long distance telephone calls, were received at Bowl headquarters yesterday, encouraging the association in its stand against union restrictions.

TONIGHT'S PROGRAM

This evening's program will be given as announced yesterday. It includes Elsa Alsen, who was prima donna of Chicago Grand Opera Company; Paul Althouse, who was tenor for Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, New York City, and Tudor Williams, internationally known basso. Other artists also will appear including a dancer of note. Manager Brite feared to announce their names last night, lest they should be intimidated by unionists.

A host of civic bodies have called on the public to show its support for the association by turning out tonight.

President Balch, Vice-President Toberman, Manager Brite and other Bowl officials continued yesterday to maintain their stand against the union demands, which are declared to have reached the breaking point for this nonprofit organization. They are awaiting an answer from President Green of the American Federation of Labor at Washington as to whether the Bowl properly comes under the union classification of band stand instead of under the classification of theater, upon which hinges the local electricians' union demand.

MRS. CARTER TALKS

Mrs. J. J. Carter, "mother" of Hollywood Bowl, sat anxiously in her home yesterday, praying that the peril to the "Symphonies under the Stars" should be removed.

"The Bowl's work seems to me," Mrs. Carter said, "so extraneous to the workaday world that I just can't see how such an unholy thing could come into it to mar it—it seems just too terrible. If you call me the mother of Hollywood Bowl I might say I feel just like a mother whose child is in peril.

"I wish to be charitable. I understand something of the workingman's point of view in this matter, but it seems too terrible that something so very far removed from the altruism and the ideals on which the Bowl is founded should be injected into it like this and bring danger to so great an enterprise.

"Surely they do not understand what they are doing. It seems to me they are bringing a very worldly thing into a holy place.

"But I have such confidence in those who are looking after the Bowl that I am relieved of some anxiety for its fate. I believe Mr. Balch and Mr. Toberman will bring it out all right."

A citizen last night telephoned to The Times the suggestion that those who wish to support Bowl officials in their stand might make monetary contributions, which would help considerably. He said he is willing to start such a subscription list with $200 and might give more "if others chip in and help."

WIFE ASSERTS MATE DRANK HAIR TONIC

When home brew seemed too mild a beverage for Benjamin W. Lee, he drank hair tonic, Mrs. Hazel Lee testified in her divorce action in Superior Judge Sproul's court yesterday. "He was drunk for three days after we were married," said the plaintiff. "He cursed me in front of an open window, and sometimes I had to call the police to quiet him. If they didn't come I had to hide in a neighbor's garage." A witness testified Lee would "bounce his wife up and down on a couch" when he became angry at her.

ACTION ON WIDENING DEFERRED

Council Ignores Ruling of Deputy City Attorney on Beverly Boulevard Work

After considerable oratory the City Council yesterday deferred action on the widening of Beverly Boulevard between Alexandria and Western avenues until October 3 in the face of the ruling of Deputy City Attorney Neal that further delay might jeopardize the proceedings. Five of the Councilmen voted against the postponement, they being Davis, Ingram, Lewis and Webster, and President Sanborn.

Instead of confirming the present assessment district on the widening of La Brea avenue between Wilshire Boulevard and Country Club Drive, the Council sent it back to the Board of Public Works for a new assessment.

Protests against the improvement of Van Nuys Boulevard between San Fernando Road and Kalmia street and against the improvement of Male avenue between Ninety-second and Ninety-ninth streets were denied. Hearing of protests against the improvement of La Rue avenue and Oneida street district was continued until the 19th inst.

Three Men Seek Death During Day

Three men attempted to end their lives yesterday, according to police reports.

Ernie Leibe, 52 years of age, swallowed bichloride of mercury tablets in his home at 4400 Avocado street.

Ike Van Zandt, 62, opened gas jets in his home at 601 North Evergreen street.

Leibe was taken to the Hollywood Hospital in a critical condition. His wife, police reported, said he had suffered a mental breakdown due to financial reverses.

Van Zandt and Beinhuer both have been in ill health, it was stated. After being given emergency treatment at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital they were taken to the psychopathic ward in the General Hospital.

Leibe has a son, Raymond, and two daughters, Mrs. Annette Small of 2239 Midvale street, Westwood, and Mrs. Hazel Green of 981 Delta Road, Salt Lake City.

CHILEAN MAN-OF-WAR HERE

First Vessel of Kind Ever to Drop Anchor in Local Harbor; Round of Welcoming Planned

The Chilean navy training ship, the auxiliary bark General Baquedano, dropped anchor in Los Angeles Harbor last night for a six-day good-will visit, the first ever accorded Los Angeles by a Chilean man o' war.

Tomorrow Carlos Davila, Chilean Ambassador to the United States, will arrive, with military and naval aides, from Washington, and an official welcome is being planned. City officials and military and naval officers are planning to greet him on his arrival.

MESSAGE FROM HOOVER

The vessel is commanded by Capt. Eduardo Von Schroeder, one of Chile's most distinguished officers, and has a personnel of fourteen officers, twenty-five cadets and a crew of 333. She is armed with two five-inch and several smaller guns.

The warcraft was boarded upon its arrival in Los Angeles Harbor, by P. Valdinsso Valdez, Consul for Chile in Los Angeles; J. G. Starr, port traffic manager, and C. A. Cook of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, who carried a letter from President Hoover, expressing the wish that the Latin-American visitors might receive the same courtesies accorded him when he was their guest last year.

COURTESY SALUTES

Courtesy salutes will be exchanged between the naval craft and Fort MacArthur this morning when the General Baquedano will tie up at Berth 58, in the outer harbor, for the time the ship is in port.

A program of entertainment is being planned following the arrival of the Chilean Ambassador. Trips to the motion-picture studios at Hollywood, dances and motor trips besides official dinners are on the program.

The Chilean ship later will proceed to San Francisco and then will return home.

BABY MYSTERY CAUSES HUNT

Would-be Foster Mother and Infant Vanish

Parent Declares Fictitious Address Given

Appointment at Attorney's Office Not Kept

Juvenile authorities under direction of Detective-Lieutenant Hanson of the police missing persons detail yesterday launched an intensive search for a woman known as Mrs. Merton Leonard, 41 years of age, who, according to a police report, has dropped from sight with a 14-months-old boy she agreed to adopt, but without having kept an appointment to sign the adoption papers. The baffling factor in her disappearance is that the home address she gave is fictitious.

The baby is Billy Gutridge, son of Mrs. Martha Gutridge, 30 years of age, of 569 West Second street.

ADVERTISED FOR BABY

According to statements of the distracted mother Mrs. Leonard on July 26, last, advertised she wished a baby for adoption. Mrs. Gutridge replied to the ad, offering little Billy. The next day Mrs. Leonard visited the Gutridge home and discussed the proposed adoption. She returned on July 29, declaring she wished to exhibit the child to her husband.

The following day, according to the report, Mrs. Leonard called for the baby and informed Mrs. Gutridge she had seen her attorneys and that they would meet the two women the next day and complete arrangements. She instructed the mother to meet her at the offices of Miller & Hooper, attorneys, of 742 South Hill street. Then, with the baby in her possession, she departed in a taxicab, telling Mrs. Gutridge she was going to the Pacific Electric station and from there to her home which she said was at 1729 Wilson avenue, Pasadena."

NO SUCH ADDRESS

At the appointed time Mrs. Gutridge went to the attorneys' offices only to be told, she reported, that Mrs. Leonard had sprained her ankle and was unable to attend the adoption conference. She then went to Pasadena in search of Mrs. Leonard, but learned there is no such address as 1729 Wilson avenue.

Yesterday Detective-Lieutenant Hanson in questioning Attorneys Miller and Hooper learned they never had heard of Mrs. Leonard and had not been retained to draw up adoption papers. They attributed the remark about a sprained ankle to the fact that under pressure of business they must have confused the name of Mrs. Leonard with a client and did not pause to ascertain Mrs. Gutridge's mission.

DESCRIPTION GIVEN

A search of the Pasadena, South Pasadena and Alhambra directories, according to police, revealed no persons named Leonard listed. Mrs. Gutridge, however, was able to supply the authorities with a complete description of the woman.

Mrs. Gutridge told police she has been separated from her husband since September last, but does not believe he is involved in the disappearance of her baby.

BIXBY'S SUIT FOR $25,000 BEING TRIED

Long Beach Man Seeking Heavy Damages of Stage Company Over Crash

Damages in the sum of $25,000 for personal injuries are asked in a suit brought by Stephen L. Bixby, son of Mrs. Amelia M. E. Bixby of Long Beach, against the Pickwick Stages System and the California Highway Indemnity Exchange, which went to trial late yesterday before Superior Judge Rector.

Represented by Attorneys O'Melveny, Tuller & Myers, the plaintiff asserts that he received permanent injuries when a stage of the defendant company crashed into the car he was driving on November 11, 1927, on the Long Beach-Santa Ana highway three miles from the boundry line dividing Orange and Los Angeles counties. He accuses the driver of the stage of driving recklessly.

The defendants, represented by Attorney Bryce P. Gibbs, in their answer to the suit contend that young Bixby did not exercise due care and caution in his driving, therefore his negligence contributed to the cause of the accident and the company is in nowise liable for payment for the injuries he received.

DIVORCE IN NIGH SUIT REFUSED

Court Denies Plea Either to Director or His Wife; Money Agreement Upheld

William Nigh, film director, whose real name is Emil Kruschke, and his wife, Citta Kruschke, battled to a draw in divorce court five weeks ago, Superior Judge Doolin decided, in an opinion on file yesterday.

Judge Dooling decided, however, that an agreement made in 1923 by the terms of which Kruschke promised to pay his wife $75 a week was still in effect, and ordered the allowance paid to date.

Kruschke, who gained considerable notoriety when he was arrested for assaulting Edward Usher, Jr., following a fight over the affections of Jean Jarvis, film actress, in Laurel Canyon last December, had sued his wife for divorce, after she had sued for separate maintenance.

Judge Dooling held that neither party to the suit had proved allegations made in the complaints, and a final was entered to both petitions. Mrs. Kruschke sued on grounds of cruelty, but the court held that Kruschke's payment of $75 a week, according to terms of the agreement, justified the director's actions in discouraging Mrs. Kruschke from living him in his home.

Today's Bible Text

But why dost thou judge thy brother? or why dost thou set at nought thy brother? for we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ. For it is written, As I live, saith the Lord, every knee shall bow to me, and every tongue confess to God. Romans xiv:10-11.

MUST COME DOWN

Even these high flyers in Wall street find that it takes a lot of refueling to keep aloft.

ALL GET A SHARE

American corporations will earn a total of more than $10,000,000,000 this year and nearly $7,000,000,000 will have been distributed to stockholders—little investors as well as big.

CLEAR THE TRACK

Business is so brisk at some of these modern airports that an official starter with a red and green-checkered flag is necessary to clear the way for the coming and speed the parting guest. At that he may develop a hot box in ducking traffic.

CALL FOR EQUITY

Actors' Equity goes into court to enforce its claim that no performer can work except under the form of contract provided by Equity and based upon its restrictive and exclusive features. If there be equity in the arguments of Equity outsiders will be glad to see that equity presented by Equity in a real court of equity and have the measure of equity determined.

THE WHALE KILLER

Now thoughtful scientists are providing electric harpoons for our whales. The barbed shaft is shot into the massive creature from a considerable distance and then a powerful electric current is sent through the connecting cord or wire. The vast marine mammal is electrocuted before he knows what has happened and the sea is spared a powerful lashing from the tail of an agonised prisoner. This is in keeping with advanced ideas of efficiency in all things—even in the snaring of our blubber. But too much such efficiency may soon leave us no blubber to snare.

GOLFERS' PARADISE

Looks as if all the great golfers of the world would find it convenient to be on the California coast next fall and winter. There is a series of events that would make a Scotchman's mouth water. There has never been anything like it in the history of the game. More than $60,000 will be shoveled out to star performers almost within the span of a single month. There is a purse of $15,000 for the open at Santa Barbara beginning December 2. This is following the Honolulu tourney for $5000. After Santa Barbara Commodore Wrigley will open a $7500 pot at Catalina and there will also be a $2500 event at San Diego. On December 30 the new club at Agua Caliente comes into the picture with a purse of $25,000—the biggest ever hung up in the history of the pastime. Following this comes the famous Los Angeles open with its $10,000. And there are others—ranging from San Gabriel to Sacramento and all for worthy prizes. No wonder Walter Hagen has become a bit of local scenery.

WHY INVESTIGATORS?

Mayor Porter must be beginning to wonder by this time just what service is being rendered by the corps of salaried investigators with which he has surrounded himself. The utility of these men, it must be said, is not apparent to the general public.

Men of the sort who should be appointed to important public office should not require investigation. There is no lack in Los Angeles of outstanding citizens of known reputation for good character, strict integrity, wide successful experience and public spirit, and it is from these that selection should be made. There is always a presumption in such cases against the individual who is unknown.

Is it not itself an indication against the desirability of a candidate, that an investigation of him is needed? The most successful administrators have a way of drafting men of high standing and demonstrated ability into the public service. Men who have met success in private life are more apt to succeed also in public life. Investigators are not needed to seek out such men; they are plainly visible.

THE REAL ISSUE

If and when the Los Angeles City Council is called upon to confirm or reject the appointment of Francis Drake as a member of the Police Commission—as Mayor Porter indicates it will be—every Councilman should recognize the fact that his vote will be on the principle of unionization of the police and fire departments and should reflect his attitude thereon.

There can be no question as to this and no evasion of it. The one thing for which Drake stands in the public mind, and the only thing, is his unrepudiated sponsorship of such unionization. That sponsorship constituted his single contribution, if it can be called a contribution, to the public service during the only time he ever occupied public office. That it likewise constituted his single purpose in accepting office is indicated by the fact that, immediately upon its defeat, he resigned, though he had then served but three months of a four-year term as Fire Commissioner.

That is Drake's public record and his whole public record. As such, it is the single consideration determining his fitness for a place on the commission which controls the police department, guardian of the lives, property and safety of all the people of Los Angeles. On that record Drake stands for the principle that the police and fire departments should be organized into unions chartered and controlled by the American Federation of Labor and subject to be called out on strike at any time, regardless of the appalling results certain to ensue.

A vote for Drake's confirmation is a vote for that principle.

It is now belatedly being urged on Drake's behalf that he did not, during Mayor Snyder's administration in 1919—the only occasion on which he ever held public office—actually organize either the policemen's or the firemen's union in this city, and that he is not now in favor of such organization. This is both a slim excuse and not in accord with the facts. The records show that Drake as Fire Commissioner fought tooth and nail for the firemen's union, denounced Mayor Snyder and Commissioner Denman for their stand against it, denounced the firemen themselves for being willing to surrender their charter, demanded a public hearing on the matter before the Fire Commission, and resigned in a huff when his efforts were unavailing. It does not matter who was the actual organizer; if Drake was not an accomplice in the commission of the offense, he was plainly an accessory after the fact.

Drake has made no public repudiation of the views he unquestionably held ten years ago, expressed publicly no repentance. This is a case in which no other person can be a man's mouthpiece, in which hearsay will not do. And it is now too late for a disavowal. If Drake has really changed his mind, he might have convinced the public of it by a public statement made as soon as the facts were made known. He had plenty of opportunity to do so and did not take advantage of it. He did not even tell Mayor Porter he had been a Fire Commissioner. He may be convinced that labor organizations among police and firemen are inexpedient at the present time; but no man is fit to sit as Police Commissioner who does not know that they are wrong at any time—and why.

Many people do not realise what a police or firemen's strike would mean. Boston was not the only city that had trouble with labor-union organization of its safety departments just after the close of the war, but it is the best known example. For many years the Boston police department, for obvious reasons, had a rule that no policeman might be a member of any outside organization which controlled his activities. Police Commissioner Curtis discovered the organization of a federation union among his men, and promptly suspended, for violation of plain rules, about a score of officers who admitted union membership and refused to withdraw from it. The strike followed on September 9, 1919, about 1000 men leaving their posts.

As if that was a signal, riots and looting immediately broke out in the city, particularly in South Boston. Store windows were smashed, trucks driven across the curb and loaded with merchandise, citizens robbed in the streets. The direct damage before State troops took charge was estimated at $300,000—and the troops were on the job within twelve hours. Indirect losses were enormous.

To replace the 1000 policemen who struck, more than 5000 State guardsmen were called into service. During the course of the violence, which lasted in all more than a week, seven persons were killed and scores wounded. In the second day burglary insurance rates were tripled and riot insurance became difficult to obtain at any price. Crooks flocked to the city on every train, according to reports of secret-service operatives. At one time a machine gun had to be used to quell a mob.

That Drake, at the time he made his spectacular fight for the firemen's union, was fully aware of these facts cannot be doubted, since the Boston strike took place about a month before the organization of the Los Angeles firemen was discovered, and the events must have been fresh in his mind. The whole country was ringing with indignation at the outrages in Boston—it was the sole topic of public discussion. No one but a unionist fanatic would have considered exposing his own city to a similar experience.

To put him now on the Police Commission would shake public confidence in the Police Department as nothing else could. The loyalty of the police in time of possible stress is a thing on which all citizens depend, and if it were known that a member of the Police Commission held subversive views in such a matter such knowledge would justify grave alarm.

The City Council cannot afford to take the responsibility of letting the world at large know that life and property in this city may become unsafe. It must keep the city commissions free of Francis Drakes.

INTO TEMPTATION

LEE SIDE O' LA

BY Lee Shippey

IF YOU want to realize how Los Angeles is growing as an industrial city, drive around Vernon and compare the number of industrial plants with the number of dwellings.

Vernon is one of the oddest incorporated cities in the world. It has more than twice as many industrial plants as it has voters. There are 330 plants in it, with assessed valuation of $47,000,000 and only 140 registered voters. Twenty thousand people earn their living there every day, but few live there. It has only one school with only 150 pupils. And it didn't have nearly that many till it asked Los Angeles, which almost surrounds it, to operate its school for it and put in industrial classes, so that some of the pupils are older than most pupils in other grammar schools.

Two Votes Decided Important Election

When the Central Manufacturing District, including the stockyards and the great produce terminal market, in which more than $20,000,000 has been spent, was annexed to Vernon there were only two voters in it, a man and his wife. Had they quarreled election morning the vote would have been a tie and Vernon might have lost one of its richest corners.

Same Mayor 24 Years

John Leonis, a far-sighted Portuguese, is the uncrowned king of Vernon. He saw its possibilities a good many years ago and bought hundreds of acres there. In 1905 he decided the place should incorporate as a town, and then J. J. Furlong was elected Mayor and his brother, "Uncle Tom" Furlong, City Clerk. Those two men have held those jobs ever since, and as Vernon has the lowest municipal tax rate in the State, they probably will hold office as long as they want to. The tax rate in Vernon is only 38 cents on the $100 assessed valuation.

Business Romances

Vernon is full of human interest stories and the romance of business. There is John M. Boyle, for instance, who used to be a tinner who carried his tools around with him. Now he has a huge plant here and another in Alameda, representing about $2,000,000. There's the Vitrefrax Corporation, which brings clay from Riverside county and manufactures about 90 per cent of all the porcelain used in spark plugs throughout this country. There's the fresh start which Clarence Saunders is making. Saunders was the Piggly Wiggly man till he was crushed in Wall street, and came here not long ago to start again. He is just about to bloom out in a lot of stores. On his Vernon plant is the interesting sign:

CLARENCE SAUNDERS
Sole Owner of My Name

District Spreading Rapidly

Overflowing Vernon, this rapidly growing industrial district spreads out into Huntington Park, Bell, Maywood and South Gate. The oil fields here create a great demand for steel and Los Angeles doubtless is the major steel market of the West. In addition to the great factories, there are hundreds of small ones and their faith is evidenced by the fact that most of them have located where they will have plenty of room to expand. Maywood and Huntington Park were started as residence communities solely, but industry rapidly is taking them. Walnut Park and South Gate were bought by the late Michael Cudahy, the famous packer, for a beef cattle ranch. Now South Gate is an important manufacturing center. Walnut Park is an unincorporated town into which industry is beginning to spread.

Indoor Bicycle Riders

For industries grow so amazingly here that more and more are compelled to get out of the more central district to find adequate room. There is, for instance, the Weber Showcase plant in the southern fringes of Los Angeles. It is only one story in height, but has seven and one-half acres of floor space and several acres more of ground space. Its foremen, messenger boys and others who have to go about the plant much have bicycles on which they dash about the busy place. It strikes one as funny, at first, to see a dozen men and boys speeding around indoors in a humming factory on wheels, but in that plant it is a very sensible plan.

Helps Trade Both Ways

The Weber plant is the main unit of that company, which does a world-wide business, and here Carl Weber recently developed a glass-edge polisher which does the work of twelve men much better than it used to be done by hand and now is in use in all the important automobile plants in this country. Practically all the automobile glass used in America is run through these polishers, which leave the edge perfectly smooth and no more likely to cut than the round side of a lead pencil. The concern also recently sold soda fountains in China and India. It ships in glass from Czecho-Slovakia and France and ships out products everywhere.

One of the many interesting plants is that of Arthur Maas, a young chemist at the time of the World War. Then when the chemicals used in developing pictures went sky-high, he began making them and now is said to supply 80 per cent of all the chemicals used in developing in the motion-picture studios.

THE BIGGEST COUNTY

The assessed valuation of Los Angeles county is now at the staggering figure of $4,670,000,000 and is almost a billion ahead of last year's totals. Of course there should be liberal reductions in the rate of taxation in view of the increase in assessable property, but the politicians are horribly slow at this form of figuring.

THE OPEN ROAD
By James J. Montague

There is joy in a hike up the long winding pike
With the warm summer wind in your face,
Putting mile after mile far behind you the while,
For you move at a swift sturdy pace.
You are free from the jar and the jolt of a car
And you happily lay down your load
To sup and to sleep when the shadows are deep
O'er your camp by the side of the road.
But I have been never a strenuous man nd would vastly prefer a nice speedy sedan.

It it great to contend with the rivers which wend
Their way through the towering hills,
The tide to defy as the riffles rush by
Affords you the grandest of thrills.
At night on the breast of the bayou you rest
And till morning you happily dream
Of your consummate art, and the undaunted heart
That conquered the pride of the stream.
But with swift running waters I never would bicker.
When I go canoeing I carry a kicker.

The lore of the wood is exceedingly good
For a city-bred person to know.
You can kill all the meat that your party can eat
With your rifle, or even your bow.
Grouse and partridge and deer all are hovering near
And if hunger you happen to feel
You only require a bright little fire
To cook you an excellent meal.
But as for myself, I would rather a guide
The game and the meals and the camp should provide.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

LEAVING IT TO THE DOCTORS
[Chicago Tribune]

The Secretary of the Interior, Ray Lyman Wilbur, speaking at the convention of the American Medical Association, told the doctors that they would have to find a way to reduce the costs of medical care to the middle classes or a way will be imposed upon the doctors. Dr. Wilbur speaks with the authority of his office in the government and as chairman of a national committee which is studying the questions involved in medical charges.

The fact that Dr. Wilbur found it possible, at a convention of physicians to state his views thus bluntly is, in itself, the most hopeful aspect of the matter. No one who has experienced or observed the effect of a siege of illness upon the budget of a family in moderate circumstances can doubt the need for modifying present conditions; but it is no less true that the ablest practitioners of all sorts, the leaders of the profession, are themselves the leaders in the movement for reform.

MR. ZZYZZ
[Baltimore Sun]

Mr. Zzyzz is a man who interests us. Mr. Zzyzz is not a character in an expressionist play or an obscure Victorian novel by an imitator of Dickens. Mr. Zzyzz is simply the man who is last in the New York phone book. After Zzyzz there is only finis.

Being a newcomer to the directory this year, Mr. Zzyzz has drawn some attention to himself, for he has all at once supplanted Mr. Zzyza and Mr. Zzyx. He went the latter one better—one "z" better—and the former was nowhere in lastness beside him. Just what awards and decorations attach to being last in a phone book has never been made clear. But there must be some advantage. One man changed his name from Zzyk to Zzyz in an effort to clinch the place. How vain, indeed, are human wishes. For along came Mr. Zzyzz to ruin Mr. Zzyk's (or Zzyz's) ambition.

CRIME AND THE GOVERNORS
[Kansas City Star]

Governors of the States, at their annual conference at New London, Ct., late this month, are to make crime the chief topic of discussion. It is another evidence of a national awakening on a national problem. The Governors will find plenty to talk about and consider.

If they can find any practicable way to enlist their influence with the forces that already have been lined up to deal with crime on a national scale, it will be a conference well conducted. One State cannot get far alone in efforts to combat lawlessness.

LETTERS TO The Times

The Pound at San Pedro

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Mayor Porter has made an appointment to the humane department which is the first move on the political humane checkerboard. Now if the Mayor will see to it that the remaining members of the board are supplanted by people who have been and are now practically and humanely interested in the welfare of animals then there will be a working force that will accomplish something to the credit of Los Angeles. You cannot get "grapes from thorns or figs from thistles."

It is to be sincerely hoped that Mrs. Weldon, the new commissioner, will take a more decided and vigorous stand for the good of the department than when she was formerly a commissioner. The pound at San Pedro (Mrs. Weldon's home town,) which is now and has been a disgrace humanely and otherwise, needs immediate attention.

The humane citizens and others of Los Angeles are waiting patiently and vigilantly for the complete renovation and sanitation of the humane department.

Italy No Place For Will

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I notice in this morning's Times that Will Rogers says Mussolini has never done anything which has not been founded on common sense. That is interesting, not as to Mussolini, but as to Mr. Rogers.

It is common sense, then, to usurp by force the power of government belonging to another, to suppress free speech and even the right to vote or nominate candidates, and so to dominate the life of a nation that everyone is subject to the absolute dominion of the governor—the usurper. If Mr. Rogers were in Italy and indulged from day to day in the "wise cracks" he does about the government he would be constantly "in the jug." That, I presume, he would regard as common sense

A Great Crusade

UPLAND (Cal.) July 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The Times is entitled to congratulations and commendation in its selection of John Steven McGroarty as its representative to investigate and report on the Florida situation. "Special Correspondent" writings are too often flavored with a conceit that causes the paper to be thrown down in disgust, but McGroarty's reports show the beginning of a great crusade which if continued would be of untold benefit to this country, and even to the world.

McGroarty's articles should be printed in pamphlet form and sent to every member of Congress, all the heads of the government and all the State legislators and officials. And he should be kept on the job, but who is there to back him? What a glorious opportunity for doing a wonderful service to the country!

Most of our people are patriotic and sensible and it is just a question of leadership and organization. This country has pulled through some very difficult situations, in spite of apathy and discouragement, and will pull through this. But leaders are needed and they need backing.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Shoe Repairing?

BY LOUISE I. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

When a boy first starts at shoe repairing he must get a job in some little out-of-town shop, or in a shoe factory, where he is paid for piece work. After six months of such training he can probably get an apprentice position in a big city repair shop. Here he will begin at about $18 a week. He will work on the finishing machine and if he is "smart" he will advance in about six months to $22.50 a week.

Next he will work on a jack as a "jack man" at $30 to $35 a week. His duties will be to put on heels, soles and perhaps other parts.

After that comes the machine operating and the fitting department. If a man in the business wants to progress more rapidly he can go to the Frank Wiggins Trade Evening School from 7 to 9 p.m. on evenings to be decided later. Here he will be taught by an expert in the trade and will learn speed and fine finishing, rebinding, making straps and putting on catches successfully.

Applicants for this free class must apply in person at the school, Venice Boulevard, between Hill and Grand, on school days, between 1 and 9 p.m., between August 1 and 16. The class begins September 2.

FELIPE DE NEVE!

BY FAITH HOLMES BYERS

Felipe de Neve! What does this Spanish name of musical syllables mean to Californians? Don Felipe de Neve, Spanish gentleman, soldier, statesman, third Spanish Governor of the New World province of California, compiler of an admirable "reglamento" or administrative basis of government of provinces, loyal to the interests of his king and the new colony, will long be remembered as the founder of Los Angeles.

Picture him on the morning of September 4, 1781, in the richly colored garments of the Spanish don of the eighteenth century, riding at the head of a cavalcade of soldiers in leather jackets, accompanied by friars in sober brown robes and sandals, christianized Indians, some afoot and some on horseback, and the twelve men with their families, "forty-four souls in all," chosen as first settlers of the new pueblo. The procession set forth from the "Mother City" of San Gabriel and winding over hills and valleys, following "El Camino Real" came at last to the chosen site, the place now known as the "Plaza"—selected as high and dry overlooking the future fertile fields and prospective "ranchos" stretching toward mountain and sea. A rude cross was erected, the banner of Spain was flung to the breeze—forty-five souls knelt while the fathers intoned a prayer—Gov. Felipe de Neve read a proclamation in the name of God and of Carlos III, King of Aragon and Castile, Emperor of the Indies and master of half the world, declaring that thus was founded and established "El Pueblo de Nuestra Senora la Reina los Angeles." With a volley of musketry the ceremony was complete and thus was begun the pueblo which in the space of 148 years numbers its people at 1,400,000 and possesses every luxury known to civilization.

It is fitting that the name of the founder of Los Angeles should be remembered; that the fast-vanishing traces of our Spanish and Mexican heritage should be preserved. As the sesquicentennial draws near the name of Felipe de Neve is being given its due. A public library building in Lafayette Park has been named the Felipe de Neve Branch in honor of the founder of the city. A sun dial erected by the Cabrillo Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution stands in the park near the library building. There is talk of a Felipe de Neve monument sponsored by the daughters of the Golden West. The Plaza Association should be given every encouragement that seeks restoration and preservation of the bit of old Spain known as the Plaza, the Plaza Church, the Avila home, the winery, said to be the first brick building in Los Angeles. A pageant re-enacting the picturesque founding of the city is planned for the anniversary date, September 4.

The greater our city becomes the more honor should be paid to the man who had vision, initiative and the courage to mark the beginnings of "The City of Our Lady, the Queen of the Angels."

NUESTRA SENORA LA REINA DE LOS ANGELES

BY CHRISTINE STERLING

Today is the day of "Our Lady Queen of the Angels" because, according to sacred legend, it was on this day that St. Francis of Assisi was accorded the privilege that all those who visited the chapel of "Our Lady Queen of the Angels" would obtain the remission of their sins and all punishment from them.

This privilege is said to have been first granted to the chapel in Italy where the Franciscan order was founded and which bore the name of "Our Lady Queen of the Angels." For that reason a great many of the Franciscan churches bear this name. This privilege is known all over the Catholic world by the name of Porciuncula, which means "small portion or inheritance" because it was granted to St. Francis and his friars.

When Father Crespi and Portola in 1769 were searching for Monterey Bay and discovered the place which is now Los Angeles, Father Crespi wrote as follows:

"Tuesday, Aug. 1.—This day was one of rest for the purpose of exploring and especially to celebrate the jubilee of Our Lady Queen of the Angels de Porciuncula. We said mass and the men took communion, performing the obligations to gain the great indulgence.

"August 2.—We entered a very spacious valley well grown with cottonwoods and alders, among which ran a beautiful river which we named Porciuncula." (Los Angeles River.)

It does not matter what creed or faith the individual holds. Every heart is a shrine to the name of mother and "Our Lady Queen of the Angels" is the mother of Los Angeles. Her image was borne by Felipe de Neve and the little procession of settlers on their march from the San Gabriel Mission on September 4, 1781, and her name was given the pueblo founded upon that day.

History has built the altar where stands this sweet, gentle figure and no one shall tear it down.

RIPPLING RHYMES
by Walt Mason

OLDEST INHABITANTS

We often read of dames and men who've lived to an unusually age, a hundred or five score and ten, and still they linger on the stage. They're nearly always humble folk who thus rebuke old Father Time; they live in shanties filled with smoke and peradventure dust and grime. They know no more than sorrel mules about the things they ought to know about the sanitary rules which lengthen life, statistics show. They shut their windows when they sleep, and they would tremble in affright if any balmy breeze should creep about their bedrooms in the night. The rules of diet are unknown to us; all these ancient ones; they suck the marrow from a bone, and fill themselves with hot-cross buns. They do not weigh themselves to see how much they gain, how much they lose, but eat whatever pies there be, whatever roasts, whatever stew. They do not tinker with their teeth unless a fearful ache arrives; the toothpaste, in the shining sheath, has cut no figure in their lives. They have no bathtubs in their shacks; the plumbing of the modern kind they have no books when they relax, or cultivate the state of mind. Such are the people who will reach a most unconscionable age, and who reject with ribald screech the rules and maxims of the sage. The rules of us protect our health by the regulations wise, and so it comes sailing up by and by and dots us one between the eyes.

RIPPLING RHYMES
by Walt Mason

OLDEST INHABITANTS

We often read of dames and men who've lived to an unseemly age, a hundred or five score and ten, and still they linger on the stage. They're nearly always humble folk who thus rebuke old Father Time; they live in shanties filled with smoke, and peradventure dust and grime. They know no more than sorrel mules about the things they ought to know about the sanitary rules which lengthen life, statistics show. They shut their windows when they sleep, and they would tremble in affright if any little breeze should creep about their bedrooms in the night. The laws of diet are unknown to nearly all these ancient ones; they eat the marrow from a bone, and fill themselves with hot-cross buns. They do not weigh themselves to see how much they gain, how much they lose, but eat whatever pies there be, whatever roasts, whatever stew. They do not tinker with their teeth unless a fearful ache arrives; the toothpaste, in its shining sheath, has cut no figure in their lives. They have no bathtubs in their shacks, no plumbing of the modern kind, they have no books when they'd relax, or cultivate the sterile mind. Such are the people who will reach a most unconscionable age, and who reject with ribald screech the rules and maxims of the sage. The most of us protect our health by all the regulations wise, and death comes sailing up by stealth, and dots us one between the eyes.

ENGLISH PORK PIE

A. B. G., Pasadena, Cal.: Cut one and a half pounds of uncooked pork into small dice, separate the fat from the lean, season with half a teaspoonful of sage, a seasoning of salt, black pepper and a few grains of cayenne, pack the meat in a pastry covered mold in alternate layers of fat and lean until the dish is filled, cover with pastry, pinch the edges tightly together, brush with well-beaten egg and bake in a medium oven for one and a quarter hours. Neither water nor bone should be put into the pork pies and the outside pieces will be hard until they are cut small and pressed closely together, the bones and trimming of the pork should be covered with hot water and cook or boiled down until they will form a jelly when cold. This gravy should be seasoned with pepper and salt and poured into the pie after it is baked.

PORK PIE PASTRY

Place in a saucepan one-third of a cupful of finely shredded beef suet, and three-quarters of a cupful of boiling water, add one and one-half tablespoonfuls of butter and a few grains of salt, stir until the suet is dissolved over a slow fire, and pour it boiling hot into four cupfuls of sifted flour, knead to a stiff paste, adding a little more warm water if required, line the mold with the dough, while it is warm, quickly place in the meat, cover and place in a hot oven before the dough becomes cold. In England the pies are shaped by experienced bakers and wraped with grease paper and baked without a mold.

CANNED PEACHES OR APRICOTS

C. L. F., Pasadena, Cal. Pour boiling water over the fruit, allow it to stand for a few minutes, pour off the water, cover with cold water, drain, and peel the fruit, cut in half and for every three quarts of fruit, use four cupfuls of sugar and three quarts of water. Place the sugar and water in a saucepan, bring to a boil and stir until the sugar is dissolved, place the peaches or apricots in sterilized jars, cover with the boiling syrup, place the top on the jar, do not put on a rubber. Fill a pan half full of boiling water, set the jar in it, place in the oven, close the oven door and allow the fruit to cook for fifteen minutes. Remove from the oven, place on the rubbers, refill the jars with more syrup, until the hot liquid runs over; place on the tops and seal tight. Set the jars where no draft will strike them until cold. Then tighten the tops.

The only fruits that are sun cooked are usually berries.

DRIED PEACHES AND APRICOTS

J. C. E., Whittier, Cal.: Cut the peaches or apricots in half, place pit surface up and place on a lathed tray. If desired to have a peeled product, loosen the skins on the peaches with a solution made of eight ounces of lye to four and one-half gallons of water, this solution should be boiling and the peaches plunged into it until the skin cracks, then remove the peaches and dip into four changes of cold water and rub off the skins with the hands, then cut in halves, remove the pit, and dry, start at a temperature of a hundred and ten (110 deg. Fahr.) and gradually raise it to 150 deg.; but if dried in the sun the trays must be taken in at night and put out in the morning and dried until no moisture remains when they are squeezed between the thumb and forefinger.

Jubilee Will Present Huge Cast of Stars

Five hundred entertainers are promised for the Hollywood Midsummer Jubilee Wednesday night in Hollywood Bowl, the annual testimonial for the benefit of the Los Angeles Sanatorium, the free tuberculosis institution at Duarte. Twenty-five headline offerings are scheduled, including large dancing ensembles and other group presentations, with some totaling as many as 125 persons.

Among the acts announced are Paul Whiteman and his band, Stars of Hollywood girls, Larry Ceballos and 100 dancing girls, Louis Silvers and his Vitaphone orchestra of 125, the Los Angeles Grand Opera chorus of 100, the South Pasadena American Legion drum corps, Clara Bow and the "It" girls, a chorus from "Whoopee," the California Steppers and a special song writers' unit, introducing leading song writers.

William Koenig, chairman of the executive committee, stated yesterday that the labor controversy at Hollywood Bowl will not affect the Midsummer Jubilee, which has no connection with the regular Bowl season program. He also reminded that tickets for the regular Hollywood Bowl concerts do not entitle holders to admission to the Midsummer Jubilee, a separate event.

Czar of Films Leaves for East

Will Hays, president of the Association of Motion-Picture Producers, left Los Angeles last night for Chicago en route to his main office in New York. He departed on the Union Pacific at 6 p.m.

The motion-picture czar had no comment to make before leaving Hollywood, according to word from his Hollywood office. He came here several weeks ago on his annual July visit to confer with members of the association and to take care of West Coast matters.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

BY MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers helpful hints on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby sleepers, walking, teething, thumb-sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in healthy habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, pants rashes, hard water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the helpful type need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

THE RESTLESS AND BORED CHILD NEEDS NEW INTERESTS

There are days when the mother is driven distracted by the child's persistent whine: "What shall I do? I don't know what to do." The usual mother is inclined to look at the heaps of toys of every known description and berate the child for his lack of appreciation of them.

"Now what other boy has a bicycle and a new airplane and all such nice toys? And yet you're always whining. Run on and play with your toys and stop bothering me."

Of course, it is hard to understand why the sewing set which kept Margery busy all last week is this week so devoid of appeal, or why the new boat over which Junior slaved is now gathering dust in the basement. Just because these toys have yielded every bit of interest for the child is what makes them so "dead" at the moment. All toys, games and occupations wear out if zealously pursued, but their interest revives if they are put away for a time. Meanwhile one must think up new things for the children to do.

The new thing may not be a game, or the purchase of a new toy—it may be nothing more than the pursuit of a new activity. The small girl may be happy if allowed to peel potatoes, or cut carrots into cubes, or help clean the silver, or rearrange the linen closet. If she can sew, she may adore hemming curtains after mother has basted them, and even small boys trot after their mothers and beg to help with the housework; that is, small boys under school age. After this, their interest in housework dies never to revive. We might as well let them help while they are willing to.

Where there are servants, children are looked upon as nuisances in the kitchen, and if there are none, the busy mother is apt to be annoyed by inexpert helpers, even while she realizes that the child will be happy and amused for several hours if allowed to dabble with housework when all other occupations and games are "worn out."

The bored child who looks with disdain at his toys, who hangs around his mother demanding to know what he shall do, may point the way to what will interest him most if the mother is on the alert to discover it. Instead of scolding him and offering barren suggestions that he go and play, ask him if he'd like to wash the glasses for the jelly-making, or cut paper tops for them or string the beans for lunch. The eagerness with which they leap to carry out these suggestions, even the tiny tots, ought to be illuminating to the mother. She is sometimes too occupied to notice that the child has outgrown his previous interests and is bored to tears with them.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

A SETTING HEN

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

Nancy and Joan decided to raise chickens. They found an packing case which they covered with tar paper and thoughtfully filled it with excelsior. Then, with some old wire fencing they built a yard. As they worked, they talked.

"We'll get two hens apiece, and then we can have eggs every morning for breakfast."

"And then in a couple of weeks we'll let two of them set and let the others just keep on laying for us."

"When the babies are old enough we'll have some eat and the rest we'll take home with us."

"And all summer the mother hens can be laying more eggs for us."

They got the hens. A helpful adult explained that they had better have a rooster if they wanted to be sure of getting fertile eggs. They were grateful for the suggestion and admitted a rooster into their scheme.

But they learned a good many things before they had run their egg factory many weeks. They discovered that hens are not machines; that, indeed, they are temperamental birds which will neither lay nor set on dictation. The children talked to the farmer who had presented them the wilful creatures and got some helpful advice.

Eventually they induced one hen to set and in due time a brood of nine was hatched. They read in poultry journals explicit directions for their care, and conscientiously carried them out. The chicken farm thrives and Nancy and Joan have learned a good deal.

They have discovered that animals function by their own laws and rhythms. They have learned something of the complex mechanism of reproduction. They have seen the maternal instinct delightfully at work as they observed the mother hen taking her family for a walk among the tall grasses, scratch worms for them and expertly catch grasshoppers for the edification of her peeping flock. They have learned as much elementary biology and physiology as is included in many a year's course in the class room.

BAZAAR ARRANGED FOR CHILDREN IN HOSPITAL

A bazaar for the benefit of the forty children of the orthopedic ward of General Hospital will be given on the hospital lawn next Wednesday between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Toys, needlework, paintings, candlesticks and other articles, made by the children under instruction of Miss Florence Mast, will be sold and the little artists will get their "rake-off" after the materials have been paid for. The public is invited.

MODERN MUSIC DISCUSSED

Summer session students at the University of Southern California and their friends will have the opportunity of hearing a public discussion of "Development of Modern Music" by Dr. Howard Hanson, director of the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y., tomorrow at 4 p.m.

RECREATION CENTER WILL BE DEDICATED

Following closely on the heels of the dedication of the Exposition Playground community clubhouse, another community building will be formally presented to the public tonight by the Los Angeles Playground and Recreation Department when the Ross Snyder recreation-center structure is dedicated with appropriate ceremonies, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Councilman Howard W. Davis, members of the Playground and Recreation Commission, officials of the Playground Department and representatives of numerous organizations will join in the ceremonies. The Ross Snyder community building will provide an auditorium, meeting rooms and numerous recreational facilities for the people of the district.

HER ILLS DISAPPEAR AFTER ARRIVAL HERE

"When one is ill there is nothing to do but come to Southern California, if one would effect a cure."

This sums up the admiration of Mrs. Walter E. Antrim of Manila, wife of the manager of the Manila Hotel, who has spent several days here and in San Diego on a visit to the United States. Mrs. Antrim, who is a niece of Paul Shoup, president of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, left Manila because of illness, but quickly recovered after arriving in Southern California, she told reporters yesterday at the Biltmore.

Mrs. Antrim left yesterday for San Francisco for a protracted stay. She will be joined there by her husband in November, she said.

*Minced chicken in tomato jelly: Drain, but do not strain, two cupfuls of juice from a large can of tomatoes. Pour into a saucepan and heat to almost boiling point. Have ready one envelope of plain gelatin which has been softened with a little cold water. Dip up some of the tomato juice and stir into the gelatin until thoroughly dissolved, then mix all together and set in a cool place until the juice begins to thicken. Now, mix in one cupful of minced chicken, one-third cupful of chopped celery, parsley and ripe olives. Pour into wet molds and place in the refrigerator until ready to serve. Serve unmolded on crisp lettuce. The amount is sufficient for four persons, and forms the protein part of the meal. Any left-over roast, such as beef, pork or mutton may be prepared in the same manner and found very appetizing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Rickets

Question: O. L. D. asks: "Will you please tell me what I can do to cure myself of rickets? I am not quite sure if that is what I have, but I thought that maybe you would explain just what rickets is."

Answer: Rickets is a disease usually caused by faulty metabolism, but may be due simply to a lack of the proper amount of bone-building minerals. Only a careful diagnosis of your case would reveal what is causing the trouble. Go to a good diagnostician, or write me again giving a more complete description of your case.

Beef Blood

Q.: W. I. D. asks: "Should a person suffering from anemia drink a pint of warm beef blood daily? If so, where could it be obtained?"

A.: This treatment has been tried many times, but I have never heard of a case receiving any benefit. Anemia can only be cured by getting rid of the systemic toxicosis which produces it. Stuffing with any kind of food is never helpful and always makes the patient worse.

Morphine

Q.: Mrs. H. writes: "Please give me information as to how to detect the use of morphine by another person. Does the drug cause the pupil of the eye to contract or expand, and soon after taking the drug does the addict break out in perspiration? Is there a hoarseness in the voice?

A.: Morphine causes a dilation of the pupils of the eyes which are large after the drug is taken. A person usually does not sweat afterward unless an excessive amount of the drug is taken. Sometimes asperin or veronal will produce the symptoms you mention in your letter. It takes a trained eye and a continual observation over a period of time even by a physician to determine whether or not one is a morphine addict. Sometimes even a physician is fooled by the addict.

WEEKLY SAILINGS—VANCOUVER AND PRINCE RUPERT TO ALASKA

Here's the breakfast for that boy of yours!

Little fellow, is he? With eyes bigger than his tummy? Or is he a big chap—with a morning paper to read and a seven o'clock "grouch".

It makes no difference—give him Heinz Rice Flakes for his next breakfast.

If he's the little fellow, these crispy, crunchy, fairy-like flakes of nut-meat goodness will vanish like magic from his breakfast bowl. If he's the big chap—his "grouch" will vanish too and his paper remain unread.

And you'll get some of the gladness, too. For you'll know you're giving your boy something that's good for him. Because Heinz Rice Flakes are made by a special, patented Heinz process which transforms the natural roughage of the rice into a pure cellulose that acts as a gentle, natural laxative!

Isn't all this good to know?

MRS. FAHY HONORED BY LEGION

Wife of Solo-Endurance Champion Made Member of Aviation Post

Members of the aviation branch of the American Legion took in their first woman "buddy" yesterday.

MRS. CLAIRE FAHY

She is Mrs. Claire Fahy, World War "veteran" and wife of Lieut. Herbert J. Fahy, world's air solo endurance record holder.

Mrs. Fahy was presented with her membership card to Los Angeles Aviation Post No. 350 at Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport by Post Commander Ferrin.

At the same time she was made a licensed pilot by Frank Knight, inspector, aeronautics branch, United States Department of Commerce. "Getting a pilot's license is enough to make any woman flyer too happy for words," Mrs. Fahy told Ferrin and a dozen flying members of the local Legion post when they surprised her with the membership card.

"But being made a full-fledged member, the only one of my kind in the world, of the Legion flyers' post, is just too much. I appreciate the honor and may all our landings be happy ones.

Mrs. Fahy's husband, along with other World War flyers who are active in Southern California aviation, is a member of Post No. 350 and his comrades investigated Mrs. Fahy's war record and found that she is the only known woman eligible to the ranks of the American Legion aviation branch.

Mrs. Fahy served for two years in the Navy as a yeoman at Washington, working on the records of gunnery practice and engineering performance.

Two Children Hurt by Autos

Struck down by automobile, two 4-year-old boys were taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital in a critical condition yesterday afternoon. They are Richard Steele of 5947½ Third avenue, and Thomas Bustin of 4220 Burns avenue.

Both were playing in the street near their homes, police said. Richard was struck by a car driven by E. J. Jensen of 5803 South Van Ness avenue. The name of the driver of the car which struck the other lad was not obtained in the preliminary investigation of the accident.

The Steele boy was said to have suffered internal injuries. The other boy also showed signs of internal injuries, it was stated.

William B. Gallagher, 53, of 5017 Argus street, Eagle Rock, was probably fatally injured when he was struck while crossing the street at Colorado Boulevard and Hermosa street. The driver is B. Paul Ikenberry, 2322 Los Collins street, police inspector, aeronautics branch, United States Department of Commerce. "Getting a pilot's license is enough to make any woman flyer too happy for words," Mrs. Fahy told Ferrin and a dozen flying members of the local Legion post when they surprised her with the membership card.

"But being made a full-fledged member, the only one of my kind in the world, of the Legion flyers' post, is just too much. I appreciate the honor and may all our landings be happy ones.

AUTOGRAPHS FEATURED

Saturday and Wednesday are "autograph" days at the Montmartre Cafe. During the luncheon hour on these days crowds gather at the entrance of the cafe on Hollywood Boulevard to see the motion-picture actors who lunch there. It is customary at the time for the players to autograph books and pictures presented by the fans, it is reported.

FILM ROLES RUMORED

Possibilities that certain clowning members of Irving Aaronson's Commanders individually may be drafted for talking comedies is evidenced by the presence almost nightly of leading fun film producers in the Blossom Room of the Hotel Roosevelt. Jack White, director-general for Educational Studios, is a constant visitor and repeated conversations with "Red" Stanley and Phil Saxe, the two featured comedy soloists of the band, have given rise to rumor that these two boys might be starred in a comedy with music.

GLASS DANCE FLOOR

A dancing floor made entirely of glass and transparent to afford a vision of running water beneath will soon be installed in the Moscow Inn, Hollywood. For some time past workmen have been engaged enlarging facilities of the popular Hollywood cafe to seat more than 1000 guests. Russian cuisine and entertainment are featured nightly with dancing to an excellent native orchestra.

OLD WORLD ATMOSPHERE

Famous artists who visit Hollywood are to be asked to hang one of their best known pictures on the walls of the Venetian Lido Room of the Hollywood Knickerbocker by A. G. Berghoff, the managing director. It is his intention to create a complete Old World atmosphere in this unusual patio. The Venetian Lido is already pointed out by many as one of the newest showplaces of the film capital.

TROUBADOURS PLEASE

Madam Helene's Rose Villa, pleasantly situated on Verdugo Boulevard, midway between Montrose and Flintridge is the scene of numerous parties given by social leaders and film players. Dining in the rustic settings that characterize the villa to music by strolling troubadours, is an unusual pleasure enjoyed by the guests.

PARIS ACT BOOKED

"Garden of Eden," elaborate artist's models posing tableaux from the Folies Bergere, Paris, will be added to "Futuristique," new musical revue, at the Pom Pom, Hollywood, tonight.

FRIML'S WORKS TO BE OFFERED

KHJ Plans Program Tonight by Noted Composer

Mirth Promised at 7:30 p.m. With Minstrel Show

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

The Don Lee station, KHJ, will present some of Friml's works at 7 o'clock this evening. One will be in the form of a duet to be given by Blythe Taylor Burns, soprano, and Gordon Berger, baritone, "Love Me Tonight." Another Friml number will be the ever-popular "Love Is Like a Firefly," to be sung by the ensemble.

A thirty-minute program of mirth is billed at 7:30 o'clock in the form of a minstrel show featuring The Roamers, a singing group; the Two Boys, Elvia Allman, Charlie Wellman and Leslie Brigham.

The 8 o'clock hour will be given over to light opera with gems from "Hit the Deck," "Wild Flower," "So Long, Letty," "Stepping Stones," "Orange Blossoms" and other popular hits.

The KHJ publicity of the day also tells us that Gene Byrnes, studio staff artist, tomorrow night will offer his forty-second composition from the Don Lee station in the form of "What Do They Do When It Rains in Guatemala." I thought you ought to know about this.

Blake Reynolds of the KHJ staff is to make the special arrangement which will be given by the dance band with Gene Byrnes carrying the vocal refrain.

OIL LAND TITLE FIGHT ENDS

Dabney-Johnston Company Suit Over Holdings in Signal Hill Area Submitted on Briefs

After testimony lasting a week the suit of the Dabney-Johnston Oil Corporation against H. H. Hitchcock and others to quiet title to oil properties on Signal Hill yesterday was submitted on briefs to Superior Judge Desmond, the last brief to be filed not later than November 1, next.

The property involved is in that section of the Signal Hill oil field known as the "Frog Pond," along Atlantic avenue. In 1923 it was owned by Burton Benwell, who leased it to Henry Noonan of Santa Rosa.

At the time the lease was made wells in the field were not being drilled much more than 4000 feet. The "Frog Pond" was in what was called "edge area," where wells around 4000 feet in depth were going off production.

DEEPER WELLS DRILLED

Noonan drilled a well to 4500 feet and when no flow of oil was found ceased operations. The property then was taken over and developed with deeper wells by the Dabney-Johnston Corporation.

Benwell, owner of the property, had assigned oil percentages to Hitchcock and some forty others. The assignees now claim an interest in the property which the oil corporation asserts constitutes a cloud on the title.

The defendants in the suit assert that since they took their assignments from the owner of the land and not from the lessee, the conveyances they received constitute a grant of real estate. The plaintiff company holds that it is the owner of the property in fee free from the claims of the defendants.

TASK BEFORE COURT

In deciding the action Judge Desmond is called upon to rule whether a transfer of interest in oil land, executed after the signing of the lease attaching to the property, is limited by the success or failure of the lease, or whether because of the language in the conveying instrument, or the circumstance attaching to the transaction, there is an actual grant or permanent transfer of an interest in the hydrocarbon content of the land.

During the course of the trial Joseph Dabney, president of the Dabney-Johnston Oil Corporation, collapsed in court with an attack of acute gastritis. He has recovered and was in court at the end of the trial, when the case was submitted.

BUILDING REPORTED PURCHASED

Press Structure Said to Have Been Bought by Bendix Corporation

The height-limit Press Building at Twelfth and Maple streets was reported purchased yesterday for approximately $1,000,000 by Vincent Bendix, president of the Bendix Aviation Corporation. The deal was declared to have been negotiated in New York where representatives of both companies have been working on it for some time.

The building adjoins the plant of the American Paulin System, Inc., which was recently consolidated with the Tiffany Manufacturing Company and the James P. Marsh Company, three manufacturers of precision pressure gauging instruments. The consolidated organization was named the General Instrument Corporation.

It is declared that the Bendix interests, which include aviation and automobile accessories and equipment, will occupy the greatest portion of the twelve floors and that the General Instrument Corporation will also be housed there.

In connection with the deal came an announcement from New York that H. E. Linden of Los Angeles, executive vice-president of the General Instrument Corporation, will be the executive in charge of all of the Bendix Aviation Corporation activities on the Pacific Coast.

THE RETURN OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"They were going toward the morning. It was a half-moon ago." Tarzan listened no longer to the young ape's tale. Was it possible this prisoner was some woman of his own race in deadly peril? Without another word the ape-man sprang into the trees and fled like a disembodied spirit eastward, in the direction of the forgotten city of Opar.

How long Jane lay in the darkness of the vault beneath the temple in the ancient city of Opar, she did not know. As her strength gradually returned, her captors watched her with increasing interest. At length came a day when they led her from her dungeon into a brilliant courtyard. She saw a stone altar in the center with dark-brown stains upon it.

They bound her ankles and her wrists. A moment later she was lifted and placed across the altar's top. During the grotesque dance of the votaries that followed, she lay frozen in horror. Nor did she require the sight of the thin blade in the hands of the high priestess as it rose slowly above her, to enlighten her further as to her doom.

As the hand began to descend, Jane succumbed to the strain, and swooned. Day and night Tarzan of the Apes raced through the primeval forest toward the ruined city in which he was positive some white woman lay either a prisoner or dead. He thought of that grim altar and increased his speed. Would he be in time to rescue her? He hoped against hope. At least he could be revenged.

DO YOU KNOW THERE'S A SEA SERPENT IN THIS LAKE? HALF AS BIG AS THE LAKE — AND IF HE CAME TO THE SURFACE HE'D SINK THIS BOAT —
SURE I KNOW IT — HAD HIM ON THE LINE YESTERDAY —
THESE SEA SERPENTS ARE THE MOST VICIOUS THINGS THAT LIVE — THEY GROW A FOOT A MINUTE — AND THEY'RE SO FEROCIOUS THAT WHEN THEY GET ABOUT THREE FEET LONG AND THEY SEE THEIR TAIL — THEY ATTACK IT — AND ONCE THEY GET HOLD THEY NEVER STOP EATING — JUST GO RIGHT THROUGH THEMSELVES — EAT EVERYTHING — HEAD — EYES — EVEN THEIR TEETH — TILL THERE IS NOTHING LEFT — THAT'S WHY YOU NEVER SEE A SEA SERPENT — HOW DID THIS ONE GET SO BIG THEN?
HONEY BUTT!
HOW DID HE GET SO BIG? WELL WHEN HE WAS JUST A LITTLE BABY — ABOUT A FOOT LONG, HE ATTACKED ONE OF THOSE BIG SIXTEEN POUND BASS OF OURS — AND WHAT A BATTLE HE PUT UP — BUT OLD MR. POLICE AVERT RIOT BY REDS

at liberty on $5000 bail each, pending appeal against deportation proceedings instituted against them by the Federal government last October. The proceedings are directed against them as aliens. Erenberg, it is asserted, is head of the Young Workers' Communist League of Russia.

TAME MEETING

The demonstration yesterday followed what the police characterized as a "tame" mass meeting held at 2706 Brooklyn avenue Wednesday night, and which resulted in the arrest of six persons, including Specter, on violation of the handbill ordinance. The "rally" was conducted at that address, when the manager of Music-Arts Hall at 233 South Broadway, discovering the nature of the session-to-be, refused the Red organization permission to hold it there.

Arraigned in Municipal Court yesterday the six pleaded not guilty and asked for a jury trial. Five of them, Irving Kreitsberg, Benjamin Levine, Edward Sandler, Harry Schneiderman and Specter, were arraigned before Judge Ambrose and their trials set for the 21st inst. All were released on $25 bail. The sixth, Mrs. Lillian Silverman, 329 North Boylston street, who with Schneiderman was arrested earlier Wednesday in front of the Goodyear Rubber plant at Sixty-eighth street and Central avenue, was arraigned before Judge Bullock. Her case was transferred to Judge Ambrose's master-calendar court, where it will be set for trial this morning. She, too, obtained her release on $25 bail.

On the police blotter, Specter's address is listed as 719 North Evergreen avenue, and Erenberg's as 3127 Wabash avenue.

CARPENTERS PROTEST

In connection with the Red activities, three men representing themselves as members of Local No. 1692, Studio Carpenters' Union, appeared yesterday before Acting United States Attorney Peterson and requested Federal action in suppressing distribution of the Communist party's literature. They gave their names as Harvey T. Butler, A. S. Roberts and W. Walken, and complained that the contents of the distributed literature is a libel on their organization, in that it leads to the erroneous impression that the local is affiliated with the Red movement.

ANTIWAR DAY OF REDS PASSES WITHOUT RIOTS

[Copyright, 1929, Associated Press]

The antiwar demonstration day sponsored by Communist organizations throughout the world passed off in an atmosphere of peace befitting its object, and left large and apprehensive forces of troops and police in the capitals of Europe with little work on their hands.

Reports from capital after capital, from the turbulent Balkans to sedate Western Europe, belied expectations on the part of the police for a day of 'riot and on the part of Communists for a day of impressive manifestations.

The most serious disturbance reported was in Canton, China, where martial law was declared for the day after grenades had been thrown in a government factory. Although such meetings as were held in European centers passed off quietly for the most part under close police surveillance, there were scattered clashes with the authorities and several score persons were added to those already in the jails.

In Moscow the day had no official character but was celebrated separately by different quarters and suburbs in the evening.

In Bearlin several thousand Communists paraded the famous Unter Den Linden without disturbance.

Paris and London were quiet, Paris reporting a few arrests.

The police themselves brought on the only international complications, when the Belgian government protested to Paris against deportation into Belgium of Communists arrested in France.

REDS BEATEN DOWN WITH OLD BANANA STALKS

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—Fifteen hundred Communist sympathizers incited by soviet plans for a world-wide anti-imperialist demonstration, waged a brief battle against the authorities at dusk this evening on the fringe of Union Park from which a cordon of uniformed policemen had barred them.

Only a handful of the 200 police on duty at the scene took part in the battle. They wielded potent, but homely and comparatively harmless weapons for riot combat. Six minutes after the first blow was struck the Communists were in full retreat and two dozen broken banana stalks, the only weapons used by the police, strewed the battlefield. With the light, dry stalks, picked up around Haymarket Square, the police were able to deliver stinging blows without breaking any heads.

RAIN AND POLICE RESERVES CALM CROWD IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—Police reserves and a sudden downpour of rain today temporarily disrupted Communist antiwar demonstrations.

A parade of the Young Communists' League bound for a mass meeting in Union Square was broken up by police on the ground no permit had been issued. Two young women were arrested accused of resisting the officers.

FORTY-TWO ARRESTED FOR PITTSBURGH AGITATION

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 1. (AP)—Thirty-nine men and three women were arrested here tonight by police who broke up two meetings of Communists celebrating International Red Day. A throng of sympathizers followed the police patrols and gathered outside the station, singing the "Internationale."

POLICE WITH DRAWN CLUBS CHARGE BOSTON REDS

BOSTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—Eight persons were arrested and scores battered about the head tonight when fifty policemen with drawn clubs charged a crowd of 1000 in the South End, gathered for observance of International Red Day. Later three men protested asserted violence by the police.

BAY CITY'S DAY OF RED PROVES ONLY PALE PINK

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—Despite the dissemination of posters calling upon Communistic followers to observe today, the "International Red Day" as one of "mass strikes and mass demonstrations," the observance turned out to be a pale pink here.

Police did not even go to the extent of sending out special squads, but did send a detail tonight to a meeting called under the auspices of the Young Communist League. The program for the meeting listed Miss Anita Whitney, 62-year-old admitted Communist leader, now awaiting trial on a felony charge, as one of the speakers, and the nine persons arrested with her for a demonstration in front of the Chinese consulate also were present.

FORTY CHILDREN TAKEN IN RAID ON RED CAMP

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 1. (AP) Asserted Communist literature, banners and other evidence of a "miniature soviet republic" were reported by Dist.-Atty. Johnson to have been seized in a raid led by him tonight upon a summer camp for the "Young Workers' Communist League" in the San Bernardino Mountains twenty-five miles east of here. Forty scantily clad children, who were described as Russians from the Boyle Heights industrial section of Los Angeles, were taken from the camp to be placed in custody of a probation officer pending further investigation.

While no arrests were made the District Attorney stated that the seized evidence will be the basis upon which the county will start abatement proceedings against the community. The children were in charge of Yetta Stromberg and several Russian men and women assistants, none of whom admitted knowing by what organization they were placed there.

The camp was located by following signs pointing to the "Young Workers' Communist summer camp for children," which were strung along a little frequented desert road leading into the mountains. Above the camp, Johnson reported, waved a red flag carrying the "black emblem of Communism, a crossed sickle and hammer." He reported seizing copies of songs bearing the titles: "Bolshevism Now is Supreme," and "Capitalism Shall Rule No Longer."

WIFE WINS DIVORCE ON LIFE THREAT PLEA

Not only was David Kile Markham a slave to intoxicating liquor, but he tried to throw his wife, Mrs. Anna May Markham, into the Detroit River, she testified yesterday before Superior Judge Beaumont when asking for a divorce. "One night, when we were living in Detroit, my husband tried to throw me into the Detroit River, but was prevented by a police officer," the wife said. The decree was granted.

MRS. PANTAGES HELD FOR TRIAL

Murder Charge for Death of Japanese Sustained

Judge Refuses Plea to Make it Manslaughter

Woman Allowed Freedom on Bail of $50,000

Mrs. Lois Pantages, wife of Alexander Pantages, theatrical magnate, was bound over to the Superior Court for trial on a charge of murder yesterday by Municipal Judge Frederickson.

The action was taken at the conclusion of Mrs. Pantages's preliminary hearing, which consumed a day and one-half, and at which numerous witnesses testified regarding the collision on June 16, last, between the defendant's automobile and one driven by Joe Rokomoto, the Japanese dying a few days later.

Dep. Dist.-Attys. Costello and Jones rested their preliminary case shortly before noon yesterday. Defense Attorney W. I. Gilbert announced he would present no testimony at the preliminary hearing, but made a plea that the charge be reduced to manslaughter.

REFUSES TO REDUCE

Judge Frederickson refused to reduce the charge, but allowed Mrs. Pantages her freedom on $50,000 bail pending her trial in Superior Court. She is scheduled to be arraigned in Superior Court at 9:45 a.m. Monday, when a date for her trial will be set.

The significance of the refusal to reduce the charge lies in the fact that the trial jury will have the opportunity to decide whether Mrs. Pantages is guilty of first-degree murd -, second-degree murder or manslaughter, or not guilty, as she has pleaded. The law specifies that a person who kills another while engaged in committing a felony may be convicted on first-degree murder. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello's contention is that Mrs. Pantages was guilty of driving an automobile while intoxicated, a felony, before and at the time she collided with Rokomoto.

A second complaint, charging Mrs. Pantages with driving an automobile while intoxicated, was temporarily placed off calendar on motion of the District Attorney's office, and with the consent of Attorney Gilbert.

The State closed its case after presenting six additional witnesses yesterday morning.

TELLS OF DRIVING

The first of these was Ralph Kenyon, 2441 North Vermont avenue, a chauffeur, who testified that he and his wife were driving west on Sunset Boulevard about thirty feet behind Rokomoto's car and were approximately in that position when the crash occurred at Sunset and Serrano. Kenyon's testimony supports that of other State's witnesses in that it placed Mrs. Pantages's car on the north side of the center line of the street at the time of the impact.

Walter Cullis, 18 years of age, 1061 North Oxford street, testified that he was standing in front of his home late in the afternoon of the same day and before the major accident, and observed an automobile, driven by a woman, swerve into Oxford street from Santa Monica Boulevard, sideswipe a parked car, narrowly miss colliding with another automobile from which two men shouted warnings, and go "zigzagging" down the street. Other witnesses have testified tending to show that the automobile seen by Cullis was driven by Mrs. Pantages.

Belle Pope, 748 Tenth Place, stenographer, testified she was seated in the front seat of a Los Angeles Railway bus on Sunset Boulevard and witnessed the accident at Sunset and Serrano.

LIQUOR ENTERS RECORD

T. M. Maloney, police ambulance driver, testified he took six persons injured in the crash to the Dickey & Cass Hospital, including Mrs. Pantages. The officer stated that it was his opinion that the woman was under the influence of liquor; that she stated that "she didn't want to go to jail," and for the officers to "get out of here." She kicked and dislodged one of the officer's hats, and when she was forcibly taken into the hospital immediately tried to telephone her husband.

L. D. Pierson and James Kavanaugh, policemen who also were at the scene of the crash, both gave the opinion that Mrs. Pantages had been drinking. Pierson said he smelled alcohol on her breath.

ALUMNAE TO DISCUSS BUILDING FUND DRIVE

Plans for the Immaculate Heart building fund campaign, September 23 to October 5, will be discussed Monday evening at a meeting of members of the alumnae association. Five new buildings are proposed for the enlarged campus, one of which, an administration building, already is under construction. This structure is on the hill above the old college buildings at Franklin and Western avenues. The next building to be erected will be a residence hall.

First Consignment Over Scheduled Route Reaches Border on Way North

Five sacks of mail, two express packages and several bundles of newspapers, set down yesterday at Tia Juana by a Pickwick Latin-American Airways plane, comprised the first consignment of air mail ever transported over regular schedule from Mexico City to the northern border.

With the northern link of the new Latin-American air line completed, the second southbound Pickwick ship will take off this morning from Grand Central Air Terminal at 7 a.m., pick up its mail load at Tia Juana, skirt the Mexican border to Nogales, and then head south for the Mexican capital.

Regular passenger and express service from Los Angeles to Mexico City and on south to Guatemalan ports will be instituted on schedule on the 18th inst., with the completion of ground facilities for passenger travel.

Probable mail contracts from the United States government will make it possible for Los Angeles and Western States' letters to be transported across the Mexican border shortly, it was indicated by Thams E. Morgan, executive head of the new airways.

Louis E. Goldsmith was at the controls of the first northbound Bach trimotored plane, while C. E. Forbes will fly today's Fairchild single-motored ship southward.

PRODUCERS TO MEET EQUITY

son, Noah Beery, Edmund Lowe, Louise Dresser and Ralph Forbes in which they said:

"Although we do not agree with all the particulars of the demands made upon you by the Actors' Equity Association through its president, Frank Gillmore, and having the best interests of all actors and of the motion-picture industry at heart, we feel these interests can be furthered by a meeting between a committee appointed by the president of your association and a committee appointed by the president of the Actors' Equity Association.

"We respectfully urge your favorable consideration. We have ascertained that this conference will be entirely agreeable to the president of the Actors' Equity Association."

CONCESSION SEEN

Equity may, in an effort to arbitrate the controversy with the producers, make a move like it did when it forced New York legitimate stage producers to yield in 1919, according to some who have been observing the situation. In that situation Equity permitted New York producers to use 20 per cent non-Equity members, but required that the other 80 per cent be Equity members. Picture producers here entered into an agreement substantially like that with studio craftsmen unions a few years ago. The producers agreed to employ 50 per cent union men and agreed to certain other union demands. With that great advantage, the unions effected a situation in the studios that amounts to virtually 100 per cent unionization at this time.

The time and place of today's conference was not announced.

Wampas Star and Husband Admit Split-up

Dorothy Gulliver, Wampas baby star, and her husband, C. W. "Win" De Vito, assistant film director, have come to the parting of the ways. Miss Gulliver admitted the separation yesterday and declared she hoped it is only temporary.

DOROTHY GULLIVER

"We parted on the best of terms," she said, "and there is every prospect of a reconciliation in the near future. We were just unable to get along and I am sure things will work out satisfactorily for us."

Miss Gulliver and her husband separated more than a week ago.

The couple were married in Los Angeles in 1926 and kept the event a secret for six months.

TWELVE HURT IN P.E. CRASH

One May Die as Result of Electric Train Hitting Truck on Crossing in Wilmar

One man received injuries that may prove fatal and eleven others received minor injuries in a collision between an eastbound Pacific Electric train and a truck at Del Mar avenue, Wilmar, yesterday at 9:37 a.m.

F. Kuida, R.F.D. 1, Box 316, El Monte, driver of the truck, received a basal skull fracture which physicians assert may cause his death. He was removed to the Garfield Hospital at Monterey Park.

According to Deputy Sheriffs Weir and Sorg, who investigated the accident, the train was going east when Kuida drove his truck in its path. Witnesses asserted that the train was traveling at between fifty and sixty miles an hour.

Others injured in the accident are Harry W. Gray, 1665 Ben Loma Drive, Glendale; Fred F. Dehn, 1241 Huntley Drive, Los Angeles; Mrs. J. C. Wells, Victorville; Dr. M. D. Dole, and three children of Redlands; Mrs. Minnie Buntman, 1331½ Mariposa street, Los Angeles; Mrs. Rachael Brody, 806 Citrus avenue, Los Angeles; Mrs. S. G. Vohlkhrt, 5829 Haas avenue, Los Angeles, and Miss Louise Crow, 768 Rialto street, San Bernardino. All those suffering from minor injuries were treated at El Monte hospitals.

According to R. C. Scag, motorman, and A. L. Matthews, conductor, the wigwag signal was working at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Lawrence Testifies at Hymie Cohen Hearing

Employment as Dispenser of Drugs Confessed

Morphine Identified as Part of Supply She Bought

Turning State's evidence against Hymie F. Cohen, characterized by Dist.-Atty. Fitts as head of a Los Angeles dope ring, Mrs. Mary Lawrence, 40 years of age, yesterday testified in Municipal Judge Stafford's court, where Cohen and Mrs. Millie Smith are undergoing preliminary hearing on charges of sale and possession of morphine, that she has been employed as a dope saleswoman by Cohen since last January. She identified $55,000 worth of morphine, introduced by Dept. Dist.-Atty. Bialock as evidence, as part of a supply which she and her husband, she said, purchased from Cohen on February 12, last.

A total of 100 ounces of the drug was delivered to them by Cohen at Mrs. Smith's residence, 920 West Third street, she declared. Seventy ounces were placed in a small trunk which she put in a storage warehouse immediately, and which she took out July 26, last, in the presence of Captain of Detectives Seagtr of the police narcotic squad and Chief of Detectives O'Brien of the District Attorney's office, and turned over to them. Her first dope transaction with Cohen, she declared, was in December, 1928, when she purchased ten ounces of morphine from him for $300.

DOUBLE-CROSSING HINTED

An intimation that she believed she had been double-crossed by Cohen was revealed in her testimony when she admitted that she and her husband now are facing trial by Superior Court on narcotic charges, and related a conversation with Cohen in which she told him that "Tony La Barba," introduced to them by Cohen, was responsible for their arrest. Cohen visited her in jail on July 4, she testified, and told her that he would be unable to obtain her liberty on bail.

She explained that she was picked up by Emmett Mohan, an employee of Cohen's, at Second street and Western avenue on July 26 at Cohen's direction and that she met him near Fourth and La Brea streets after a rapid and circuitous ride and then took a two-hour ride over Mulholland High Way and the beaches. She told him that another bail bondsman than the one Cohen had talked to had taken her out of jail and she asked Cohen what he had done with his morphine. Cohen told her, she said, that he knew Seager and O'Brien were after him and that he had gotten rid of all his "stuff," advising her to do the same. She offered to return it to Cohen, she declared, only to be told that "I wouldn't touch it for anything in the world."

CROSS-QUIZZING DUE

A bitter cross-examination of Mrs. Lawrence in an effort to break down her testimony is expected by M. G. Phillips, defense attorney, when the case is resumed this morning.

Capt. Seager, the principal witness, aside from Mrs. Lawrence, called by Bialock yesterday, gave the details of Cohen's arrest at his service station at Fifth street and Western avenue and the search of his home at 109 South Hobart Boulevard. He told of the finding of a secret room entered by an electrically controlled door and its contents, 200 gallons of liquor. Seager also testified regarding the trunk of morphine turned over to him by Mrs. Lawrence and a larger trunk found at Cohen's home which Bialock asserts contained the morphine before it was sold to Mrs. Lawrence.

FIRE INSPECTORS MUST WEAR WHITE UNIFORM CAP

All members of the fire department of uniform rank assigned to duty in the fire-prevention and public relations bureaus below the title of captain are to wear white caps and badges with the word "inspector" on them, as the result of an order passed by the Fire Commission yesterday on motion of Commissioner Rex Laws.

The object is to obviate any doubt from the public mind that they are on official business when they make inspections for fire prevention. Heretofore, while on inspection duty, the badges worn gave no intimation of such duty.

On motion of Laws the commission, designated Capt. Victor E. Pierret, in charge of eight captains and forty men of the fire-prevention bureau, a battalion chief. The same title was given to Engineer Jack P. Uhrig, in charge of the stores department, consisting of $100,000 worth of fire-equipment stock.

A request by Rev. Charles M. Kilgore of Inglewood, asking permission to erect a gospel tent for the week beginning on the 1st inst., on two lots on the east side of Menlo avenue, half a block south of Manchester avenue, approved by the Building and Safety Commission subject to approval by the Fire Commission, was referred to the fire chief.

SARTORI BACK FROM EUROPE

Bank President Describes Conditions Abroad

France and Germany Gain, England Lagging

Continued Armament Race Menace to Peace

J. F. Sartori, president and chairman of the executive committee of the Security-First National Bank, returned yesterday with Mrs. Sartori from Europe, where he went following the consolidation of the two institutions March 30. He reported France enjoying great prosperity and Germany increasing gains, while England is lagging. Crops, hotels and beer gardens are flourishing, and the people look happy, he said, but armaments and their costs are increasing.

J. F. SARTORI

"It is idle to talk about permanent peace if Europe continues to build up its military establishments," said Sartori.

CONDITIONS HERE GOOD

He is pleased to find that Southern California continues to be classed with those sections of the country where business is best.

"Bank deposits in the country at large have fallen off materially in the last six months," he said. "We are fortunate in the high level we have been able to hold. The general economic situation in the United States is still good, and Los Angeles does not seem to have fallen behind the rest of the country."

BANK PROGRESSES

He expressed pleasure with the progress which has been made since the consolidation of the Security and First National banks into one of the first ten banks of the country. Mr. Sartori said:

"The June 30 statement of three months' operation speaks for itself. The economies anticipated as a result of the consolidation are steadily being realized, though their full effect will not be apparent for a year or more. At the same time, I believe we are giving an improved service to the public. The basis of our consolidation, namely, mutually acceptable assets and a five-year guarantee of assets by the respective Securities companies, has proved most satisfactory. It frees officers for the constructive work of the new bank."

RULING MADE ON INFANT'S PARENTAGE

Otto Zinnicker Declared Father of Galé Pickard by Judge Blake

After hearing the testimony on both sides, Superior Judge Blake yesterday held that Otto Zinnicker is the father of little Gale Dean Pickard, 13 months of age, and ordered him to pay $30 a month for her support. The action was brought for the baby by Mrs. Margaret Steinbuhl Pickard, the child's mother, as a guardian. Zinnicker denied parentage. She asked $50 a month for the support of the child.

Mrs. Pickard testified that after her associations with Zinnicker in 1927 and she discovered her condition, she went to an employment agency where she met Ernest Pickard, whom she paid $350 to marry her in order to give her coming infant a name. Later, she said, Pickard deserted her and she obtained a divorce. She contended that Zinnicker is the father of the baby.

The defendant asserted that the baby was born while the mother was married to Pickard. An effort was made to show that Mrs. Pickard's meeting with Pickard at the employment agency was not a chance meeting, that the couple knew each other and associated with each other in Chicago before they came to California.

THREE HELD FOR TRIAL AS BANDITS

Details of Grauman's Chinese Theater Hold-up Related in Court

Details of the robbery of Grauman's Chinese Theater on July 15, last, were told yesterday in Municipal Judge Ballard's court, while Marvin F. Michaels, 18 years of age; Walter W. Price, 24, and Lawrence E. McMullen, 27, were undergoing preliminary hearing on charges of committing the hold-up. All three were held for trial in Superior Court under $50,000 bail. Price and Michaels were also ordered held on the additional charge of robbing George L. Miller of Oakland of the automobile in which they made their getaway after the robbery and Price and McMullen on an additional charge of robbing Charles Ginsberg of $220 at his residence at 1062 North Western avenue on July 14, last. The youths were defended by Attorney Stanley Visel.

Detective Lieutenant Hugh Crowley declared that he was accosted by the three as he was about to place a bag containing $15,000 theater receipts which he was to take to a bank, in his automobile. He threw the bag into the rear of the car and turned to answer, he said, in response to questions by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burgess, and when told "Fork over the money or we'll kill you," ran behind the car, drew his revolver and began shooting. The youths seized the bag and fled westward.

During the gun battle, James P Thorpe, Mormon missionary who was passing the theater at the time, was wounded by a bullet from the gun of one of the bandits, witnesses said. Robert W. McEdney, theater employee, testified that he turned the bag containing cash and checks over to Crowley and that he heard the firing.

McMullen, wounded by Crowley in the gun fight, was later captured hiding in the shrubbery near the theater, according to witnesses. Miller said that he had just started his car, which had been parked near the theater, when Price and Michaels ran up, thrust their revolvers in his face and made him get out, using his car to make their escape.

AIR LINE'S GROWTH TOLD BY OFFICIAL

"The close of its first two months of operation over the San Francisco-Los Angeles line finds our company flying passengers and express a total distance of more than 35,000 miles per month," says a statement by Harry Sperl, president of Continental Air Express. "Less than sixty days ago, before our first ship went into service to the Bay District, we were flying passengers but 250 miles per day." Continental Air Express, in addition to its Los Angeles-San Francisco service, also operates local lines into the San Joaquin Valley, and contemplates further extension of its service south and east in the near future, it is said.

Mayor Denies Car Searching Responsibility

Disclaiming any responsibility for the wholesale searching of cars in the City Hall garage, Mayor Porter yesterday repeated what he said to several hundred city employees on Wednesday at the meeting at the Yale-street yards.

Many city employees and officials park their private cars in the garage, and for the past four weeks the City Hall has been thrown into a furore of suspicion occasioned by the number of persons who find car trunks rifled, seats turned up and pockets turned out. Locks on cars have been broken and many articles reported missing.

"If this has been going on I know nothing of it," Mayor Porter said. "I don't work that way."

Mrs. Fawcett Wins Round Two

The second round in the legal controversy between Mrs. June D. Fawcett and Mrs. Harriet H. Binney, against whom Mrs. Fawcett recently was awarded a jury verdict of $10,000 for alienating the affections of Clyde H. Fawcett was won by Mrs. Fawcett yesterday, when Superior Judge Murray decided Mrs. Binney owed Mrs. Fawcett $550 on a note.

Mrs. Fawcett had sued for $800, in a complaint prepared by Attorney Michael Narlian, asserting the money due on a note secured by a trust deed. The note was originally signed by Mrs. Fawcett's husband, who assigned the debt to his wife.

ANN HARDING SECURES PART

Laura La Plante to Star in Rita Weiman Story

Gwen Lee, Marion Schilling Take New Leads

Kathryn Crawford Plays in "Red Hot Rhythm"

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

When "This Thing Called Love" reaches the screen, via the Pathe talkers, it will have in its starring feminine role no less charming and skillful an actress than Ann Harding.

At least this is the present plan, although, as the picture is not to be started for several weeks, something may intervene to change Pathe's ideas in this regard. At present Miss Harding is playing the feminine lead in Ronald Colman's current Goldwyn starring vehicle.

Miss Harding is from the stage, and so far has been extremely successful in the talking films, so that Pathe considers her one of the best bets in pictures, and is planning big things for her.

UNIVERSAL STAR HAS IMPORTANT VEHICLE

Laura La Plante's nice vacation at her Malibu Beach home is going to be rudely cut short. Universal has, however, compensatingly found a good story for her.

LAURA LA PLANTE

The story is Rita Weiman's "Poor Sport," which promises to offer the star an excellent acting chance.

Edwin Lowe, Jr., is writing the adaptation, dialogue and continuity, and work is to commence within a fortnight.

So far no director, leading man, or other members of the cast have been selected.

Gwen Lee's New One

Gwen Lee will have the leading feminine part in "Lord Byron of Broadway," according to word received yesterday from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

GWEN LEE

Another charming young actress, who will have the ingenue lead in the picture, is Marion Schilling, formerly of the stage, who won a place for herself on Broadway in "Kempy."

By the way, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios are looking for a new name for Miss Schilling, deeming her present one not musical enough for the movies.

Pathe Borrows Universal Actress

So much do Pathe officials think of Kathryn Crawford for the leading feminine role in their forthcoming production of William Conselman's story, "Red Hot Rhythm," that they have borrowed that promising young actress from Universal for the part.

KATHRYN CRAWFORD

Miss Crawford has been rapidly advancing in screen popularity ever since she left her role in the stage production of "Hit the Deck," and her part in the Conselman story will be one of the best she has taken.

Alice Terry's Plans

Not until September will Alice Terry again put screen make-up on her face. Then she is to appear in Rex Ingram's first talking picture, to be made in Nice. So far Ingram has made no definite selection of a vehicle, though it may quite likely be, says Miss Terry, a story called "The Gypsy." The picture is to be made for an English producing company.

Miss Terry arrived suddenly from Europe Tuesday night, without warning to her friends. She is dividing her visiting time between her mother's home and that of Dorothy Sebastian, an old friend.

We met Miss Terry at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios yesterday, and found her looking more beautiful than ever. She is here, she said, to look over the talking pictures and try to discover which is the best method of production. Ingram's next picture will be a talker.

She declared that Rex Ingram, who is her husband, is now in excellent health. He has just purchased a new home in Nice for her. That is, the place is an historic and picturesque old villa, but has been transformed into a modern home with all the up-to-date conveniences.

Lillian Roth in New Role

Lillian Roth's noted singing of blues songs has established her so securely in dialogue pictures that she has just been assigned to her third major singing role in a Paramount picture, even before the completion of her first, according to an announcement from B. P. Schulberg.

LILLIAN ROTH

Her most recent casting is that of the second feminine lead in Paramount's production of "The Vagabond King," in which Dennis King, star of the Ziegfeld stage show, is to be starred.

"The Vagabond King" will be directed by Ludwig Berger. O. P. Heggie, as King Louis XI, is the only other member of the cast selected, besides King, Jeannette MacDonald and Miss Roth.

ROSENDAHL OFF FOR LAKEHURST

Commander Hurries East to Meet Graf Zeppelin

Dirigible-Base Board Will Continue Inspection

Mines Field Regarded as Having Won Favor

Dispersal of the navy dirigible-base board headed by Rear-Admiral Moffett, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, which has been inspecting sites on the Pacific Coast offered for establishment of the proposed $5,000,000 dirigible base, began last night with the departure of Lieutenant-Commander Charles E. Rosendahl for Lakehurst, N. J.

Rosendahl is hurrying East before the entire completion of the inspection tours so that he may supervise the landing on Sunday of the Graf Zeppelin, now out over the Atlantic, at the New Jersey base. He has been appointed by the Navy Department as navigator of the German dirigible on the coming trip around the world, and expects to leave Lakehurst on the 7th inst. for the 18,000-mile flight. The present schedule will bring the airship here on her eastward swing from a stop at Tokio about August 29.

CHRONOMETER PRESENTED

Just prior to his departure Rosendahl was presented with a special type chronometer, which he will use on his world flight and for his future navigating of lighter-than-air craft. The gift was tendered by a committee from the Chamber of Commerce. During his stay here members of the committee heard the former commander of the U.S.S. Los Angeles and the navigator of the ill-fated U.S.S. Shenandoah express a desire for this particular instrument for his personal use. The presentation was in the nature of a surprise, and explained as a token of the high regard felt for Rosendahl and a wish to provide him with a gift that would find daily use in his future service.

An additional inspection tour of two sites is scheduled for today by Admiral Moffett and the remaining members of the selection board. It is understood that the proposed fields to be given a second investigation are the Mines Field and a site about nine miles east of Long Beach.

FAVOR INDICATED

Close followers of the investigation and inspections by the dirigible-base group see in the second trip today an indication that this district is favored for the proposed plant. Others see Camp Kearney in San Diego as the final choice after the members of the board return to Washington and complete their study of the offered sites on the Coast.

The tour today will be made from the blimp Volunteer, operated here by the Goodyear Company and which has been used by the dirigible board for a number of air inspection trips.

Admiral Moffett is scheduled to arrive here early today from San Diego. Commander Rosendahl returned yesterday in order to make his train connections. Rear-Admiral Joseph M. Reeves, member of the Navy General Board and a member of the Moffett base board, and Commander Garland Fulton and Lieutenant-Commander E. L. Marshall, aircraft construction experts, will leave tonight for Washington, but Admiral Moffett will remain here until Monday.

Wife of Singer Asks Separate Maintenance

In New York, Michael Bohnen, stage singer, tried to make his wife, Mary Bohnen, known on the stage as Mary Lewis, jump out of a window on the fourteenth floor of an apartment, she asserts in her petition for separate maintenance on file yesterday.

In Paris, Mrs. Bohnen continues in her complaint filed by Attorney Charles W. Cradick, he knocked her down and pulled her around the floor by the hair.

In Berlin, still varying his methods, according to environment, he is accused of knocking her against a door, so hard that the door was burst off its hinges.

Back in Los Angeles, Mrs. Bohnen says, her husband slapped her and slammed her against a wall. And so she sued him.

IDEALS OF BOWL ARE MANIFEST

Selected Soloists Provide Splendid Concert

High Enthusiasm Evidences Applause for Program

Olga Steeb, Kisselburgh and Lisa Roma Gain Honors

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Loyalty to the Hollywood Bowl, and to its ideals, formulated and built up during eight seasons of concert-giving, was fittingly demonstrated, in the character of a special program and in the reception accorded the music by the audience last evening. Ten thousand persons attended, and were enthusiastic in their approval of the solo numbers by singularly qualified artists, who filled the customary two hours' time devoted to the renditions, and even exceeded that somewhat. Contrary to the rule, scarcely anybody left the outdoor amphitheater until the presentation was over.

The crowd manifested entire approbation for the new policy as established. Not at any time this season has there been any applause by equal than tendered Olga Steeb for her pianistic performance, which proved an especial delight to the listeners. Those who shared most liberally in the approval included Lisa Roma, Alexander Kisselburgh, Dorothy Wagner, the Michio Ito dancer, and the Lyric Club, the woman's chorus.

The choice of artists was representatively made for the initial event of this type. Indeed, considering that all arrangements had to be undertaken in the space of two days, the program achieved an amazing and superlative interest, and inclined to show that a variation from exclusively orchestral offerings would enjoy marked popularity. An ideal evening, too, added much to the enjoyableness and attractions of the event.

All the soloists had volunteered their services out of a spirit of friendship and co-operation. In addition to those mentioned, Dr. Howard Hanson, director of the Eastman School of Music, and Albert Rappaport of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, garnered warm plaudits.

Miss Steeb's rendition in "The Blue Danube" transcription for the piano was an outstanding number, limpid in tone quality, and rich in technical finish. The composition is familiar, but under the highly perfect conditions last evening renewed its charm for all listeners. The cheers which greeted her playing of it were evidence of the remarkable effect that she had exerted on her listeners. She was called back for her encore, and gave the "Dedication" (Schumann-Liszt) with marked charm.

A luscious vocal quality enabled Lisa Roma to obtain a most favorable impression. To this may well be added decided feeling in interpretation. Miss Roma is a prima donna soprano of the Berlin and Philadelphia grand opera companies, destined to appear in concert here during the winter season, and she has gifts that will unquestionably draw attention to her at that time. She is recalled as the assisting artist to Maurice Ravel during his visit several years ago. She sang the "Ritorna Vincitor" from "Aida," and responded to applause with "At Dawning," by Cadman, and "Still Wie die Nacht," by Bohm, both of which seemed especially suitable to the environment of the Bowl.

Alexander Kisselburg is an exceedingly competent singer, heard here a week ago in "Carmen." His baritone voice is of exceptionally even quality and he exhibits unusual intelligence in its use. His selections included "Just For Today," by Blanche Seaver; "Early in the Morning" (old English); "Gum" by Geoffrey O'Hara and "The Island of Gardens" by Coleridge Taylor. His beautifully subdued interpretation of "Songs My Mother Taught Me" given as an encore is something to be remembered. He undertook the difficult task of opening the program.

The Lyric Club, limited in numbers because of the absence of many members on vacation, pleased by the excellence of their voice blending in "Last Night" by Clokey; "Bird of the Wilderness," Horsmann, and "The Zincali" by David Stanley Smith. J. B. Poulin directed the club. The members were seated on the stage during the entire first portion of the program.

Dr. Hanson played three of his own compositions, "March to the Bells," a transcription of the slow movement of his "Nordic" symphony and Clog Dance. Mr. Rappaport sang "M'Appari" from "Martha," a Neapolitan song, and the "Volga Boat Song" as an encore.

Dorothy Wagner danced three Scriabin preludes, and followed with a fourth as an encore given in the very individual style of the Ito school of ballet. The audience was inclined to insist on a further encore.

Mrs. Hennion Robinson acted as accompanist for the majority of those taking part, others who assisted including Gwendoline Brain and Frank Darvas. Especially interesting was the manner in which the program gained increasing interest with the Steeb and Roma appearances during the latter portion.

Actress Places Great Faith in Human Nature

Rose E. Tapley, who is entertaining audiences at the Vine Street Theater with rare bits of comedy in "The Jade God," William E. Barry's melodrama, has an overflowing faith in the goodness of humanity.

More than ten years ago she lost a gold watch set with diamonds and she still believes that some day the person who found the watch will locate her and return it. In 1917 Miss Tapley served as official hostess at a national motion-picture exposition in Chicago and at the conclusion of the exposition she was presented with a gold watch engraved "To Rose E. Tapley, From Her Boys." Several months later she lost the watch.

"I would still give a large reward for its return, for its sentimental value to me is larger than its intrinsic worth," she said.

'STEMPENYU' FURNISHES HILARITY

Schwartz and Yiddish Art Players Delight Audience at Biltmore

BY JACOB COOPER

It was unrestrained comedy of the rib-tickling variety which the Yiddish Art Players, under the direction of Maurice Schwartz, presented last night at the Biltmore Theater. In "Stempenyu, the Fiddler," Sholom Aleichem forgot the woes of his race and in his story of the philanderings of this Hungarian musician, built a series of hilarious scenes to which Maurice Schwartz, in his dramatization and production, put the finishing touch.

Lamar Freed in the title role was happily cast. His portrayal was of the type of philanderer who is sincere with every woman. Married to a shrew, he finds expression in his amours and at a wedding falls in love with another man's wife, whose part was taken with a whimsical humor as only Celia Adler can play it. Though she is very faithful to her husband, yet she is quite romantic, especially when it promises to relieve the tedium of living with her self-satisfied young husband, Moishe Mendel. This latter role was portrayed by Maurice Schwartz, who exhibited a supercraftsman's ability in deftly drawn comedy.

It would be hardly apt to call this play slapstick, yet it was more than comedy. It was more a series of caricatures of old country types. Every member of the large cast verified off high honors. Isidore Cashier came out of his usually heavy characterizations in which audiences have become accustomed to seeing him, and added an airy touch of humor as one of the members of Stempenyu's orchestra. Other well-drawn characters were portrayed by Anna Appel, Morris Strassberg, Ben-Zion Katz and, in fact every member of the troupe.

Twelve scenes made up the entirety of the play and in each one new and highly clever effects held the audience throughout, leaving them in tears caused by their gales of laughter which, even without the rousing ovation that accompanied each fall of the curtain, was tribute enough to the work of these artists.

"Twin Beds" is Series of Complexities

BY P. K. S.

"No twin beds, no wedding." Thus Patsy Ruth Miller lays down the law to Jack Mulhall at Loew's State this week. And thus there is a wedding, and thus there are twin beds. You can imagine the complications that result when Armand Kalis, a virtual stranger, unwittingly spends the bridal night in one of them. Hilarious? Hilarious isn't the word.

This ancient farce, one of the "if-you'll-only-let-me-explain" species which flourished when A. H. (Al) Woods was a much younger man than he is today, has been remade by First National with Vitaphone trimmings. This may be taken to mean that a chorus, a theme song and a theme-song singer have been added. The theme song is "If You Were Mine." Mr. Kalis sings it, and Mr. Mulhall later repeats the refrain himself. If the audience isn't whistling it on the way out, that's no fault of the cast.

Al Santell has directed better pictures than "Twin Beds," and Loew's State has shown them. Still, one cannot be too captious about these things. They just are, and there's an end on't. A matinee throng yesterday chuckled and giggled throughout the familiar exhibition, and when the lady next to me expressed her reaction at the finish as "Laugh? I thought I'd die!" I could do no more than fervently echo it—almost, but not quite, to the letter.

A lovely setting devised by Fanchon and Marco is the most appealing item of the current "Garden" idea, on the stage. One of the ensemble numbers is unusual and also somewhat disconcerting, to say the least. The mythological reference here is to Janus, the girls making their appearance with not one but two faces apiece. Nature's shortcomings are thus brought sharply into focus; the manifold advantages that would accrue to the motorist, for instance, with eyes to the rear as well as the front, are simply tremendous. The only drawback would be to the family man, with more mouths to feed.

Harry Jolson shows up as a certain copy (No. 13) of the illustrious Al. He rolls his eyes beneath the cork and cries mammy in approved fashion, but you can't get very excited about it. More successful in their appointed tasks are Harm and Nee, Parker and Mack, Vina Zolls and Rube Wolf and band.

PLAYHOUSE GIVES ITALIAN ROMANCE

"Enchanted April" Presents Light and Graceful Comedy

Spring has come to the Pasadena Community Playhouse. April is there, "Enchanted April," adapted from the novel of Kans Campbell. April, Italy and romance weave into the plot. Its light comedy, fairly graceful, is never boring and often good fun. Charm is striven for rather heavily and quaintness. Plausibility, reality are not expected from springtime and romance, but one deplores the lack of reasonableness in April's ending. It is a makeshift piecing, which only does what it's supposed to do—ring down the curtain.

Lighting and scenic effects add beauty and color. To further convey that laughter and song of Italy, bright-costumed singers perform during the intermissions. Out of a capable cast, the work of Alice Turner, Cyril Armbrister, Vangy Belhf, Eve Robertson and Robert Young must be mentioned. Miss Turner in her role of Lady Carolyn, is the symbol of April enchantment. She has a pleasant amount of variety and an easy poise. Mr. Armbrister furnishes all that is elegant in leading men and waits around admirably for the heroine to change her mind. Every chance is given Robert Young to burlesque his characterization of the overworked husband. He takes no heed and therein lies some of the best comedy of the evening.

An odd slant on the story creates an atmosphere of expectancy. A sketchy description reveals four ladies, strangers, resolving one rainy afternoon to run away from it all and meditate by the Mediterranean. All look forward to sort of a month's day-dream. Once ensconced in the wisteria and pansies of the villa, they find it not so easy. Neglected husbands drop in. The landlord turns suitor for Lady Carolyn's hand. The entire purpose is to drill home to the onlooker that spring is in the heart, if you can find it. Wherever there is a lapse, Mrs. Lottie flutters in bursting with moonlight and good will toward men and starts things going again. Her strenuous spirit rights the wrongs and saves the day.

This sermon delivered in the spirit of fun is another Gilmor Brown production. It will run till the end of next week and presents besides the mentioned, Messrs Pitcher, Charles Levison, Sharley Simpson and Hazel Meek.

"Smart Set" Revue Starts at Million

Using Mantell's Manikins with the Million Dollar chorus in the "Smart Set" Revue which started yesterday, the theater presents an unusual and novel act. In his third week, Joe Roberts, banjo ace, receives rounds of applause with his two numbers, one being the "Rosary." Eddie Brown, a young chap who was on the bill last week, is held over and again conducts the orchestra. Brown sings several songs in addition to offering some clever patter during his introductions.

Kaitri and Martin dance their way into the graces of the audience and are well received with their military dance. The Million Dollar chorus offers several excellent numbers this week. A toe dance by the ensemble is their best.

Johnny Roberts, recently seen as the bagpipe player in the photoplay "Innocents of Paris," appears on the bill in a separate vaudeville act. Morris supplies the greater part of the comedy of the bill. Augmenting the revue this week, the Million Dollar is showing "The Man I Love," co-starring Richard Arlen and Mary Brian. In addition to this talkie, a fashion review, talking comedy and Pathe sound News are included.

Pantages Shows Backstage Film

"Melody Lane," a picture that strikes at the heart and takes one backstage into a three-a-day vaudeville life, is the feature attraction which stars Eddie Leonard in his first talking, singing and dancing role on the screen at the Pantages Theater, starting tomorrow.

"Melody Lane" is a trim, human and appealing story by Joe Sterling. Josephine Dunn, blonde graduate of Ziegfeld's Follies, plays opposite Leonard as his wife in vaudeville, who has aspirations to become a dramatic actress. Others are Huntley Gordon, Georgia Stone, Jane La Verne and Rose Coe.

The vaudeville bill is headed by two acts, Margot Morel with Hart Osborn and the Osborn Girls and Billy Fields and company in "A Night in Greenwich Village." Other acts are Reili and Lopell, Levan and Bernie, and Lane and Lee.

BIRMINGHAM FOLK SEEN AT GROVE

"Come Seven," Cohen's Negro Comedy, Acted to Hilt by Lafayette Cast

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Octavus Roy Cohen's Birmingham, Ala., than which there is no Birminghamer, was incarnated last evening at the Orange Grove Theater by the Lafayette Players. This is the colored troupe which, after a season at the Lincoln Theater—a season devoted, with fine democracy, to everything from "Her Unborn Child" to "Salome"—went into temporary retirement in the movies of Hollywood, and there remained until lured forth by Robert Levy and the script of a comedy called "Come Seven."

The result of their venture is gratifying. How closely Cohen comes to depicting a people peculiar to the South is a secondary matter, I think, when the virtues of their humor, as set forth by him, are inspected. They will be found broad in the extreme sense of the word; they rely for much of their punch on a distortion of the English language; and those who possess them must certainly be caricatures. It is a matter of, if I may paraphrase a line from the play, all comedies being the same, only some are more so than others. This one isn't.

"Come Seven" has, for instance, the advantage of being performed by a cast which, if it is not from the South, still owns a blood relationship with Cohen's amusing Birminghamers. These actors are manifestly enjoying every moment of their entrances and their exits; their speeches are shouted out with a gusto which would do credit to an auditorium three times the size of the Orange Grove. And the spirit is contagious.

All the characters are present: the vampish Vista Goins, who "wears a dress that needs no explanation;" Lawyer Ryan Chew, whose minimum retainer fee is $25; Florian Slappey, who hides a wily mind beneath a flamboyant exterior; Probate Nuff, the detective who deduces, after a profound minute of concentration, that the theft with which the piece is primarily involved was "either an outside job or an inside job;" Lenore Mabby, Lithia Rilvens, Urias and Elmvir Nesbit and the rest.

Among them, Laura Bowman contributes a rather superior portrayal of Elmvir, Evelyn Preer of Vistar and Edward Thompson of Slappey. However, there is really small distinction—Cleo Desmond, Sidney Kirkpatrick, Lawrence Criner, Malcolm Patton and the few others enter into the thing with whole souls.

"Come Seven" is a fary cry from life as we know it; there is a deal of talk for its own sake, and nothing more, but the comedy, with a song or two thrown in, will furnish you with a "different" evening," the like of which you cannot find elsewhere in town. Last night's show, sponsored by the Christies, attracted a number of celebrities from the film colony; whether you yourself will go to see it depends largely upon how your taste run—or, in the inquiring tones of Octavus Roy Cohen, "Is you is, or is you ain't."

Melodrama of Press Starts at Boulevard

The casual visitor at the Boulevard this week, where "Protection" is being shown, may come away with an impression of a lurid melodrama in which an enterprising news hound, camera hugged tightly to his chest, soft felt hat pulled down over his eyes, relentlessly pursues and harasses a tuxedo-clad bootleg king.

Less casually inclined and more curious, he may have his imagination whetted to a fine point by the unexplained disappearance of one of the leading characters of the film, Dorothy Burgess.

It just isn't fair. Even in a melodrama, everything should be explained to satisfaction in the end.

Benjamin Stoloff, who is given credit for this Fox production, doesn't play square with his audiences. Dorothy, a dangerous menace, betrays her unscrupulous lover to the newspapers. And he, cur that he is, advances upon her with a murderous gleam in his eye. Benjamin then draws the curtain. Was Miss Burgess sent to an early death? And if so, why did not the zealous news hounds investigate? Was she only beaten to a pulp and permitted, bruised and shrinking, to slink away? Mr. Stoloff and Miss Burgess owe some explanation to their public. What happened?

"Protection," as it may already have been gleaned, has to do with the earnest desire of an honest newspaperman to rid his city of a dastardly rum-runner. As the story has been handled, it is unbelievable and ridiculous. In an effort to attain sharp and startling realism, newspaper work has been burlesqued cheaply and without excuse. And in a measure, worthy rum-runners also have just cause for complaints.

Robert Elliott, as the managing editor, gives the most sustained and believable performance of the cast. Even he is handicapped by the lengths to which the story is carried. Paul Page looks handsomely romantic, and as if he might be an actor of parts in some other vehicle. Dorothy Ward, although not billed, steals most of the feminine footage. She is a vivacious, amusing piece of which no doubt a great deal more will be seen in the future.

A Laurel and Hardy silent comedy, news reel and Lynn Cowan's stage show, band, girls, and dance acts, complete the bill.

AFRICAN DRUM HERE

An African bongo drum, jungle call of the Uganda tribes, has been received at Gay's Lion Farm, El Monte, and will be used to summon Numa and his troupe of 150 African lions to the different arenas for their daily exhibitions under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gay. Set at intervals on hilltops, the bongo drum is used as a means of communication in the heart of the jungle, the tempo and number of drum beats broadcasting messages of warning, tribal meetings, weather forecasts and other affairs.

MARX BROTHERS LAUGH HIT

"Cocoanuts" Displays Their Ability to Comedy Familiarly and to Advantage

BY E. S.

See them and laugh. That goes for the Four Marx Brothers in "The Cocoanuts." Harpo, Groucho, Chico and Zeppo they are—mentioned in the order of their funniness.

"The Cocoanuts" is their first venture in the talkies. It is showing at the Paramount Theater. And the first-day audience was tickled to death at its entertainment yesterday.

Of course, "The Cocoanuts" is nothing new for the Marxes. They presented it on the stage several seasons ago. They even wandered out to the Coast with their production of it.

But the piece has been revised somewhat for the audible screen. It has also been brightened with the presence of Mary Eaton, who does some nifty dance steps, and sings a little. Oscar Shaw does duty, too, with the vocalizing. Cyril Ring and the vamptish Kay Francis are among others, with direction by Joseph Santley and Robert Florey. The theme song is Irving Berlin's "When My Dreams Come True."

To be sure. "The Cocoanuts" is obviously a stunt to bring the Marxes to the spotlight, and whether they will be able to duplicate their first venture remains to be seen. This much can be said to their advantage that Harpo loses but little of his appealingness, while Groucho gains somewhat as a comedian. Chico also adds to his gamut of humor. Harpo doesn't talk, following his stage tradition. Sometimes you almost wish that he would avail himself of the full scope of the sound medium. However, that would be stepping out of a character long established.

"The Cocoanuts" is laid in Florida and burlesques real-estate booms and tourist doings in that locality. The auction sale is a funny moment. So, too, are the antics of the Marxes in the hotel lobby. There are lots of clever comedy lines strung through the production. Here and there it does lag, however.

Mention should be made of the final banquet scene which has uproarious incidents, and in which Harpo is at his best. There is one very effective ensemble dancing number. The girls are photographed from overhead with good pictorial results.

BALKAN CHURCH PRELATE HERE

Jugo-Slav Archbishop Lauds American War Aid

Tells How Henry Ford Still Extends Assistance

Visitor Gave Huge Fortune to Help Starving

Here to express to Americans the heartfelt appreciation of his countrymen for the part played by the United States at Versailles, through which their national identity was saved, Most Reverend Nicholas M. Dobrecic, Archbishop of Antivari, Montenegro, and Primate of Serbia, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday on a tour of this country. He is at the Alexandria.

"Jugo-Slavia and its people are very grateful to this great United States for all that your country has done for us," the archbishop declared yesterday. "There is much that my people owe America, not only for the Treaty of Versailles, which saved to us our integrity and prevented the Balkans from disintegration, but for the many fine humanitarian men of the United States. Serbia and Montenegro owe much to your Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Carnegie, as well as to Col. Gorgas, for their splendid humanitarian institutions and for the study and prevention of disease. Malaria is a serious problem in my country and America has aided us wonderfully in our fight against it.

PRAISES HENRY FORD

"Then, too, we have a very wholesome respect and love for Henry Ford, who has done so much for our people in this country and who is showing a deep interest in the Balkans."

Archbishop Dobrecic explained that he visited Mr. Ford at Detroit and conferred with him relative to the possible establishment of a Ford branch factory in Montenegro, where the unemployment problem is critical. The prelate declined to relate the details of the conference, but said that Ford has asked him to choose twelve Montenegrans to enter the Ford factory at Detroit and learn factory management and administration. These, according to the plan, are to be replaced from time to time by others of that country, until a large group of Jugo-Slavs have become Ford trained.

Of a distinguished and wealthy family, Archbishop Dobrecic has been active in the Catholic church since his youth.

WAR PROVED ORDEAL

His episcopal life, he told reporters yesterday, has been a difficult one. The Balkan Wars, followed by the World War, and the subsequent insurrections and unrest proved trying periods for the prelate.

Shortly before the World War the visiting churchman inherited a large fortune from relatives. All this wealth and more, too, friends pointed out yesterday, went to alleviate the sufferings of his people in the war. Religious affiliations were cast aside and people of all religions benefited and were fed from this source, it is said.

"I am here for two purposes," the visitor said. "First, to urge upon my people who have come to this country to live, to be loyal to the land of their adoption. Also, I have come to tell your people of the gratitude of mine for all that America has done for us, both during the World War, and afterward.

Archbishop Dobrecic will officiate at a pontifical mass at St. Anthony's Church, 635 Alpine street, Sunday at 10 a.m. Arrangements are being made to accommodate thousands of former Jugo-Slavs. His Grace will remain in Los Angeles for one week and many luncheons and conferences are being planned for him during his stay, it was said yesterday by Joseph Scott, Los Angeles attorney.

CITY SCHOOL STAFFS FOR YEAR PICKED

Army of 10,000 Teachers, Principals and Others Employed by Board

Approximately 10,000 principals, heads of departments and teachers will await the 250,000 boys and girls who will enter the doors of the public schools in the Los Angeles city school district next month. The re-election of this army of instructors was approved by the Board of Education yesterday afternoon.

Included in the list are 400 principals, vice-principals, supervisors and heads of departments, assigned to the junior and senior high schools of the city. The list of teachers and substitute teachers for the high schools total 3720 men and women.

Elementary schools will be officered by 420 principals, vice-principals, supervisors and heads of departments. Approximately 5260 elementary and kindergarten teachers, substitutes and probationers make up the list for the lower grades.

DOG GRANTED PARDON FOR BITING MAN'S LEG

If Fred McManus, who asked damages of $3063 for one bite by Ribs, a watchdog owned by Mr. and Mrs. Brother St. Denis, brother and sister-in-law of Ruth St. Denis, dancer, had been invited onto the St. Denis premises at 8512 Sunset Boulevard, he might have had an opportunity to collect.

As it is, however, McManus, who stepped across the property line from 8514 Sunset, where he was visiting, to a point within the radius of Ribs' chain, can collect nothing for his hospitalization and loss of work, Superior Judge Sproul ruled yesterday.

The court held there was ample proof that Ribs was a vicious brute, even though Bailiff Soran was unable to find the dog in the city pound, where he went with a writ of "habeas canis."

"There were lots of mean dogs there," said the bailiff. "If Mrs. St. Denis went to the pound with the idea of getting a vicious watchdog, I'm sure she found one with a very evil disposition, indeed."

Mrs. St. Denis admitted Ribs was ill-tempered, but said he was tied with a ten-foot chain, nailed to a post twenty-eight feet from the property line, and she had pictures to prove it. She said he was a good watchdog, and she was sorry she decided to take him back to the pound.

McManus said the chain was long enough to reach from the post to his leg, and as he was sure he was not on the St. Denis lot, the chain must have been longer than ten feet or it had rubber links.

Attorney Ira Gwyn represented the plaintiff and Attorney J. A. Frankel the defendant.

C. D. CLINE OPENS NEW SHOE STORE

French Slipper Shoppe Inaugurated Yesterday on South Flower Street

Another French Slipper Shoppe opened its doors yesterday at 740 South Flower street. This is the fourth shop to be opened by Charles D. Cline in the past five years, and the stock offers the most exclusive and distinctive merchandise to be found in the footwear world.

While the reception room is small and designed after the style of the Paris shops, the stockrooms are unusually roomy and the closely packed shelves offer the largest selection in the matter of sizes and variety of design to be found in Southern California.

The shop yesterday was filled with baskets and wreaths of flowers sent by friends of the owner and by other merchants in the trade. It is beautifully equipped and offers a special feature in its long floor-lighted mirrors, which afford the buyer ample opportunity to study the effects of the different styles of shoes.

While the short-vamped type of shoe is featured, the French Slipper Shoppe also carries other shoes suited for street service. A new feature is offered in a smart design with high spindle heel and a reinforced arch. This latter feature is rarely found in the high-heeled dress shoe.

Mr. Cline came to Los Angeles eleven years ago. He first was associated with the C. H. Wolfelt Bootery on Broadway, and five years later opened his first shop on South Flower street. He now has two shops in Hollywood, and this new shop, which will replace the first Flower-street establishment. His Hollywood shops are in the Roosevelt Hotel and adjoining the Grauman Chinese Theater.

Frank C. Balfour Granted Divorce

Frank C. Balfour, active in Los Angeles political circles, was granted a divorce by Superior Judge Bowron yesterday from his wife, Mrs. Margaret Balfour, on the grounds of mental cruelty.

Balfour asserted in court that Mrs. Balfour left him on several occasions over the week-end and refused to tell him, when she returned, where she had been. He also stated that once he followed her and found her with another man; that a fight followed which resulted in all of them being arrested, but not prosecuted.

The husband further testified that Mrs. Balfour frequently locked the door to her room and refused to talk to him.

The wife did not appear in court to contest the action.

Leon Mathews Sues Mate Leon

Leon Mathews got a divorce from Leon Mathews in Superior Judge Crawford's court yesterday.

Mysterious dual personality? No, just a coincidence.

After starring in astonishment at the petition, before him, Judge Crawford asked if there was a mistake in the complaint.

"We both have the same name, your honor," replied Mrs. Mathews, who was present in court to press her suit.

The other Leon was absent, and the verdict was granted by default on a complaint that asserted failure to provide.

PLEA OF YACHT OWNERS HEARD

New and Larger Haven for Fleet Sought

Group Gets Hearing Aboard Lassco Liner

Harbor Body Held Ready to Act Favorably

BY WALDO DRAKE

The Harbor Department stands ready to furnish Los Angeles' $7,000,000 yacht and motor-boat fleet with adequate anchorage and terminal facilities, segregated from commercial shipping activity and of sufficient size to provide for future expansion. This assurance was made by Harbor Commissioner Emerson Spear and Burt Edwards, general manager of the port, to a group of representative yachtsmen and officials of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon yesterday aboard the Lasco liner Yale following a survey of present yacht anchorages, proposed sites and port boatbuilding plants.

The outer harbor anchorage area, including all water west of a line running from minor fill to the government breakwater, was mutually agreed on as the logical site for the new yachting terminal. This would include the present Cabrillo Beach anchorage, the east end of the navy anchorage and all of the present anchorage now utilized by the California Yacht Club. Mr. Edwards indicted that plans for the new terminal will be prepared by Harbor Engineer George Nicholson.

NEED IMPERATIVE

"Commerce of the port is growing at such a rate that we must have the east basin yacht anchorage for commercial terminals," declared Mr. Edwards, "while the yacht and motor boat fleet of more than 600 craft is also increasing at such a pace that definite facilities must be secured.

"We are all agreed that the outer harbor is the only logical site, following our survey this morning, and the Harbor Department will immediately prepare plans for the new terminal. It is a move to be welcomed by all concerned, since it will not only give the pleasure fleet its own exclusive area, but will also keep the commercial lanes free of yacht interference."

LUNCHEON GUESTS

Ralph J. Chandler, general manager of the Los Angeles Steamship Company, was host at the luncheon aboard the Yale. Those present included Mr. Spear, Mr. Edwards, Jay G. Starr, port traffic manager; Harbor Engineer George Nicholson, Commodore Owen P. Churchill, prominent Southland yachtsman and head of the committee from the Civic Regatta Association of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which included the following members: Kennedy Ellsworth and Clifford Rawson, president and secretary, respectively, of the Junior Chamber of Commerce; Al Rogers, John Cassidy, Temple Ashbrook, Lee Miller, Halsey Denman and Ed Green.

Commodore Churchill, speaking at the luncheon, praised the efforts of the Harbor Department to help solve the problems of the yachtsmen.

"This is a step that will insure Southern California taking her rightful place as one of the greatest yachting centers in the world," said he. "Lack of adequate anchorage facilities has delayed development of our fleet; despite this the Los Angeles yachting fleet is larger than all others on the Pacific Coast combined."

TUG SPEEDING TO MATE IN DISTRESS

Merritt, Chapman & Scott's big wrecking tug Peacock tore out for Acapulco, 1500 miles south at noon yesterday, in a race against the elements, rushing to the rescue of their eighty-foot Diesel tug Neponset.

The Neponset threw a propeller, en route here from the east coast, and is floundering helplessly adrift twenty miles at sea, with an onshore wind threatening to pile up the craft on the rocky Mexican coast.

Capt. M. A. Varnum was instructed to hold the Peacock at full speed in his dash south, and is expected to reach the scene within five days.

The Neponset was bringing out a double crew and has a dozen or fifteen men aboard. She is to be stationed here as one of several additional units in Merritt, Chapman & Scott's enlarged program of lighterage and water-front construction.

Departure of the steamer Orient for the east coast yesterday inaugurated for the Williams Line its first direct sailing eastward out of Los Angeles. The ship will serve Charleston, Norfolk and Baltimore, and will be followed regularly by others on a twenty-one day sailing eastward out of this port to the same points.

"We expect to be able to announce an increase in these direct eastward sailings to about one every eleven days by October," declared J. C. Hammerberg, Los Angeles manager of the line. "The ports of the South Atlantic States are not served at present by many lines out of Los Angeles, and the field is a highly attractive one. We sent several hundred tons from here on the first sailing, and had the ship not taken on so much cargo north, we could have done materially better. That will be corrected."

The Orient is chartered by the Williams Line from the Quaker Line.

The liner City of Los Angeles, flagship of the Lasco Line, is due early this morning, bringing 370 passengers and several thousand tons of products from the Hawaiian Islands. Among the passengers is William Yule, vice-president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. Also aboard is Manuel Reis, who landed on the islands from a whaling bark in 1875 and until this trip had never left there. Mail, parcel post, honey, fresh and canned pineapples, sugar and bagasse make up most of the cargo.

Japan's tendency toward faster tankers was illustrated by the arrival of the Shoyo Maru from Yokohama yesterday in sixteen days and ten hours, which is an average speed of 13.25 knots, or faster than any commercial tanker under the American flag. She made the run three months ago in five hours less, and his a sister ship, Kovo Maru, due here in two weeks which is expected to average fourteen knots. Both belong to Nippon Tankers, Ltd.

Advices from the Dollar Line yesterday definitely put the liner President Hayes on berth here the 27th inst., and out the 28th inst., to inaugurate the new service from California to Honolulu and Manila and back.

The service will be monthly, but what other ship or ships will make the run is not definitely known. The Van Buren is off other schedules and may be used, although the Manchuria and Mongolia, under other names on reconditioning, may later be found in the Manila line-up.

The liners will sail from here to San Francisco and thence westward, but on their return may stop at Los Angeles before San Francisco. This also yet is to be determined.

Walter Wilkinson, manager of the steamship and export departments of Balfour, Guthrie & Co., left yesterday for a vacation and fishing trip to the Columbia River.

Ten thousand bunches of Panama bananas and 2000 tons of European chalk, sand and cement are being discharged from the Hamburg-American passenger steamer Sachsen, in yesterday from Hamburg. The vessel also disembarked several of its dozen passengers.

LOS ANGELES MADE FOR WESTERN TRADE

One way of giving the wife a "break"

EVER notice how women are about tires when they're driving the car? They hate to mention them.

They're just a little superstitious that if they do mention them something will go wrong.

And when a woman is all dressed for a party, and is on her way about twenty minutes late, almost the worst thing that can happen is tire trouble.

A GOOD many thousand Regular Husbands in the last few months have insured the family car against this sort of hazard.

They have done the Big Thing and bought their wives a set of GOODYEAR DOUBLE EAGLE TIRES — which is really quite outside the promised limits of love, honor and obedience.

They were aware that DOUBLE EAGLES are something almost extravagantly fine—being much better tires than the average driver actually needs.

But because they wanted to wipe out any apprehension of danger or annoyance where their wives or families were concerned, they felt that even the best was none too good.

YOU may want to equip your family's car with DOUBLE EAGLES for these same reasons.

Or you may be moved to do so for a much deeper and more serious reason—that of plain and simple safety.

Certainly it is true that GOODYEAR DOUBLE EAGLES offer you protection in this regard not to be had from any other tires.

You can entrust your wife and children to them in full confidence that you have provided them the finest tires money can buy.

Specifically, the GOODYEAR DOUBLE EAGLE TIRE is a stronger, heavier, handsomer tire than the world has previously seen.

Its deep-cut sure-footed tread is double-thick, and virtually immune to puncture.

So stout and sinewy is its matchless Supertwist cord body that the odds against a blowout are perhaps 1000 to 1.

Now that it has been more than a year in public service we have had no reason to revise our original estimate that it will last as long as you will keep your car.

GOODYEAR built the DOUBLE EAGLE not on a commercial basis, but in the knowledge that its production necessarily would be limited.

The men charged with its development and perfection were free of a cost limit or specification of any kind.

They were told simply to produce "the tire of tires" and they succeeded magnificently.

That is why you will be giving your wife a "break" and yourself an experience in travel luxury, once you put these super-tires on your car.

Tread and carcass: these are the two main parts of a tire. There is greater traction in the Goodyear All-Weather Tread. There is greater vitality in the Goodyear Supertwist carcass. Evidence? Any Goodyear Dealer will demonstrate. Proof? "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"
